There is the biggest hitter's, Jack's, revamped website. Now, don't tell us the whole premise isn't still "Make $7000 over and over." It flashes across the screen in big letters constantly. There is no way folks will make the now promised minimum $100,000 ( no longer 7 figures, amazing ) unless everyone signs up at the 10 grand level. And again how can one peddle these bogus conferences when one doesn't think they were worth the money to attend themselves in the first place?

Soapboxdad, I am worried about you. I am worried that you are becoming addicted to this site. Is Tim paying you to stay on here?

I noticed Tim has a book out called "Slaying Your Giants" . I wonder if this gives Tim's advice on how to sue others in court.

Do the new Advantage Conferences reps atleast get this book with their $10,000.

I went to Tim's Church today to try and buy it in the Book Store and it was not there. Is there any other places to purchase it other then online?

I also noticed that Tim teaches a Sunday school class at 9:30am to married adults. I wish I could be a fly on the wall in these classes.

You think Tim has uses this as a forum to tell people about Advantage Conferences..?

After a person has to go through about a 2 hour process with the 3 step review, they then have to take 30-45 minutes to answers very pointed questions in a president's interview to even be considered as a representative. There is no other company in this space doing this, but once again, there is no debate to be won here. Here is the website for Tim's new Book-<http://www.rhinionationpublishing.com>

I noticed our buddy Jack gave a testimony and it fails to mention that Jack is one of Tim's business partners with Advantage Conferences..

Rhino Nation Publishing - the publishing house dedicated to excellence in improving the lives of all readers and listeners. All content is both inspirational, encouraging and Christ centered.

Slay Your Giant – the new, breakthrough book by entrepreneur and author, Tim Darnell, provides powerful insight and advice on dealing with the One, Single Giant that stands in your way.

Each of us has the potential to experience abundance and greater influence on the planet, but we must be willing to fight an important battle. Your Giant is vulnerable – he can be “taken out”, and when you emerge victorious, you will be able to experience more fulfillment and greater rewards!

The battle won’t be easy, but it will be worth it. Don’t settle for “Old Home.” Make the journey to “New Home.” Slay Your Giant NOW!

E-book - $29.95 Click here to purchase your personal copy: Slay Your Giant

After submitting payment you will have access to your own, personally registered copy available for immediate download! (Texas resident pay 8.25% state tax.)

---

I have only read part of Slay Your Giant. I am very, very excited and more than ever before know that I truly want God to manage my life. I want to put more faith in God and His infinite wisdom. As it says in Chapter 4, I will move forward greater when I build everything on the rock of Jesus. Thank you Jesus! Thank you Tim Darnell.

Barbara DiBattista – Portland, Maine

I finished Tim Darnell's new book, Slay Your Giant - this book will impact the world! I was led to a breakthrough in my life and a million dollar idea for our team members that I am working on this week. I am sure I will re-read several times. Bravo!

Jack Weinzierl – President/Founder OneOasis.com

Wow! I started reading "Slay Your Giant" this evening and was unable to stop until I had read the entire book. Just a few chapters into the book, I realized I had several giants; then, only a few chapters further into it, I ran head on into My Big Giant! I would challenge anyone to read this book to identify giants in their path that must be taken down if they are to accomplish all that God has given them the potential to accomplish.

Melissa Chilton – Nashville, Tennessee

"I am reading SYG and it is powerful. What an impact this is on my life and those around me."

Sandy Riffle – Kentucky

"Tim, I'm only to Chapter 3 in Slaying Your Giant and it has already revealed to me that, as a single parent, I had woven a web of rationalization that I couldn't succeed in business like others, namely men, because it is all up to me to get everything done. This book revealed my "can'ts" and reminded me to trust in my ultimate helper, Jesus Christ. Thanks for this powerful book!"

Debbie Lantz – Texas

"WOW – what can I say! This is BRILLIANT!"

Michael Bartlett – Florida

I have not finished all of your book yet, I'm about 3/4 of the way through. But I just HAD to tell you again how wonderful it is! Have you ever read a book that makes your heart race with the truths in it? That's how your book is affecting me! I relate SO, SO much to all that you are speaking of, and I KNOW it to be true! The words you speak are divine confirmation of everything that has been in my heart!

Chere Oldhoff

Thank you so very much for the Blessing of your great book. Brother Jack just sent me a copy. It arrived on May 25th, my birthday. What a birthday gift.

