Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

txfan.

I have been blessed with a number of birdies whispering in my ear. I have always been very vigilant about checking out my sources and protecting their identities. Timmy has legions of angry reps after him. It seems he owes folks money and is not paying them. Rumor has it he is too broke to book any decent accommodations either.

I am so glad you dropped in. Do stay tuned there should be some interesting developments in the near future. I will be at the courthouse soon to get the remaining 4th fat file from the lawsuit Tim filed and lost against the Better Business Bureau and Dr. Jon Taylor and another suit he filed while with All-Star.

Timmy boy,

The hotel has no rooms reserved, scammer. They wouldn't host you. Even the cheapest hotels in Dallas require you book a minimum number of rooms and guarantee them with a credit card. You couldn't pay could you lad?

With the few reps willing to attend you could probably have the conference at your shack. Jack's yahoo group is down to 162. There are many naysayers he had to get rid of and many more reps who are not on calls and will not renew, but that do not want to battle with Timmy and Jack.

They also don't want to fight Tim's frivolous lawsuits. Timmy will never win one, but it is very costly and time consuming to deal with that garbage. It sure is Christian to threaten lawsuits constantly against folks you have ripped off to the tune of 10 grand.

From Tim Darnell's blog:

Personal Banker

The new division, Personal Wealth Mentoring, established in September, 2007 welcomes Jack Jarrell as the Training Director. Jack is from Seattle, Washington - highly energetic and knowledgeable about many financial subjects, in particular the "Personal Banker" training that is reaching people via Advantage Conferences throughout the world.

This banking concept is just another of dozens of "one ideas" that will be an abysmal failure like all the rest. It will leave financial devastation in its wake. Tim and Jack said it will generate enough commission with one or two sales to pay for an MMC IV. That means the scamming boys will make $5,000.00 - $12,000.00 in commissions on a product most of the reps will not benefit from. The reps will quickly discover this joke of a product doesn't sell any better than the conferences.

Quote:

Our "Personal Banker" concept is truly powerful training that teaches people to learn how to wean themselves away from financing through 3rd parties, that being the banking industry and credit cards, and rather, create accounts on their own in a tax-free environment that is both interest bearing and dividend paying, to mention a few incredible features. You collect interest and build your own growing "bank", rather than paying someone else. Interest and finance charges account for approximately 35% of all the monies we transact and handle over a lifetime, so this is no small amount of money we're talking about. The shift and change is, to understate, monumental - all to our clients' benefit.

Historically whole life insurance, which is what Timmy is referring to (but won't name because it has such a bad connotation), is the poorest investment vehicle available. What middle and low income recruits really need is retirement savings, college funds and emergency funds. Whole life insurance is the worst way to accomplish those things.

Quote:

What is the impact - oh, just the difference in wealth and mediocrity. Rather than being "slave to the lender", we teach a full reversal of this ridiculous, yet universally accepted notion. It is a change that relates to every financial transaction we make, and especially the big ones, like college education, automobile purchases, our mortgages (this one is a positive swing worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to anyone who owns or plans on owning a home), business equipment, etc. It is infinite as to what applications this applies to. We're learning more every day.

Folks should be looking at putting more into 401ks, IRAs, 529 plans, good mutual funds, etc. Whole life is good for passing on wealth tax free for the ultra wealthy whose millions of dollars in "generational wealth" need a vehicle. Only 3 folks---Jack Weinzierl, Jim Wald and Timmy have done Advantage conferences successfully full time. 5 others broke even or made a little money from June 2003 to June 2006. According to Tim's own court documents at least 98% lost and some of them to the tune of 20 grand or more.

Tim is the only mediocre one here. He is telling folks to put money in the poorest investment vehicle available when there are many superior options for us regular folks. The tax benefits of 401ks, IRAs, and 529s are enormous.

Quote:

I've never been so "on-fire" and it's because we can truly help anyone make a few tweaks in their thinking that will create a shift that is greatly needed. What an amazing concept - and the acceptance has been like no other product or training we've ever taught.

I recommend the book, "Becoming Your Own Banker" by Nash. We have them at our office: 1-888-832-7635 or 972-727-4995.

Where does Tim Darnell find these people?

Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

From Albert "PeeWee" Surovik's Blog:

Quote:

---

And to think people wonder why there is so much corruption in the world.

Now, here is Tim's message.

The idea of doing due diligence about a business opportunity is an intellectually sound thought. However, it will predictably steer you into the exact wrong direction. How so, you are asking?

---

Gee, I guess the truth is scaring away the recruits in droves, Timmy. You can't compare a business opportunity with the story of Christ. Again, you are using religion as a tool to defraud people.

Quote:

Imagine you lived in about 28 AD and you heard about a guy named Jesus from the little town of Nazareth who was coming into town. You'd heard some good things and you might have even read some manuscripts written about Him by other people.

---

Sorry, we are in the 21st century in America, fool.

Quote:

But you want to be sure before you make your decision about Him. You want to find out if He is the 'real deal' or not. Nothing wrong with that thought process is it? So, what would your game plan be? I know, we'll go to the authorities and ask them what they think.

---

Asking Jack and Tim, the people pocketing all the money from this scam, sure as heck ain't the way to check it out!

