Jack,

Did you let Timmy con you into paying the legal fees? We are still laughing that you boys are using Ciarochi. I am reading more documents and am quite amused by the discussions about you, Jack.

In your deposition you were forced to concede that in the early months you worked at least ten hours a day and weekends too. You tell your reps about all the time freedom you have, ministry involvement at church and time with the family and coaching the kids and what not. You have stated you never called a representative, but have only let them come to you after qualifying themselves. That is a curious statement with the fact you paid for your nephew to get in and dragged Stephanie's dad in as well. Your nephew stated to another rep that he would not sell AC at his church. It will be very interesting to hear you explain all those contradictions in court. Especially after legions of reps that have lost tens of thousands have testified and your extended family is dragged into this mess as well.

Are you going to explain the gobs of e-mails where Tim spews about the poison of negative reps, how the business is God ordained, He is leading and the business is booming and exploding? Everyone is laughing behind your backs about how a "packed" call is nothing more than a pack of lies. I thought that was very clever and amusing, don't you? Is Tim going to angrily demand folks attend the next conference scheduled for March 15, 2008. Those desperate and delusion rantings are something, lads.

Dr. Vic Kalman has been listening to Jack for too long. He rambles on about finding his why. Why, why, why would any well educated person stay in an obvious scam and risk legal action from the authorities or reps out thousands of dollars? How many will go down with Jack? One would think someone like him would have the good sense to research this venture and pay a good attorney to advise them.

I bet Jack is wishing he had a good attorney about now! Where, oh where, is Duane Kidman attorney extraordinaire? He never answered me after I posted the judge's Order Granting Summary Judgment on Wikihow. Are the facts too much for Duane? The Texas State Bar will be very impressed that Duane deliberately misrepresented the legal case and then never acknowledged what the actual documents say. Duane is fully aware of the numerous lies and misrepresentations Tim, Jack and AC have propagated and yet continues to sell this garbage. Duane might want to stretch his legal muscles and do some real research on this venture.

Jack,

I am hearing hilarious rumors. Did you actually suggest that folks who paid 10 grand should be happy with the new price reduction to 7 grand giving them only 4 grand per sale? How are those folks ever going to sell enough repships (you have no retail sales of the conferences thus the illegal pyramid allegations by virtue of the FTC definition and Texas statutes)? They will need 2 hand up sales and then 3 more to cover their purchase and attendance costs. It will take several more sales to pay for advertising and business expenses. The 98% loss rate will persist and many more reps will face the dire consequences of getting involved in this egregious scheme.

Even more hilarious you actually suggested folks could forgo their commission entirely and give Tim 3 grand while the reps get zero 0 dollars. This scam is obviously folding and this kind of talk is alienating the few reps left. Why would anyone give Tim 3 grand and not get any commission off of the sale. This is so beyond ridiculous and desperate.

Tim's Bible twist is being published on the internet and these folks putting it up probably have no clue that he is not ordained or in any way qualified. He was a psychology student and not a student of biblical studies. Tim's reputation will harm all these groups as well. Tim violated this inmates privacy and the policies of the program making that public.

It is time Tim stop singing his own praises and figure out how he is going to refund all the hundreds of reps from All Star Entrepreneur and Advantage Conferences that suffered thousands of dollars in losses. Foreclosure, bankruptcy, hunger, sold homes and possessions, credit card debt and all the other devastation caused should spur Jack and Tim into action. Their charity should start with their representatives. Perhaps this local church would like to set up a fund for Tim's and Jack's financially ruined reps.

If you had, you would know I was in no way involved in any threat of any kind directed at anyone. Before you make charges like that you should take the time to discern the Yossarian hypothesized that you boys fabricated this threat to discredit the posters here. If so, you better come clean quickly as I have no intention of allowing you to put my family in danger with your fabrications any longer. The facts prove conclusively I never made any kind of threat.

I suggest you stop pulling this stuff, Jack. If you are listening to Timmy you better wake up. These fabrications about stalking and death threats that I and "the other woman" have been accused of making will be addressed. There will be accountability. I am seeing my attorney again this week. I think it is high time that Lindy Darnell, Hannah Marie Darnell, their cheerleading coaches, the cheerleaders, the athletes and other coaches be interviewed. Anyone at Allen High School that might have been with Timmy at a recreational event needs to be contacted so they can confirm they have never seen me anywhere near him or his family.