I shared it with the head of our men's department at our church and he was thrilled to be able to share this with the men at our church. I also sent it my brother who has been going thru a lot. I know it will change him forever.

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Yes, once again SoapBoxMom is lying as none of the links that she provided were in fact Jack's site. She also calls them bogus conferences when there are 200+ people who have attended 3 conferences to date, who would state otherwise. Oh yes, SoapBoxMom is anti-MLM and by posting on the boards day after day, she knows more than the professionals, MBAs, pastors and others involved with Advantage Conferences. You should read the posts unless you really don't care about the truth.

You are a total nut. One site was Jack's. The other sites belonged to his downline and another rep. Where is the lie there??? I never said all the sites belong to Jack, but they are sites belonging to Advantage Conference reps. They clearly illustrate that this is painted as a get rich scheme and that the entire focus is on conning friends and family and getting 10 grand out of every recruit. Read the lovely piece compliments of Jack on the other thread and tell us it doesn't recommend signing up friends and family and doesn't tout the incredible earnings again and again.

<http://www.scam.com/showpost.php?p=205255&postcount=53>

Now, let's get this straight---At a conference I am going to hear from pastors, Tim (a guy working out of his converted john ) and professionals that you can't identify or disclose the backgrounds, education, credentials and experience of. One is going to pay 10 grand for this?????

Read the Attorney General's website(what I cut and posted from the site). Its very cut and dry. I don't understand how you can argue with that. (its funny how you made the decision not to refute that post very much) .

Has Tim brainwashed you so bad that you are so skewed in your reading that common sense and realism has gone out the window with you?

Some people have lied to themselves and others so many times they actually start believing themselves to be true. This is the true definition of insanity..

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Here to add more common sense discussion:

The Advantage Conferences Team would have you to believe they are "selling" conference tickets. In order to avoid illegal pyramid status, they must convince you they are selling/promoting tickets to the Millionaire Mindset Conference. I've typed into google "Millionaire Conference tickets", "Educational conference Tickets" and variations of the same; and lo and behold NO ADVERTISEMENTS for Conference tickets (the actual product of the company).

When I type in "hammer", "furniture", or any other legitimate product into google, a crazy thing happens; The product being sold is found and a link to the store is given!

With AC it is incredibly obvious that what is really being "sold" on the internet is a Business opportunity. Type into google "Christian Business" and you will see all AC reps camping out there. Legally, they might have slipped through a loop hole with the conference posing as the product, but when everything is considered Reps are online promoting $7000 over and over again and a business opportunity. 80-90% of the information in there 3 step information process deals with the business opportunity, while 10-20% deals with the actual product. On paper tickets are purchased, but There's no doubt in my mind when a person forks over $10,000, there heart's true purchase is the business opportunity.

I am no lawyer, so anything I say is simply a layman's opinion. However, I think this one comes closer than any that I've seen to being an illegal pyramid. However, I am always just a tad tentative when I see the lawyers get involved in these things. I can only hope that people see businesses such as this for what I think they are: a chance for smart salespeople to take advantage of desperate folks who are simply looking for better lives. And again, I am NOT saying that everyone in MLM is a creepy salesperson looking to prey on innocent folks. A great many of them are honest folks who really believe in what they are doing. But the end result is what counts. In other words, I think the buyer needs to beware.

Open Letter to Conference Attendees

[or: memo from the real world]

Soapboxdad and other shills for A.C., repeatedly deride and ridicule critics here with pointless and baseless accusations. One quite annoying comment dad makes is that we critics are simply not knowledgeable or capable of being successful in business. Remarkable isn't he has never met me, does not know my background yet he blathers endlessly to ridicule posters [ "we're Anti MLM" ] to inflate his own image. Soapboxdad needs and education....

On conferences:

I have worked for several Fortune 500 Companies, in sales management marketing and logistics. I have also owned successful business ventures. In my 35 years in the business world I have attended dozens of lectures, conferences and heard from many motivational speakers. In most cases it was required by my employer that I attend. Any fees were paid by my employer. We were also paid our regular salary for the day, compensated for travel expenses and occasionally given per/diem for meals. The running joke: "They better have free lunch or we ain't going.", conferences/lectures are boring as hell. But.....

I NEVER PAID A DIME TO ATTEND A CONFERENCE IN MY LIFE.

And I never will.

I know what a 'CONFERENCE' is and I especially know that what Soapboxdad is selling is BS.