Quote:

First, we'll ask the Romans what they think about Jesus. You immediately hear all kinds of wild things about this trouble-making fraud who was creating dissension and espousing crazy ideas. Yeah, I thought so - my suspicions are starting to be confirmed.

---

Your arrogance, Tim is disgusting. Comparing yourself to Christ?
Quote:

OK, but his letters did sound pretty good. The letters and the accounts from the Romans don't match up, which makes me a little confused. I guess I'll check out another source - the religious authorities, the Pharisees. They sure know the law and the prophets. These are smart guys with a lot of money - they'll know.

---

Impressing us with your knowledge of the bible does nothing to convince us you are an honest businessman.
Quote:

Whoa! If I thought I'd gotten an earful from the Romans, these high-ranking Jews have nothing but terrible, terrible things to say about this man, Jesus. In fact, they are spreading detestable and preposterous things about this man that makes me more confused than ever. But at the same time, how could I have been so stupid to fall for those positive letters about this guy, Jesus? The Romans and the Pharisees agree that he is a no good, self-serving criminal.

---

Tim, you sure as heck ain't Jesus!
Quote:

---

I'm just going to have to pass on this guy Jesus. He's getting bad reports from those who are in the know...

Or are they 'in the know'?

If you do a Google search on Rick Warren, Joel Osteen, Creflo Dollar, Pat Robertson, James Dobson, or virtually any man who publicly stands up for Christ, you'll find several positive entries and then a whole slew of the most awful, condemnatory articles you can imagine. The venomous demonization of these men comes with the territory and accentuates the spiritual battle that is going on daily - darkness attacking the light.

We are attacking your scamming, buffoon. This is in no way an attack on Christianity. Why would you lie and paint it as such.
Quote:

You see, Jesus was not only a man worthy of listening to, He was God, the Truth, the Way and the Light. Public opinion and statements from authorities about Him were exactly WRONG. The statements that have been made about several modern day Saints are exactly WRONG as well. While you or I may not agree with everything they believe or stand for, they are still great men of God and are not deserving of the filth and lies that are regularly published against them.

What has been said against you that is verifiably false? The court papers demonstrate a 98% failure rate based on the information you provided. Are you a liar, Timmy. Did you think it was honest to say you were a member of the Better Business Bureau when you were not? Do you think lying about more than half a dozen trademarks was acceptable? Is it Christian to completely misrepresent the earnings of AC reps and put folks in financial peril to line your pockets?

Quote:

So, whose side are you going to be on? Are you going to consult the so-called authorities, or maybe a website that attracts the least successful people on the planet who have no life other than to spread rumors and lies - and are you going to believe them? You are welcome to do so, but you'll be listening and reacting to total nonsense and non-truth.

---

Our family has our home paid off, a nice 401k, IRAs, 529s and other investments. What did you losers learn from all those Millionaire Mindset Conferences at All-Star and Advantage Conferences? Was it embezzle every cent you can Timmy while your creditors, including nearly 100 reps are out $12,995.00 each for a conference that never happened, for a whopping 1.2 million total in staggering losses?

Quote:

Deceit-filled information is not Truth, though millions fall for the deception every single day. Witness Titanic's James Cameron's heretical new film that supposedly exposes our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ - are you going to believe him? It's up to you. It's the same negative message that was going on while Jesus was alive, and it's only amplified now via sophisticated technology.

---

We are attacking your dishonest business, that is scamming people out of thousands of dollars. This is not the Holy War, boys!

Quote:

Our so-called, 'authorities' are at this very moment passing legislation to ban the mention of Jesus Christ in the few places that are left where He can be talked about. This very e-mail will get blocked from a major portion of my list of subscribers because many ISPs have filters with the name above all names in their list of banned words. My own mother cannot receive the Messenger due to its filters that weed out the Messenger and classify it as "questionable".

If a religious scammer like you writes it, it is certainly questionable.

Quote:

An article came out recently about me and I knew beforehand, due to the content and purpose of the paper that published it, that it would attempt to paint me in as negative a light as possible. They did a good job - stating among a long line of ridiculous assertions that I had renounced my United States citizenship. That's a good one - I'm impressed by the creativity in their passion for destruction.

---

Again, your words in a case you filed seem to be confusing for you, idiot. You can't refute one thing in the Houston Press article and we all know it. That article was superb. You never know when part 2 might come out. So, try to come out with some facts. I will put up the last few court documents in the next few days. You are so interested in the truth, scammers. That article was positively enlightening and filled with facts from the public record and court documents from the cases you filed and of course your own words.

Quote:

Who are you going to believe? Its up to you, but just remember, Christianity is under attack, and the battle lines are forming. Which side will you be on?

---

Funny, scammer. I am on the side of truth and light and never was Christianity the issue.

Quote:

II Timothy 3:12 states: "In fact, everyone who wants to live a godly life in Christ Jesus will be persecuted." The apostle Paul knew. He wrote those lines from prison, arrested for standing up for Jesus.

I have no problem regarding my own persecution - being on the receiving end of lies and rumors is nothing compared to what many Christians endure every day, especially in foreign, non-Christian friendly nations. I wear the persecution as a badge of honor. At the same time, I hate to see people who profess to know Christ not have the maturity and discernment to know the difference between the Truth and lies that dominate our airways.