Then all the folks at both churches you boys attend need to be interviewed. I can also guarantee that, though I have had many contacts with them, no folks there have ever seen me near you lying buffoons either. These egregious lies you and Timmy have posted about me and "the other woman" on the replicated websites, the Footsteps of Faith Messenger and elsewhere are going to be removed and retracted.

I am also quite well aware of what Timmy said at the November conference. I am aware other former reps are seriously considering filing against you boys. You boys can take responsibility for this immediately or we can meet in court. It is your choice, boys. Just remember that your wives and children will be dragged into court and all the people you know at church, Allen High School and elsewhere will end up tangled up in your many lies and misrepresentations. Are you sure about that, lad? Does living in God's economy mean you are going to pay the legal bills, Tim's taxes, AC's taxes and satisfy the judgments you boys are sure to have filed against you??? God's economy sure doesn't work like Timmy claims it should. I have been in continuing contact with those "major governmental" agencies as Timmy calls them. I thought we made it clear we expected an explanation as to why your family is getting preferential treatment. Jerry Weinzierl, your brother, got a $7,000.00 refund from you, Jack. Your father-in-law Al Tannous, also from Grace Christian Church, too got a large sum back. Why is that?

That sure advertises what a totally bum opportunity Advantage Conferences is. Even folks in on the "ground floor" in a business where there is no selling, no calling and no persuading couldn't make it. According to the AC websites the reps do almost nothing. Why is it your family, including Jerry's son Aaron Weinzierl, all have bailed out and, as we mentioned earlier, refuse to sell this stuff in their church?

Everyone should get refunds just as your family did, Jack. I think we should see lots of $7,000.00 checks going out to the folks that AC has ripped off. I want to see the reverse in reverse margin.

Jack, your url there redirects to your AC page now. What happened to that silly opportunity page that said "Our goal is for you to make.....a minimum of $100,000 in income over the next year- with a realistic potential to make much, much more." That isn't happening for anybody but you, is it? Still no retail conference sales and no hope of selling anything with only one conference planned for this year. Blunders never cease.

Quote:

One of the things I am most excited about is the fact that we teach every person, regardless of marketing or internet skills how to make $7,000 Over and Over Again. This is not a bunch of theory that someone reads about—these are the tools and strategies that helped me qualify and then earn $28,000 my first month with Advantage Conferences. In fact, we were able to use the same 3 Simple Steps to generate $109,700 in our first 120 days in this business and over $95,500 in our 5th month alone. And FOLKS, this is from a person who has never earned more than $4,500 a month in a home based business, SO I know it was not Jack Weinzierl. It was our 3 Simple Steps where I have not made 1 sales call or 1 cold call. We are now approaching $1 million in commissions in our first 27 months with Advantage Conferences and I have a passion for mentoring others to use their God-given gifts and talents to the fullest.

The FTC offers this advice to consumers considering an Internet-related business opportunity:

Quote:

Consider the promotion carefully. If it claims buyers can earn a certain income, then it also must give the number and percentage of previous purchasers who achieved the earnings. If an earnings claim is there - but the additional information isn't - the business opportunity seller is probably violating the law.

Get earnings claims in writing. If the business opportunity costs $500 or more, then the promoter must back up the earnings claim in a written document. It should include the earnings claim, as well as the number and percentage of recent clients who have earned at least as much as the promoter suggested. If it's a work-at-home or other business opportunity that involves an investment of under $500, ask the promoter to put the earnings information in writing.

Re: Watch Out for 7KAdvantage/Jack Weinzierl is an

Jack,

There are some more burning issues you need to address. I have more information that shows you claiming you came down to Texas to head up Soulmate. The offer you couldn't refuse was for $140,000.00 a year? Why is it all the documentation still shows you were brought in as the Vice President of Network Development. When is it exactly that that you took over? Wasn't Steve Smith from Excel the co-founder and CEO? Was it Cameron Sharpe that was co-founder and President from 2003 through 2005? I think some explanation as to why you claim a year as President is definitely in order.