If you want to learn more about this Google 'motivational speakers'. You can find a lot of this crap free on the internet.

SoapBoxMom,

The site that you are referencing uses cookies and the only reason you are seeing Jack's name is you were on his site prior checking it out. If others click on the links that you provided, they will see Jack's testimonial as I mentioned already, but it is not Jack's site. So, once again, the truth not that you care about that.

Sorry for the delay as I was trying to sift through all the opinions that are stated as fact by SoapBoxMom and WishYouKnew.

However, I want to veer slightly away from these issues to a more "common sense" approach in evaluating Advantage Conferences. This has become a long thread, but I hope that you read this post carefully and piece together it's implications.

Consider 2 different people coming into the Advantage Conferences Team. Both have saved up $15,000 (a substantial amount of money for the average American) to start a home based business.

CASE 1--- TOM has just purchased the MMC4 (conference) for a cost of $10,000. He can now advertise this conference and qualify fully by selling 2 MMC4's. Let's assume it takes $2,000 (arbitrarily) in advertising to secure each of his 2 required MMC4 qualifying sales ($2,000 x 2= $4k). His initial capital of $15,000 is down to $1,000, but now he is fully qualified.

Yes, and also will receive the full commissions based on his performance unlike most MLM where the people in earlier benefit. With this commission plan, the commission does not go to 20 people, but 100% of the main commission goes to the qualified rep. It is more like direct sales, although in direct sales, the sales manager gets a cut and so on.

CASE 2--- Beth chooses to become a rep with the company for $59 only (NO CONFERENCE PURCHASE). She makes use of the AC website ($500) to facilitate her success online. And then (like Tom) she spends $2,000 in advertising to secure her 3 required qualifying MMC4 sales ($2,000 x 3= $6K). Her initial capital of $15,000 is down to $8,441 and she is fully qualified.

Yes, that is correct, but she does not go to the MMC as she did not purchase a ticket, and she is also giving up that 3rd qualifying sale commission of $7,000.

I believe these are reasonable hypotheticals. When thought out in this manner, it clearly appears that BETH has made the wiser decision as far as her investment capital. She is qualified and has over $8,000 left to spend on advertising, while Tom has only $1,000 to place toward advertising. Surely this is significant?!

Reps and the president himself have posed these questions:

1) Can a person sell what they are not willing to buy?

To answer this question I reviewed the information in the 3 steps. Again and again it stated that the selling process was AUTOMATED, THERE IS NO COLD CALLING, THE SYSTEM IS THE PRO SO YOU DONT HAVE TO BE, EVERYONE CAN DO IT, THEY CLOSE ALL THE SALES, THERE IS NO PRESSURE SELLING, YOU DONT EVER ACTUALLY HAVE TO TALK TO A SINGLE PERSON, the training process itself (which is available without a $10K purchase) explains everything you need to succeed, AND ON AND ON. Their advertising material goes to extensive lengths to convince you that this "powerful system" compensates fully for any human inadequacies you might possess. And with that, the question above disintegrates.

We do not make any cold calls, we are not there to convince or sell and we do not close people on 3 way calls as so many companies practice including traditional businesses out there.

2) Would a $59 rep who does not attend a conference have the same potential to build the business as someone who actually experienced the conference?

I believe that anyone who is building a long term business should be a product of the product, but anyone could build this if they were consistent in their marketing efforts. A person who works for Victoria Secrets does not have to wear the close to sell them, but it always helps to have first hand experience with a product.

My answer to question 1 also applies here. In addition, I would point out that AC encourages people from Nigeria, France, Germany, etc to become part of the team. And these people ARE becoming part of the team, WITHOUT ever experiencing the conference in their country! If Darnell truly believed the conference itself was essential for their success, WOULD IT NOT BE AN ETHICAL CONFLICT to accept Reps from other countries who have no way of attending these conferences?? These Reps are coming in more and more...

An ethical issue? The answer is not at all as we had folks fly in from all over the world to our last two MMC's including Germany. For those that cannot attend, they do have the option to receive the entire conference in a DVD package.

To me what this all BOILS down to is NO incentive to purchase the FULL $10,000 MMC4. When people realize this, the company will be on shaky ground!

The biggest incentive is the value received at the MMC. In addition, once a person attends an MMC, they and their spouse are able to attend all subsequent conferences for 90% off. There is no one in the industry doing this. Over 50% of all folks do purchase the full MMC-IV conference as they see the many advantages

Good questions.