You are just enraged that the truth has come out. You never imagined your court papers from the suit you filed against Dr. Jon Taylor and the Better Business Bureau and lost would ever see the light of day.

Quote:

Several of you have made the decision that I'm a crazed derelict. You fell for the lies. You got snookered and satan is grinning from ear to ear - another triumph among many.

---

Wrong! God is smiling because we at Scam and Quatloos have saved many from being ripped off by a scammer using His great name and that of His son Jesus to line greedy pockets.
Quote:

Due diligence? I don't think so - lies don't qualify as due diligence...
How do we retaliate? We don't. We just grow a huge business that helps people in so many ways, you would have trouble fathoming the good that is going on. And that makes me grin from ear to ear. We're winning and, by the way, if you haven't read the Book - we win in the end as well!

You can't sue me you fool. I would post every last piece of information on the internet and folks would find out you are broke and there are virtually no sales. You said God was on your side and you would triumph against the BBB. You lied Timmy! You are not winning now either. The King's Conferences, The Hidden Treasures obscene insurance policies, and a dozen other "one ideas" bombed. You are just a pathetic loser, liar and scammer, Timmy. Jack just jumps on any scheme that can line his pockets and then moves on to the next one.

Quote:

Tim Darnell.

I invite you to listen to my brother in Christ Jack Wienzeirl's insight into the powerful Christ-centered business ministry of Advantage Conferences

Scammers,

I had a great time at the courthouse. I will have some real goodies for our readers in a few days. Did the judge decide in your favor on anything? LOL I can't believe you still have Ciarochi as your attorney of record, what a clown!

You might want to start explaining to your reps about Dr. Jon Taylor's over 3 hour long deposition and why you had to drop the suit against him, you ridiculous fools. You sure can't shut me up about this scam. Why don't you idiots go ahead and sue me. Those documents are too funny. Were 3 Affidavits enough, Timmy? It sure is hilarious when you goons run at the mouth on paper!

Gee, Timmy you still haven't listed the hotel and I so wanted to spend a weekend with you boys here in town! The kids and I enjoyed the West End today immensely. I guess that cheap dump you found in the industrial district wouldn't host you boys.

Dr. Taylor, our courageous scambusting hero has Advantage Conferences and All-Star listed on his website as harmful pyramid schemes/recruiting MLMs again. They state facts and back them up, no one should be liable to anyone for that! I have had an interest in this ever since I saw my daughters name linked with AC's approved and supported charities. They claim to have approved these charities, but why is it listed Jada dawn Foundation/Antley Bixler Disease? My daughter is Jada dawn and she has Antley-Bixler Syndrome(not disease) and I DID NOT give permission to use my daughters name to whoever is supposedly raising money for this syndrome. And we DID NOT receive $2000 from these individuals. The link on their page goes back to their page. I did find a relatives website (www.antleybixler.citymax.com) where she was trying to solicit funds using my child's pictures and my children's names. I wrote to the hosting service and they removed the pictures, now this relative, as of yesterday, has changed her website to say that she supports other charities (maybe because it could become an issue for her if the $2000 is gone and she has no way to explain where). I have a foundation that is for Antley-Bixler syndrome and we do not take monetary contributions until we are legally a 501(3)c. You can go to my website (www.rareysyndrome.org) and see that we do not solicit for monetary contributions. This relative lists my website as www.skyehigh.org and linked it to a blank page (not very honest), maybe trying to throw people off so they can't contact me for the truth? I know this relative speaks at these conferences. Could she have taken $2000 and made up the Jada dawn*

Foundation to be able to pocket some of the money? I don't know what is going on, but it is a shame that they don't check their facts before handing over money and claiming to know where it was used! Do they check their facts before writing checks out? Does the speaker get to decide how much money goes to the charity of their choice? Do they get to pocket the rest and still pretend that it has ALL went to their charity without being questioned by AC? I would like to know what the speakers have to do to prove their charity exists and it's not just something made up to be able to keep the money themselves without reporting it to the IRS.

Didn't Dawn Cline-Hills send you money from this that you used to buy Jada Dawn an expensive full bred puppy that you let run out and die? Also, didn't she also pay for your son's gravestone and send Jada Dawn and your other son and daughter gifts used with this money? Didn't Dawn buy you a house and a brand new van that you drove off the show room and she had a special DVD player and automatic door so that you could drive Jada Dawn to her doctors appointments? And didn't you leave her with the house and the van with your lack of responsibility? Tell the truth instead of pointing the finger at a woman that has tried to help you and your family! I know Dawn personally and I have met you and shame on you and your lies!!! I know for a fact Dawn told you all putting the foundation together and she tried to accomdate you and you refused to get over yourself to actually help your daughter and the goal from day one for Dawn was to raise awareness and help with rare diseases. If Dawn put together this alleged foundation, why is it not listed with the IRS or in the addendum for newly created charities that are being added to the list after all this time? Tell your friend Dawn that she needs to provide proof of the legitimacy of said charity and explain why it is the family of the child in question insists they didn't authorize a charity with their own daughters name. Considering the reputation of Tim Darnell, a proven liar and con, I find it an easy choice to believe the mother of the child and not the loser that is shilling for Darnell.