Quote:

Jack has an MBA from Golden Gate University in San Francisco, CA, and has a passion for network marketing. His energy and zeal for our industry is rooted in the conviction that this business changes lives. It changed his life, personally - and he is determined to see SoulMate.com enhance and change lives for millions worldwide.

You said you wanted to know Tim's heart and where he was coming from to build his business. Didn't you initially refuse to join AC and then as Tim has said on video come in when Tim begged and said he needed the money?

Do you care to explain how you determined that AC was 100% legally complaint? You wanted to make sure refunds were offered you claimed, but then were a part of refusing a number of folks refunds. Why is that Jack? How is it you figure that there is use value in the scamferences?

Why would you put the $9,995.00 on your Visa and then brag about it every chance you get? That is not a good example or good advice to give anyone.

Pastor Jan and Al Tannous (Stephanie Weinzierl's folks) attended a conference. I assume you gave Al money back because he was not satisfied with the benefit of his attendance or the content? He, as all your other family, quit even though they were in on the ground floor. Why is that, Jack?

You said you take offense to the word recruits. What would you call your reps? You have never had a customer purchase a conference---you know---a retail sale. All you sell is repships/spots in your pyramid scheme. What would you call your marks/victims?

Stay tuned, Jack. I think there are many more burning issues that should be addressed.

Re: Watch Out for 7KAdvantage/Jack Weinzierl is an

Did you actually have 160 keywords and 30 domains? In 2005 you spent $60,000.00 on advertising. First you drag in everyone you know to start the fake it before you make it and then you so far outspend all the other reps you got the majority of the sales. The little guys spending $2-300 a month couldn't possibly compete with you. Your huge ad budget determined that your ads would come up first.

You ramble on quite a bit about how you don't do any calling, persuading, convincing or selling. Why do you ask folks to make a list of 200 names and then call all of them. That is such a blatant misrepresentation.

You have had a number if situations where folks were not in agreement with their spouse, huh, Jack? There is one particular one that is very troubling. You said this rep was kicked out of the home. This rep had medical problems. You demanded a sickening apology letter and then had the audacity to whine that you were extremely upset. That rep was defrauded by you goons and was financially and spiritually devastated and you, Jack were upset?

You then whine that the wonderful individual that helped that rep go to the Better Business Bureau and get a much deserved refund is responsible for much of AC's problems. You are a delusional fool, Jack. That dear individual recognized AC for he scam it is and tried to help the folks whose lives you, Jack and Timmy were destroying.

I like your statement, Jack, that you have good short term testimonials. When are you cons going to pull off all those bogus testimonials from folks that are long gone and out thousands of dollars in almost every case. Around 86% of your reps have jumped ship.

Jack,

I am intrigued. You supposedly are a brilliant MBA and yet you are sharing an attorney with Timmy and Advantage Conferences. As we have discussed the doctrine of res judicata is likely applicable here. The issues of a AC being a pyramid scheme and earnings misrepresentations being made have been litigated and decided against you boys.

Are you going to risk a civil finding of fraud and conspiracy? Do you think that will help you in your future business pursuits? No company is going to bring you into any position of responsibility with a sullied reputation.

Will you also risk a very costly judgment being filed against you? Until you satisfy that judgment you will not be able to purchase another home or car and it will be on your credit report. You do seem to move about every 18 months or so. You are also in a home with $1,164,000.00 in loans. With the way AC and Vemma are going it has to be very difficult to hang on to that home and your opulent lifestyle.

That MBA sure isn't serving you well. AC is obviously about to be history.

Compelling Benefits to You

More than 15 million people now have home businesses - all for very good, sensible reasons.

For instance, if you don't have a home business, you're actually losing thousands of dollars each year due to missed tax deductions, even if you haven't yet made a profit with that business. Enrollment in a business, "an intent to make a profit" and adequate documentation (receipts and calendar entries) allow you to turn many normal expenses into deductions, which means you don't pay taxes on those particular dollars.

There's another reason that is intellectually sound as well. At current gas prices, and especially when gas goes to $4.00 a gallon, would you not agree that working from home would easily cut out significant commuting expenses?

POWERFULLY COMPELLING BENEFIT!