Not quite, sonny boy. I typed in Advatage Conferences on the Google search page and that was the third sponsored link--oneOasis.com defaulted to the link I gave.

So, try again to explain how Jack is not responsible for that content. His name is on it and I found it in the sponsred links on the first page of Google for this bum deal.

You obviously have no idea what constitutes truth or fiction as you are so brainwashed by these scammers. Jack and Timmmy have been exposed for all the world to see as the money grubbing slime that they are. So, sing their praises loudly, but before you make any crazy accusations about my honesty try finding some facts to back you up. You are making this deal look even more ridiculous as you make a futile attempt to discredit the well educated articulate scambusters on this thread.

Soapboxdad, I am worried about you. I am worried that you are becoming addicted to this site. Is Tim paying you to stay on here?

WishYouKnew--you are asking that question of me. One can just click on your name to know your story. You act as though you are protected from slanderous remarks here. So, in your master plan when you are testifying, what will you answer when asked under oath if you posted to scam.com and what is your username? I would enjoy that unless you are just stating that you would lie there too. The great thing about the truth is it is the truth whether you believe it or not.

I noticed Tim has a book out called "Slaying Your Giants" . I wonder if this gives Tim's advice on how to sue others in court.

If someone slanders you professionally and challanges your integrity, a person does not just take it. And I just finished the book and you would be very well served by reading it.

Do the new Advantage Conferences reps atleast get this book with their $10,000.

Wait, wouldn't you know this if you were in fact a rep? Not only do they get this but have full distribution rights.

I went to Tim's Church today to try and buy it in the Book Store and it was not there. Is there any other places to purchase it other then online?

I also noticed that Tim teaches a Sunday school class at 9:30am to married adults. I wish I could be a fly on the wall in these classes.

Yes, you may even learn something that would change your life for the better.

SoapBoxDad is desperately trying to find something, anything to change the subject or discredit me. First he repeatedly screams liar those weren't all Jack's sites. Of course, all those links posts ago weren't all Jack's. I said they belonged to other rep's and one of Jack's downline reps. The first link is Jack's and of course it is one of many pushing "Make $7000 over and over" again and promising at least 100 grand or more a year in income. We all know that the only way this deal will make Jack and Timmy the $$$$$$$$$$ is if all the reps sign-up at the 10 grand level. All the press releases and websites from day one have touted huge earnings of 100 grand to more than a million, so this whining that a rep can sign-up at $59.95 is true, but there is tremendous pressure to sign up at the 10 grand level. That is the only way any rep can realize the $7000 they have been promised over and over and over and over and over and over.....

Anyone who really cared about the truth would have gone through the process. Since WishYouKnew stated that he had only been on a few calls, it looks like he was not truthful in his own President's Interview. Let me know your name and I can ask Tim to forward to me to share with everyone here :)

To everyone else, I challenge you to find another home-based business that requires an interview and approval. Folks there is a lot of garbage out there, spend your time more wisely. I appreciate the opportunity to share this.

1. What is your professional or work background over the past 5 years?
2. Have you thoroughly reviewed each of the 3 Simple Steps?
3. Were you able to listen to (hear) and not just view the Compensation Plan Presentation?

If not, please listen to the Compensation Plan with audio before continuing.

4. What is the AC product, what is your impression of the Product, and why do you value the Product purpose and concept?

5. What is your impression of the Compensation Plan? In other words, without going into the details of the plan, what are your thoughts about the pay structure, especially relative to other types of income opportunities with which you have had experience (Job, MLM, Franchise, Sales Positions, etc.)?

6. What do you expect to accomplish as a Rep at Advantage Conferences as regards income and lifestyle change?

7. What components of the Company, product, and business model most attracted you to Advantage Conferences?

8. Are you a positive, enthusiastic person and are you able to maintain "Positive Expectancy" for the long run and amidst all circumstances?

9. After your training period, do you understand that marketing and advertising campaigns for your business are your responsibility?

10. Although many effective marketing methods require very little to no money, many Reps choose to establish a presence for your marketing activities and to begin branding their name, picture, product, and/or income opportunity. What type of advertising budget on a monthly basis are you planning on committing (dollar amount)?