Why don't you give us the website for said charity. There are tons of free and low cost ways to get a simple web page up. Barbara K's page <http://prosperinfoith.com/linktofriends.htm> still shows a link for this alleged charity and if one clicks on it they will end up on Barbara's replicated Advantage Conferences page. Yikes!

Timmy,

Little lad, I have more court papers in my hands. I am rolling on the floor laughing. I copied the General Ledger pages from the court documents. You are one dishonest little puppy. Under Repairs subcategory Building Repairs, you charged your home garage door repair to Advantage Conferences to the tune of $481.71. That is clearly a personal expense. I think we should forward this to the IRS. With that highly advanced 34 dollar Quick Books you are doing some funny accounting. I guess you will justify that by telling the IRS the International Division and Personal Wealth Mentoring Division are housed in said garage, buffoon.

I now have more documentation of the horrendous number of requests for refunds and those given. The following reps received refunds: Michael W., Zena K., a rep who chooses to remain anonymous, and Robert F. We also have Justin and Malana E. receiving $9,80.91 on 4/17/2006 and Daniel K. receiving $10,054.95 on 5/12/2006. How many more were refunded or demanded refunds (such as Kim Tola who contacted the BBB after Tim refused.) That is at least six, plus the many posters on here who were denied refunds.

Lying con Jack says.....

"In fact, with a full 100% guarantee in place at the past 3 MMC conferences, and over 220-230 attendees, there were only 2 refund requests." (06-13-2006, 02:32 PM)

There have been far more requests and refunds than he claimed and the 100% satisfaction guarantee left droves of unhappy reps without refunds and out 20 grand or more from money wasted in advertising this scam.

<http://themarketplaceminister.com/compplanaudio>

Timmy boy doesn't even understand his comp plan. Read the above carefully. C and D purchased MMC IVs for themselves made two training sales each, so they are qualified. The C1a, C1b, C2a, C2b, actually go to rep C. The same thing happens to D if that rep sells to D1 and D2 and those reps sell to D1a, D1b, D2a, D2b. Then D is qualified and you make only his purchase and his two training sales. The You in that example gets commissions from only six sales as it is clear that C and D had their training sales and were qualified and had started their own offices.

Tim can't even explain or properly graphic his own comp plan. The truth is many have bought and made no sales. Only a handful of folks, the ten he said had made $7000 or more to the Better Business Bureau and maybe 2-4 more, have even qualified. As I pointed out with your own purchase and advertising expenses, one must sell at least three more MMC IVs after their two training sales to break even or make a profit. That is why only Tim, Jim Wald and Jack Weinzierl have done this full time. 98% or more of the remaining reps have lost---many around 20 grand.

Why line the pockets of serial scammers Timmy boy and Jacko?

On the surface AC appears as "an angel of Light." I am one of those Rep #4's who was scammed. I should have seen the "red flags" from the beginning. Tim is selective who comes into his company. The 2006 MMC in Dallas was a turning point for me. I couldn't get out of Dallas fast enough after an incident that occurred. Their behavior and attitude were less than desirable or holy. That was my first clue that opened my eyes to Tim Darnell & Jack Weinzierl. I have proof of an incident that should never have happened. AC is nothing but a glorified religious club. I have several grievances with Tim and his way of doing business. Tim Darnell has a very low "speed of trust" with me. He needs to be shut down ASAP before more innocent folks are fleeced. He increased the cost of his conferences package to $1195.00. There was a motive behind his cost increase before this upcoming conference in Nov. Tim used scare tactics to get a few reps to upgrade to MMC4 before he kicked in his price increase. He must be crazy to do such a thing. A $2000 increase????

The following is a quote from one of Jack's Oct 4, 2007 email message:

You have probably heard that we call the FedEx truck, the Happy Truck at Advantage Conferences. Why? Because our commissions are sent via FedEx and I am blessed to have $12,600.00 on that truck for a delivery tomorrow, Friday. I don't share that to brag or boast, it has just been an exciting reality for us in this business. I give Him all the glory and praise for these blessings.

The following is very good news from our Founder and President, Tim Darnell. If you have not become an MMC-IV yet, this is an opportune time to do so.

Former Pricing Extension “one week only!

Due to the length of time it has taken to update the 3 Simple Steps, we have not been able to publish the new pricing clearly to all Candidates, prior to our October 1 price change. In order to give all Candidates a fair understanding and heads-up of the new pricing, we are extending the former pricing for another week “thru October 12, 2007. That means a savings of $2,000.00 on MMC-IV orders thru that date only. Please alert your Candidates of this provision.

The price increase was to start on Oct 1. The following is from Jack's email on Sept 19, 2007.

For those representatives who have not purchased their MMC yet, I encourage you to do your best to do so before the price increase October 1. This is a great window of opportunity.

I was up until 4:45 am this morning working on some videos and tomorrow I will be shooting a $7,000 Overview call video from my home. I hope to get that out to everyone by the end of the day Friday. [/b]

I figure they didn't get enough Reps to bite on the cost increase deal so they extended it with the excuse that they did not have enough time to get the new cost published. Yeah! Right? Why would they care anyway.