This week is the last week to take advantage of a brief window where we are offering a huge pricing saving for our top-selling President's Package. Beginning April 1, the price will go back to 9,995.00. It is currently available - this week only - for 7,000.00 - a WHOPPING $3,000.00 savings.

Call me and let's talk. You have to submit your completed President's Interview, be approved, and then get your paper work in....in a narrowing window of time.

Jack, you are such a twit. Most of your MMC-IVs have lost tens of thousands of dollars and quit. They paid for a conference, travel, meals, airfare and rental car among other things. According to the IRS <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p970.pdf> those conferences as educational expenses may not be deductible at all for most folks. One should get the help of a CPA.

You are the only one left at AC that was able to do it full time, so how are folks going to work at home and not waste gas going to work with this worthless joke of an opportunity? 98% of the reps have lost money, so how are folks going to save gas when they will be forced to work outside the home to recover from the horrific losses they will accrue as a result of getting tangled up with you and Tim?

And bear in mind you can only deduct losses for a business for a limited time. So, as you suggest folks will not make a profit. They will also find these normal expenses aren't so simple to deduct either. The rules are very complicated and losing thousands with the hope of taking tax deductions is completely nonsensical, boy.

AC had 13 reps from June 2003 to 2005. Since 2005 over 500 have quit meaning 86% or so are long gone. 95 reps left suggest what a bum opportunity this is. Folks better carefully check out the viability of AC and do some research on the actual tax deductions they will be eligible to take. It is quite complex and not nearly as enticing as you would like to make it, lad!

Nice to know the Fire Sale is almost over. You boys can't sell conferences for the reduced price either. A handful of sales for this year total isn't the same as we will end this pricing after the first 100, is it, lad?

Catherine, please allow me to translate what you wrote-----I am broke and desperate. I will never be able to make a conference. I just keep spending time and money while I let these professional cons fill my head with nonsense. I am so brainwashed I have invited scammer Darnell to my home. I just hope and pray some trusting mark will finally fall for this crap so I can actually recoup some of my horrific losses after the thousands I have blown on this joke of an opportunity.....

You are so transparent, Christian and honest---a veritable oasis of integrity. Why don't you start a discussion on your OPEN group about the earnings of AC reps. How many besides you who

Faith Worketh by Love

Posted by Jack Weinzierl on March 28, 2008 at 7:00am

This is an area I had a challenge with in 2007, as we were attacked personally and in our business. I attempted to debate with the attackers and accusers vs. simply loving them.

I am so bummed those truth tellers are sharing the facts about my shady business. I tried to debate with them, but the truth won out every time. I am not nearly bright enough to spar with these folks. I can't argue with their facts, experiences and the documented court record, so I will twist the Bible around some more and try to convince my clueless marks that it isn't Christian to carry on this fruitless battle. I know I wouldn't dare sue any of these people because they have shared the truth and I certainly don't want any more damaging facts to be brought to light.

Quote:

I realized that many Christians are not missing it with their confessions and not missing it in knowing what the Word of God says. They are not missing it believing the Word, but they are missing it by not knowing how to walk in love. Many teachers will teach that we must have faith to please God, but they casually pass over the teachings that faith works by love and we need that strong foundation. The Bible says that demons believe and even tremble—but they never receive anything because they don't have any love. They are filled with hate and fear.

I have to post nonsensical garbage like this because I have to somehow justify to the few brainwashed left why these folks are tirelessly working to keep folks from being conned by me and losing their life savings to my greedy pockets. I myself am the one living in mortal dread of many lawsuits and action by the authorities, but I can't stop scamming folks out of $7,000.00. It is such a lucrative deal compared to the honest work I could be doing. I hate the fact these good hearted and fearless folks have the courage to stand up to Timmy and I.

Quote:

Jesus showed perfect love when He forgave those who were responsible for sending Him to the cross. He prayed, "Father forgive them; for they know not what they do" (Luke 23:24). That was love personified.

I will say anything to try and make myself out to be the hero and martyr. The Bible is for sale and I am happy to use it to defraud good, trusting Christians out of their life savings and then paint myself as virtually the second coming.

Quote:

Horrible remarks are made about people when they choose to serve Christ and follow in the fullness of the Word of God. This is where love really has to work, because you must love these people, endure, and be kind. You must pray, "Lord bless them. Lord, help them. They don't know what they are doing. Help them because they do not understand. Yes, slanderous remarks are hurtful.