11. If you are needing income immediately, or currently in a tight, possibly even desperate financial situation, you are quite likely to be better served by securing employment rather than starting an Advantage Conferences business. Although there have been instances of sizable first month checks, there is no way to know how quickly you will create your three Conference Training Sales and begin producing commissionable Conference Sales. Advantage Conferences makes no guarantee or assertion that you will do so in any stated period of time, as this time frame varies widely. Do you understand and accept that fact that success is different for everyone and the time frame for positive cash flow is not, and cannot be guaranteed by your Enrolling Rep, your MMC-IV Mentor, the Company (AC), the staff, ownership, or anyone associated with the Company?

12. Are you in a situation that demands that you begin cash flowing in the next six months to a year? _____ Do you feel like you are desperate for money? _____

13. Do you understand that a Millionaire Mindset Conference purchase is optional and not required in order to represent Advantage Conferences product(s) and make money at Advantage Conferences?

14. Do you understand that the Company offers no refund on Conference purchases, other than the State of Texas 72 hour right of rescission statute?

15. Are you genuinely enthused about the power of the product and ongoing training offered by the Company, and are you open to this type of training for your own personal growth and edification?

16. "Winners never quit" - can you be consistent and persistent for an extended period of time - however long it takes to accomplish what it is you want to accomplish (question #5)?

17. "Quitters never win" - do you understand that should you quit you will lose your money, time, and any contacts you may have introduced to your business?

18. Do you understand that Advantage Conferences is a Christian company, not just in name, but genuinely? Do you understand that many of the Mindset Trainings are based on Biblical scriptures? _____ What is your opinion of this?

19. Here is an opportunity for you to talk about your virtues. Why would Advantage Conferences be a better place because you are here?

20. Do you believe that you are currently a successful person, and that you can be even more successful through your association with Advantage Conferences?

21. Do you consider yourself a whiner?

22. Do you consider yourself a winner?

23. Do you believe without a d-o-u-b-t that you will be successful here?

24. Would you like to make further comments at this point?

Thank you for your time and care in filling out this form. Please sign, date, and fax all pages of this form to the Advantage Conferences home office: Or you may complete this form and email as an attachment to: office to:

Approval or disapproval will be based upon review of this Interview Form and notification of the decision will be e-mailed to you. ### Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Yes, once again SoapBoxMom is lying as none of the links that she provided were in fact Jack's site. She also calls them bogus conferences when there are 200+ people who have attended 3 conferences to date, who would state otherwise. In fact, I have posted their conference testimonials, but no SoapBoxMom in her consiracy theorist head would rather believe that she knows more. Oh yes, SoapBoxMom is anti-MLM and by posting on the boards day after day, she knows more than the professionals, MBAs, pastors and others involved with Advantage Conferences. You should read the posts unless you really don't care about the truth.

Open, I am not here any longer to debate SoapBoxMom who has a complete lack of respect for the truth. The point again is you and others have asked me to point out her lies and I will not let these little lies pass through. Not one of those sites were Jack's. Minor point, but all of these lies add up to a lack of credibility for SoapBoxMom in my opinion. Then, she calls me nuts, goon, scammer, etc.

Everyone else can go through the 3 steps and determine for themselves and read through the PI posted and the other answers that I have provided. I am off for a fun weekend here shortly.

I know that you do not like the model and industry and you have the right to your opinions as I have read those, but I disagree on many front and I know I am not going to change your mind.

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Jack is doing quite well and I will say hi to him this weekend when I am town working with him. Advantage Conferences is attracting doctors, two attorneys that I know of, several MBA's, franchise owners, pastors, teachers, real estate professionals, and many other high quality people or as you called them "cream of the crop." Your words and I guess you are right, the business is not attracting the anti-network marketing folks like yourself that post on boards all day. Oh well, that is why we have 3 steps and the interview process. Our business has never been stronger so once again, another weak attempt by you to discredit people and a business you know so little about.

Of course, folks are foaming a the mouth. Once they qualify, which most will never do they will make $7000 each time they find a sucker. As it will become apparent later, the rep after initial taining is responsible for their own advertising and prospecting. So, as Jack's press release said they will be hounding/sharing with friends and family as they desperately try to recoup their 10 grand.

They don't care about your previous experience as it states clearly no experience necessary. The only real requirement is the 10 grand. Logic dictates that.

You better budget a fortune as there are only several hundred reps right now one can easily see how difficult it is to sign folks up for this deal. 10 grand is a tremendous amount of money for most folks.

You will probably be forced to quit before your advertising and conference expenses break you. Folks should realize that the conference doesn't include anything. You must pay airfare, hotel, food, gas and rental car.