The upcoming conference is not talked up much from home office. It is at the Doubletree Dallas the home of the Fall, 2007 MMC, Advantage Conferences' Sixth MMC.

My advice is stay away from Advantage Conference Opportunity. Run as fast as you can away from it. It has cost me over 2K and I made $0.00 in two years. Surely not because I didn't work the business. God did not intend for me to fleece anyone and I am in His grace for not sponsoring anyone.

I noticed Jim Wald rep since 6/10/03, the National Training Director, and second highest money earner trailing far behind Jack W. has not had a page up for several weeks. The birdies have confirmed he has left AC. The grapevine also reports that Jack Butler exited as well after being in since 7/3/03. Please note Jack Butler never qualified. He never got anything but measly matrix checks after all that time. That tells us exactly what a bum opportunity this is.

<http://www.scam.com/showpost.php?p=3...postcount=2395>

<http://www.scam.com/showpost.php?p=3...postcount=2399>

The grapevine also has rumors going around that Tim is not paying people. Apparently only his favorite reps, such as successful scammer Jack, are getting money that is owed to them. Timmy has changed what he is doing out of necessity. He can't pay out money when there is virtually nothing coming in.

The All-Star Titanic story is repeating itself. I am sure those almost 100 reps out $12,995 and the many other hotels, businesses and individuals out money were sitting there blissfully unaware of the tragedy unfolding. Folks left at AC or considering joining are at a tremendous advantage. The bankruptcy filing from Timmy's All-Star and all the papers from his frivolous suit against the Dallas Better Business Bureau are available for public consumption. No one need get taken by these scammers again!

From the excellent article in the Houston Press by Craig Malisow:
Quote:

Good Christian that he is, Darnell decided to go into business with Colorado City residents Claudia Cawley and Elizabeth Knudson, and form All-Star Entrepreneur. That company was the first to promote the Millionaire Mindset Conference. As proof of how good a business opportunity All-Star was, the company's site showed a picture of two All-Star reps who won a 2003 Jaguar. The car was subsequently repossessed by Ford Motor Credit, which had sued Darnell in Collin County Court for nonpayment. (Darnell accused Cawley of rigging the contest and giving the car to two of her friends who then refused to take on the payments -- even though it was supposed to be a "giveaway." Darnell said that since he had signed paperwork for the car, he was left holding the bag.)

One shocking fact that faces most Americans every day of our lives is this--it's not money keeping you from your time freedom; it is your debt. It's no big surprise that each year thousand of people fall into debt. What is surprising is that many of you accept the fact that you could be in debt for the rest of your lives. Most busy people are too busy to take the time to understand their current financial situation. They believe if they simply keep trying to make as much money as possible that somehow their debts will go away and their financial assets will magically increase. Unfortunately this is usually not the case. Tragically so, debts are not decreasing, the interest payments just continue, and nothing is available at the end of the month to wisely invest for the future. Now is the time to do something positive about your financial position. Our F101 is designed to help you put together a plan that will eliminate your debt altogether. How will this happen for you?

From Tim's fluff piece Slay Your Giant where Tim discusses the now failed Hidden Treasures insurance product that God gave and then took away and his disastrous lawsuit against the Better Business Bureau. He never bothered to update his book too reflect those losses. God, again, betrayed our scammer and he did not win against his Giant the BBB or file an appeal. He can't afford to appeal. He rambles on about the car that was supposed to be given away as follows:

A business failure can cause you to start losing things. For instance, after looking at that remarkably changed face in the mirror that particular morning, I glanced around the bathroom to discover we were out of body wash, deodorant, toothpaste, and lo and behold – toilet paper! How low could we go? It's rather funny now, but it was anything but humorous then.....I mentioned that a business failure causes one to lose things. I lost all of my credit. And I lost a very nice automobile when the constable came by my house and said the bank would like to have it back. At least the wrecker driver, with bright flashing lights, was semi-polite as he towed my main means of transportation out of my driveway. Of course, every neighbor happened to be home at the time and came out of their homes to see what all the commotion was about! I had "humble pie" for breakfast that morning!...I had no toiletries, but after borrowing from a neighbor, we were able to stay clean. I lost a very nice car in the most humiliating way possible, yet not too much later paid for two late model vehicles with cash! I had bill collectors calling non-stop, Sunday through Saturday for well over a year, but we finally erased more than $200,000.00 in credit card debt! How nice to be able to answer your phone and it's not a bill collector!!!!...Advantage Conferences has become a multi-million dollar company that is reaching thousands of people across the globe, changing lives through the power of faith and financial education.

Tim obviously learned nothing from these valuable resources. He is perpetually broke. So, why would anyone believe his latest scheme, Personal Wealth Mentoring would be any different? You stick with Timmy and you will be personal acquaintances of the repo guys! His "multi-million dollar company" with 164 reps maximum is teetering on the brink of bankruptcy. Tim is a pathetic joke of a loser that wants to take you down with him. Don't sink with his AC Titanic! Why don't we take up a collection to send Timmy some soon to be needed toilet paper!

Timmy, Timmy, Timmy,

You are such a bad boy. Why don't we take a walk down memory lane.

<http://www.houstonpress.com/2006-12-...ndsetters/full>

Craig Malisow in his brilliant article in the Houston Press writes:

Quote:

The first thing you need to know about Timothy Spencer Darnell is that he's not a U.S. citizen. Or at least not when it suits him.