I keep lying and saying those people are attacking our Christianity to try and confuse the issue. I know they have only attacked the business and my qualifications to mentor people, but I have to hang on to my easily conned marks by turning this into a Holy War. I know that there have never been any slanderous remarks, but these truth tellers are making it almost impossible for me to scam any more people. I don't care if folks land on the street, lose their homes, lose their possessions, go hungry, drown in credit card debt and suffer dire consequences as long as I get to live high on the hog in my 1.2 million dollar mansion. I happily look the other way.

Quote:

I can make all the confessions that I want to. I can quote the Bible day and night. I can fast and pray, and I still won't get anything if I'm not walking in love. These areas where we are not walking in love hinder faith from operating in its fullest capacity. Love is not easily provoked. That means love does not get angry easily. Psalm 119:165 says, "great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them." The words "offend" and "provoke" are interchangeable. Love responds, "Lord, help them. They don't understand what they're doing. Forgive them, because they are putting themselves in jeopardy."

I know they are deliberate and purposeful in their mission to protect the public from people like me. I like ill gotten gain and I will say and do whatever necessary to relieve folks of their money. I delighted in spending thousands for advertising and getting the majority of the sales. Once a mark pays the ten grand and gets a handup sale or 2 I want to get rid of them so they are not competing with me for those $7,000.00 checks. Good thing some folks haven't figured out how that works yet because they would be more than a little offended at the way I use people.

It really turns me on to play the victim and pretend to reach out to the truly honest who are putting my scamming in jeopardy. It sure is great that the few marks left will buy this stuff or are just as dirty as me and love to make an easy buck. Those that aren't feeling the love anymore can't recover their money because they are too broke to get legal counsel and put my scamming in more jeopardy. I know they are very angered and offended, but praise be to God they can't do anything about it. I know many will never be able to forgive me, but I won't hear from them because they are too busy trying to put food on the table and recover from the financial devastation Timmy and I are responsible for.

Quote:

Love covers evil with silence and will not speak of it. It refuses to think about it. Love thinks on the truth, the good, the lovely. Philippians 4:8 Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if their be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.

What I am doing is dirty, low down and disgusting, but I will focus on the great joy this opulent lifestyle has brought me. It is not my fault folks are desperate and vulnerable and fall for this crap.

Quote:

Do not entertain bad thoughts about anybody. It will hinder your love, and this will hinder your faith—and will keep you from receiving what you need from God. Love endureth all things. It means to go through all kinds of trying, hurtful, evil, slanderous experiences calmly, sweetly, silently, lovingly, uncomplainingly, as if they weren't happening. The same individuals who take their tongue and cut somebody to ribbons will come to church the next morning and testify how much they love God. Then they will quote the Word of God and say, "My God shall supply all my needs. By His stripes, I am healed." They will make all the right confessions and wonder why no money comes in or why they stay sick.

That is totally nonsensical, but those poor souls left in this scam will probably eat it up anyway. Doesn't everyone else sit happily back when they are attacked and slandered. So, even though my adversaries tell the truth and share the facts I can still look like the second coming if I play the game of perpetual forgiveness and love. I enjoy accusing the truth tellers of lies and slander as it really turns me on to see just how much I can manipulate my marks. In my heart I know what I do is wrong, but greed drives my every move.

What a joke it all is though. I really wish the bus would run over that determined woman and her very honest and forthright friends, but I guess all prayers are not answered.

Quote:

It's very simple. They are not walking in love. When you begin to walk in love, your faith will be perfected. Faith worketh by love. So, yes, making confessions of faith is good, but look for those areas where you can love more, and you will begin to see your faith work more.

In Service,

Jack Weinzierl

Boy I know that was a load of bull, but I have to make some excuse for not suing thses folks. I know I would lose as the they are telling the truth and I have no case. Libel and slander would require I prove they lied and I can't do that so I hope I have buried the truth in my piles of whiny bunk about love and forgiveness.

I sure do love making a fortune off of the Christians I can con out of thousands of dollars. I love that Christians are such easy targets for deals like this. Scamming is so much more lucrative than working a legitimate job. Gotta love that!