In 2001, three months after a former client sued Darnell, Darnell filed an affidavit in Dallas County Court claiming that he's not a citizen, that the Dallas County Court-at-Law #3 is "an underling corporate fiction of the State of Texas, a corporation and a fiction," and that the court has no jurisdiction over him. Darnell's renunciation of the United States of America was supplemented by supporting affidavits by other Dallas-area noncitizens who claimed that Darnell "cannot receive a fair and impartial trial by jury of his peers by law in County Court-at-Law #3." When contacted by the Houston Press, affiant Mary Lou Starnater declined to say why she filed that affidavit, then hung up. (Darnell's wife's maiden name is Starnater.)

Brett Flagg, the Dallas attorney who represented Darnell's disgruntled client, said his client invested several thousand dollars in a company Darnell ran called Tru Dynamics. Flagg said the affidavit signaled a hard row ahead for his client, who decided to just call it a loss and move on.

Darnell has an entirely different recollection. He says he did not file the affidavit in response to a suit, but as a response to an affidavit filed by someone else that included Darnell's name in all upper-case letters.

Maybe it's best to let Darnell explain in his own words:

"The use of my name in upper-case letters...What that does, when you use uppercase letters, it signifies that you are a state-created entity. In other words...you're not a living human being, you're a corporation. And I was disputing that fact by this affidavit."

Uh, okay. And that stuff about not being a U.S. citizen?

Darnell offers this clear, riddle-free response:

"There is a definition of the United States...the specific definition of that is Washington, D.C. and Guam and some of the holdings of the United States -- I think it's a 17-mile radius, if I remember correctly, around the capital: there's a definition that says that that's what the United States is, and I am clarifying that that is not the case. I do not live there.".....So Darnell rejoined the ranks of U.S. citizens and sued the BBB in the very court he previously claimed had no jurisdiction over him. He accused the Bureau of defamation, business disparagement and negligence, among other things.....In its response to the suit, the Bureau stated: "Not only did the BBB have 'evidence' that [Advantage] is primarily engaged in promoting a pyramid scheme, but that evidence is overwhelming...Any claim by [Advantage] that commissions are paid only on 'sales' of the conference is nothing more than form over substance. These sales occur only inside the pyramid."

The Bureau's response also states: "Unlike Amway, whose compensation plan stressed that retail selling was essential, [Advantage] has no requirements whatsoever that a representative make any retail sales of the conference -- or any other product -- to non-participants...Not surprisingly, there has not been a single retail sale of the conference thus far; i.e., every attendee of the conference has been an [Advantage] representative interested in the income opportunity of large commission income.".....A Dallas judge granted the Bureau's motion for summary judgment last October. Advantage was ordered to cover the Bureau's court costs.

5) A really funny "sovereign citizen" type affidavit from somewhere in Timmy's past. Are you aware that he is not a United States citizen? I think he should be deported. Moreover, he claims that the court in which he later sued the BBB has no jurisdiction. (I guess he just had nothing else to do at the time.)

From Timmy's 171 page videotaped deposition:

Quote:

Q. All right.

So are we now talking about Advantage Conferences claiming a total of 25 million in this lawsuit?

A. That's correct.

Now, you are probably wondering what the point to this story is. Well, you may not know how the Better Business Bureau collected the judgment. First the BBB filed a Bill of Costs. Timmy did not voluntarily pay the judgment.

<http://www.txnd.uscourts.gov/filing/filcosts.html>

Quote:

---

A Bill of Costs form is prepared by the prevailing party in a civil case. The Bill of Costs should reflect all costs incurred by the party, including the applicable filing fee if the plaintiff is the prevailing party.

With this in hand the BBB obtained a Writ of Garnishment. They practically emptied out Timmy/AC's bank account. Timmy would have happily taken 25 million from the BBB, but when he was ordered to pay the BBB's court cost he refused. Justice prevailed. His account was drafted.

Scammer Tim and Wacko Jacko,

After Judge Murphy granted the Better Business Bureau's superb Motion for Summary Judgment and ordered you to pay all court cost for the BBB, you still had a trial date set to meet the formidable Dr. Jon Taylor. After his assuredly brilliant deposition, you Timmy, the sniveling wimp, realized you were once again in way over your head. Remember you proclaimed God had promised you and Advantage Conferences would triumph over the BBB and you would make millions off of the egregious Hidden Treasures third party insurance on seniors that immediately bombed after 60 reps got insurance licenses to sell it. God could lie again and no doubt Dr. Taylor would have easily trounced you in court. So, in order to keep Dr. Taylor's fine deposition secret you, Timmy, dropped the case against him and prayed the public would never discover your folly.

Your latest mark is an 81 year old man. Once again you are fleecing the elderly and vulnerable. How low will you go, scammer?

Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

WARNING!!!!!!Please people STAY AWAY from Advantage Conferences.