People who truly walk in love don't need to pay me and Timmy $10,000.00 when they could go to their local parish and get involved, but I sure love to make a killing and fatten my bank account. I sure hope I can weasel out of my current legal challenges and those that are headed my way. I love being my own boss like scammer Timmy and I love the opulent lifestyle I have been living.

Jack,

Why is it the pastors from your church, Tim's church and your brother's church are not on OPEN yet? I only see around 40 AC reps on OPEN. What happened o the 50,000 Tim was bragging about?

When are you going to come on and explain why Jerry Weinzierl (your brother), and Al Tannous (your father-in-law/ Stephanie's dad) got refunds? All reps should be treated the same. There are many in much greater need of a refund. Why is it AC shows favoritism?

Heroes--- I have had several important mentors in my life... My dad. Tim Darnell. Jack Weinzierl. Josh Peak, Jesus, and of course, God.....

So many people jump around from one program to another in the industry, never giving their business a fighting chance... Fighting is a good word. You have to fight for what you believe in. Pick a business. Take it seriously.....

Christian entrepreneurs are my favorite people, though I am not trying to lure you away from whatever business you have chosen, my current primary is a Christian Wealth education program. Great company, the best compensation plan I have ever seen.

Income: $150,000 to $250,000

Barbara my sources indicate the for a recent conference you only drove down from Oklahoma to attend the free Thursday get-together and then had to head back home. You couldn't afford to pay for the conference or pay for the hotel and meals to attend. Now, you are claiming that you make 150 grand to a quarter of a million dollars a year and yet you always seem to be quite active in Tim's and Jack's various Pauper Support Groups.

What is the real story Barbara? Are you suggesting that you make that ridiculous amount with AC? I thought you only had around 5 sales total after being in for about 3 years. So, just what is it you are trying to con folks into doing with you and your heroes? Advantage Conferences is a Titanic with the seventh compartment filled. Have you read all the court documents and actually talked to the 500 or so reps that have left and determined why there are so many unhappy former reps?

I think you should honestly disclose your earnings with AC and explain how, if that is your primary business, you are making a six figure income with only a few $7,000.00 sales a year if that.

Scammer Jerry Weinzierl is on Jack's ridiculous Advantage Conferences plugathon site. I think as a Christian Jerry should demand Jack and Tim treat all the reps as he was treated. Jerry and Jack's father-in-law Al Tannous got commision rebates from Jack. That is preferential treatment, discrimination and predatory business practice. It will certainly be an issue in the current lawsuit the boys are sure to lose. We already know whose side God is on from the BBB suit.

Why don't you boys share that money with the many reps that are financially ruined by this scam. Reps have gone hungry, faced foreclosure, declared bankruptcy, sold homes, sold possessions, drown in credit card debt and suffered serious losses. That money should go to all those harmed by Tim Darnell, Jack Weinzierl and AC. Apparently, Jerry is a man out to line his own pockets. No true Christian would support the scriptures being used to defraud good trusting people. The Gospel is not for sale.

That is certainly a church that folks should avoid as it is clearly endorsing such an obvious scam. God is watching, Jack.

Another telling verse on Jack Weinzierl's site:

Quote:

Today's Verse

If anyone has material possessions and sees his brother in need but has no pity on him, how can the love of God be in him? Dear children, let us not love with words or tongue but with actions and in truth.

1 John 3:17-18 NIV

Our family is still helping out former reps. I am sickened and shocked that Jack and Tim refused help to many and looked the other way when many more were in desperate need. They had reps and former reps that were without food, struggling to save homes, facing bankruptcy and foreclosure and other numerous hardships and they did nothing in most cases. Jack and Tim are the reason so many are in financial ruin. The boys are very quick to quote scripture and twist it when it suits their purpose, but those passages not to their liking or advantage are completely ignored. I still want to know why these supposed Christians don't feed their enemy as the bible commands. Your 1.2 million dollar home is a disgrace, Jack. It was funded by the financial devastation of so many good people.

OPEN boasts 400 members now. Just 12% are current AC members. I bet you, Jack are discovering what a colossal waste of time it is. You folks at AC haven't recruited but a handful of folks this calendar year. Are you funding Tim's legal misadventures? Are you going to pay his property taxes? Are you going to sell your car to pay for the next conference in November since Tim had done that previously? I see we went from quartely to yearly. That is going to dictate horrific losses for those already in and with the legal and "major governmental agency" challenges that may keep coming your way it is going to get very interesting!