It's a company using Christ (y)our Lord and Saviour as a front to get your money! I've even heard Tim Darnell say do whatever it takes to get the 10K. (Now he's wants your 12K) He's even said cash in your 401K if you must. He said it's that important. He is not to be trusted people! Believe me! Anyone thinking of getting involved with Advantage Conferences??? It is highly recommended that you turn and run away as fast as you can from it. Keep your $$$ in your account because you will work very hard to recycle it back to your account (if you ever do and most don't) and in the process you will get hurt and you will hurt other people as well. And you will work very hard to build your first 2 sales and when you do you will not benefit ever because it will Aussie Up to the Reps above you. Do you know how difficult it is to sell (2) $12,000 dollar conferences. It's not even a "marketable product" that is useful on a daily lifestyle. Your third $12,000.00 sale is when you start building your own business to make any money with AC. This plan stinks! Think about it people!! That's why it is a SCAM! You will never make $7000 over and over again from your first two sales. Just remember this one thing when you are considering this scam opportunity. Tim removed the matrix income about a year ago and so you really lose ALL efforts on your first two sales. This is crazy for anyone to even consider this business deal. The good book say, Love your neighbor as yourself. So why would you love (2) of your neighbors before you love yourself??? Do you understand that you can't help someone else before you help yourself! You will fail! Ask any successful business person and they will confirm this virtue. I learned this since I have been involved in AC. This was when I discovered I had been scammed by Tim Darnell. This virtue has been a costly learning curve for me. So please love yourself first so you can love your neighbors. Why do you think Tim takes $3000 of every sale made? And then he takes $14,000 of your first sales and sends it up. Does he benefit? Sure he benefits. Why? Because he loves himself first. So you love yourself first and don't get involved. There are wonderfully good honest companies (listed with the BBB) who will not scam you. They will pay you on your first sales and thereafter. If you request info I will share with you.

I highly regret that I chose this plan of action with AC knowing what I know now. However, I did learn this one important virtue; costly as it may be.

This is why I don't want you to fall into the same trap. That's why I am telling you to love yourself first!!!! Tim & Jack will rip you up and down. And this is truth. PLEASE read my "lips" (email). DO NOT JOIN WITH ADVANTAGE CONFERENCES!!!! I've been there and done it! I was scammed! Don't let tiny Tim scam you, too. I place value on you and this is why I am WARNING you NOW! I don't want you to have to come to scam.com like I am doing and report your losses by being scammed by AC and it's president Tim Darnell.

Raphy,

Thanks for your Testimonial...i agree:
I don't guess Jack or Tim will be using your name on their websites..

Sad thing is, they probably are using your name on their websites as a testimonial..

It blows my mind that business owners still use Testimonials and GOD as a tool to market trust in their business... Tim Darnell, tried to join the BBB to market trust in their business.. But, that backfired on him..

God, has a funny way of working...

Quote:

A Representative came out at the end of the call this morning to nonchalantly announce he “couldn’t attend” the Mindset Mentoring Conference, as if that was an acceptable notion.

His statement could not have been more unfortunate, damaging to all concerned, AND moreover, further from the truth. Advantage Conferences promotes and produces two MMC’s per year – TWO EVENTS ONLY. Although we have other powerful products, our entire business hinges on the success and power of these two events.

To make the statement, “I can’t attend the event” is incorrect in several important ways. If you don’t get this, then I and Advantage Conferences have failed completely to convey the central, most basic, and extremely crucial premise we stand for and teach. It is obvious that I have failed with that particular Rep, and with anyone else who buys into the falsehood that you can build a successful business here, while not placing a prioritized importance on attending the two events we produce per year. This discussion of “can and will” versus “cannot and will not” is at the very centerpiece of Mindset Mentoring. It is the Fork in the Road for you and me that leads to success or not.

What does the truth have to do with it, Timmy? How is an adult deciding not to line your pocket dishonest? Of course, Timmy, there are only 2 conferences annually. You promised quarterly (4 a year) but AC is such a flop it never happened. Both 2004 Hawaii conferences and the June 2005 one were cancelled.

Who died and made you boss, Timmy? These reps have the right to do what is in their best interest. Almost no one, but you and Jack are making money. The idea that those who attend will have success is completely laughable. Out of about 600 only Jack has ever had any real success with this scam. The vast majority of reps have no sales. Around one dozen are qualified and many of those quit long ago in disgust. A 98% loss rate from Timmy's own court papers that equates to 20 grand for many reps is staggering. I can see why your reps hemorrhaging money can't attend. Their priorities are in order. They are putting themselves and their precious families first. Why would they keep throwing their hard earned money at you when this scheme is nothing but a blood sucking, losing proposition?

Quote:

I. The word, “can’t” is of the enemy. Paul says, “I CAN DO all things through Him who gives me strength.” The word, “can’t” is the direct negation of Holy Scripture, God’s Word, and God’s purpose in our life. Voicing the word, “can’t” places us squarely in the enemy camp. Never, ever, ever use the word, “can’t”. Erase it from your vocabulary.

II. The statement was also incorrect in that “can’t” is not the issue, but rather, his “CHOICE”, your choice - is the issue. He should have stated, “I choose not to attend this important event, because I have other priorities in my life that are more important than my Advantage Conferences business.” That would have been a more truthful and accurate statement. That “choice of prioritization” is indeed every single Representative’s prerogative, but there is an indisputable truth that you must know about that choice: Those who don’t attend the events – those who don’t make attendance a priority - NEVER make any money in this business. The same is the concrete truth for any and all businesses, not just Advantage Conferences. That which you don't prioritize will never reward you – plain and simple. This is not my rule, but rather a business axiom that you can count on 100 percent of the time. Choose not to show up at a job and see how well you get paid – you will NOT get paid. And the same is true in your business as well.