I disagree when someone knowingly is spreading untruths just to try to instigate others or to serve their end. Also, the fact that Treasures is a registered 501 (c) (3) and many others that AC supports, makes your statements and accusations inaccurate, whether you personally have the documentation or not. I agree with Phinnly for a change that accountability is on the law side too, but as believers it is even more so. The documentation will be provided to the folks that need it, not to you my friend. You are receiving a lot of prayer these days.

Jack,

Your MBA sure didn't benefit you at all. I have known all along Treasures wasn't registered. It never appeared in the charity search or addendum on the IRS site, so I called the toll free number numerous times over the last year. Several of us also filed complaints with the EO classification division of the IRS which is in Dallas. That is why Timmy's alleged charity is going to be audited by the IRS. Your Dream - do you cherish it?

Posted by Jack Weinzierl on April 15, 2008 at 7:00am

Your Dream - do you cherish it? Have you nourished it? Are you excited and energized by it? Do you know exactly what your dream is?

Or, has your dream been allowed to suffocate over the years due to inattention and lack of belief? Have you once had a dream but today that precious dream is barely alive, just barely breathing on minimized life-support?

Your dream is one of the most precious gifts God has ever given you! It is from Him and meant to be brought to reality, not neglected or taken for granted. Your dream should not be approached with procrastination. When God gives you a dream, you are obligated to honor it. You need to care for it like the precious, highly valuable commodity it truly is.

A man or a woman without a dream is no different than the title of the movie that came out several years ago - "dead man walking". Without a dream, you are just taking space. If God gave you a dream, and He surely has, then it's time to reawaken that dream and go after it. You honor God when you honor the dream He's placed inside you.

My dream is to reawaken the hopes and dreams and standards of not just millions of people, but of nations - to let millions of people clearly see that they can flourish and, in turn, become great givers and servers to others! Do you share that same dream? Can you see that entire continents can experience prosperity where they once allowed lack and scarcity to be the accepted norm? That thinking is dead wrong. Scarcity is a satanic deception and poverty is not of God.

Jesus said He came that you might have life and have it abundantly - to the full. That is the Gospel truth. You honor God when you honor His word for your life.

I hope you will not continue to squelch your dream, but rather allow it to be revitalized. Dare to believe in your dream with all your heart! When you do this, your spirit will be born afresh, regardless of your age (young or old) or current financial situation (good or not so good). It's time to honor God by recognizing the dream he has given you. It's time to acknowledge and act on your dream.

The time for rejection has passed. The time for experiencing and living the empowering fulfillment of the life God has birthed in your heart and soul - is now.

In His Service,

Jack Weinzierl

Jack, that is the insane ramblings of a scammer desperate to line his pockets no matter how devastated his victims will be. You now boast a 98% loss rate in AC if all expenses are figured in. Feel free to post the rep list and earnings and calculate the figure for us if you disagree.

The deception you use to defraud folks is the only Satanic thing here. AC creates paupers. AC has only made money for a few heavy hitters while the vast majority faced horrific losses. God wants us all to give to others generously and now many of your AC reps can't even keep their own heads above water.

Your attempt to go into third world countries was beyond sickening and obscene. In those countries your $995.00 price is three times the average family's annual earnings. How low can you disgusting people go?

My dream is to see all slimy deals like AC gone so the work of God can truly be done. God doesn't want his children to lose their homes and go hungry because of the havoc AC, you, Jack, and Tim Darnell have wrought.

I am dissappointed with your research here. If you were really in "the know" as you believe you are, you would know that our family left Oasis officially in December. In fact, you failed to mention (how convenient) that there are no staff members listed at the church except for Stan's wife. Oasis sold the building and merged with another ministry out of Los Angeles.

We were blessed to have served the past 3 years at Oasis and it was time for us to help another ministry.

Your heart is so hardened and only He can soften it. As for Treasures, regardless of what paperwork was in place and not in place, I was pleased to contribute monies to these ministry projects and people. Have a blessed weekend.