The good news is the opposite – “Can Do”, “Will Do” and attendance opens up the doors to success! You and I – we all desperately need these events to affirm our involvement, and elevate our enthusiasm and belief level to the point where success is actualized and activated. Attendance is not a drudgery. It is an incredible privilege and blessed gift! It a choice that distinctly shows what your priorities genuinely are – priorities to yourself more than anyone else.

Can't is a word of wisdom. The ex-reps I communicate with can't imagine ripping off anyone else and are grateful they have no sales. They are saying I can see others aren't harmed by these scammers. I can share the truth about this scam. God has called on many to expose Tim, Jack and AC.

Tim, you are such an imbecile. No one is making any real money in this business except for you and Jack. Some have shown up for several conferences and not made one sale. They are out many thousands and wishing they hadn't attended, but grateful their friends and family aren't suffering devastating financial losses at your hands, scammer.

And about that not getting paid. You have changed the policy midstream, but anyone who purchased and has renewed for this year should be paid what they were promised. You cannot deny folks the benefits promised with the MMC-IV just because they are too busy or not interested in getting on calls. That new policy is fodder for your reps to see you in court and win. That policy also does not specify clear numbers that constitute no longer active. So, keep stiffing your reps and you will be seeing many more Writs of Garnishment in your future.
Quote:

III. No leader would ever make the statement on a public call that they aren't going to attend the Conference. Any chance of leadership at all is immediately relinquished by such a statement – and even such a thought. Is an announcement like that bad for Advantage Conferences? Yes. Bad for me, personally? Yes. Bad for other Reps and potential Attendees to hear? Of course. It allows them to think that attendance is not important, and it's OK not to attend. That is a terrible lie, and one you may have bought into. But damage to those entities pales in comparison to how detrimental a statement it is for the one who utters it or even thinks it.

It is okay not to attend and it is not a lie, but a matter of personal choice, Timmy boy. You are sadly mistaken if you think you can control your reps. It is backfiring with a vengeance. Your idea of leadership reminds me of lemmings going over the side of a cliff one after the other, buffoon.

Tim, you are the only liar here. It would be a great gift to all your reps if this joke of a company was shut down or folded so they could go out and find something productive to do that would be rewarding financially and spiritually.

IV. Excuses completely foil your future success. Your Web of Rationalization is a powerful, negative, and destructive device you've allowed to exist as a guidance mechanism in your life for way too long. You must slay all ideas of excuse and rationalization.

Your reasoning to NOT do the very thing that will reward you with multiple returns will KILL YOUR FUTURE,

And that rationalization process negatively affects not only you,

but your family and everyone surrounding you, as well.

Your lies and deceit Tim are what has affected folks and their families.

Quote:

I truly hope you are thinking that you can, are, and will be successful here – and you should know deeply in your heart that attendance at the MMC is entirely and totally doable. It is indeed the right choice, and furthermore, ATTENDANCE IS REQUISITE TO SUCCESS HERE. To say or think attendance is not doable or not possible is erroneously limiting yourself and worse, it denies the abilities, resources, and power that God has given you. It is an abdication of success principles in general. It is a terribly bad choice in relation to the reality of success at AC or any business to think that you are NOT going to attend THE MAIN EVENT. God has given you the ability to be present at YOUR event – that is an irrefutable fact. You either agree with Him, and the “Can Do” agenda of this company, or you don’t. I pray you figure out how to embrace the former “Can Do” option.

God has given folks the wisdom to see you are nothing but a well dressed thug and con. God has not given folks the ability to attend. Many of your reps are in financial distress because of this AC scheme. Your reps can and do see that they have the option to report this scam to the authorities and demand refunds because you took folks money by complete misrepresentation.

You are wanting folks to attend because you are desperately hoping to pocket a few more 5 grand commissions off of any sales that can be made. We all know the Better Business Bureau garnishing your account and the fact the number of reps has plunged over the last year has this scam on its last leg. Every scheme you cook up turns into an abysmal failure. Jack has such nerve saying "This weekend I will be determining who the "Top Ten" Candidates for an AC Rep-ship in my business are. Each of the Candidates on this list will receive privileged information regarding the rapid growth at AC that all the other Candidates will not." What a crock that is.

Did you boys tell Nash you haven't advertised his Thursday night seminar at all. He isn't going to be too happy when he discovers only 2 dozen reps and their spouses have shown up for the scamference.

Quote:

The point of this message is to make it very clear that the implications of your choice are much greater than you may have thought up until now. God has given us the most incredible lineup of Highly Successful Christian Mentors – one that I could only have wished for several months ago. Every single one I envisioned is in place – truly a "God-thing", and an experience we are all extremely privileged to be blessed by. The event is going to be powerfully transformational and invigorating for your future. Your attendance is the exact RIGHT thing to do. It is the fork in the road for your future with AC. The choice of which fork in the road you are going to take is entirely in your hands.

Which one will it be?
