To all:

I certainly don't expect the cowardly piece of crap that placed a complaint against me at the board to own up to it.

I did want to show everyone here what the vile filth that populated this thread in the defense of AC. are all about however.

They intend to dictate the professional standard [what a joke] that everyone should conform to. And if that does not work they will complain to the authorities to silence all dissent and criticism. Slime All of them!!

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Folks,

The latest moronic utterings from PSB sum up the general tone of the postings on sites such as these. It is clear to me that my feeble attempts at outrage will no more make a dent in this medium than a monkey will have success running the New York Transit Authority.

Concequently, this will be my last post on this thread. I have found a far better way to counteract the ravings of these people. It will be a slower process but far more effective.

So to SBD I wish you success as you provide truth, justice and love in a medium rife with proponents of lies, injustice and hate.

To the others, my prayer is that you find salvation and receive Christ into your hearts. Only then will you find what you truly are searching for.

I will check the thread now and again, but I will not waste my time posting on here anymore. I see that this is not where the heart of America is. This site is populated by those who have long given up a chance at greatness (SBD, present company excepted) and have destined themselves to lives of mediocrity and ineffectiveness.

This country is the greatest on the face of this planet. I did not come here to wallow in that greatness, iI came here to add to it. This I will now do.

Goodnight, good luck and may God be with you and may God bless America.

That is surely not lining pockets as this is corporate gross, meanwhile paying out close to $2 million in commissions with those numbers.

Let's give corporate the $3000 per conference ticket. That = $900,000. We know that of the ( $300 \times $7000 = $2,100,000$ ) commissions Wacko Jacko got at least $540,000 (Jacko's own figure). It is also likely that Timmy with the most often hit website garnered at least that much in sales. At the most I have seen a dozen reps pages or paid press releases. The other reps can't even be found. So, they can't be selling much. If we assume that Timmy and Jack are selling the same amount that is 1,080,000. Out of  $300 \times $7000 = $2,100,000$  they have $1,080,000 of the sales. That leaves $1,020,000 for the remaining 298 reps to fight over. Oh, but wait we must take out the $120,000 approximately that you claimed you earned. That leaves $900,000 for the remaining 297 reps to fight over. If it was divided evenly amongst the remaining reps they would each get $3030.30 which puts them all in the money losing category. Or if we take the expected earnings of $100,000 according to AC then 9 reps can make that and the other 288 reps would make zero $$$$$$$$$$. So, AC is blatantly lying about the earnings potential to its reps.

So, with $900,000 in corporate earnings and Tims own earnings which most likely far exceed half a million, big deal!

But there is no evidence Timmy does pay out to the reps. His is the most viewed website by far and with 2 sales going upline for every new rep most of those probably end up going to Timmy or Jack anyway. If this isn't the case then the earnings tables which AC will be forced to publish for some states as they hit the 3 year mark will tell us what you and Timmy and AC are dishonestly refusing to disclose for now as we know these figures will not be in the least favorable. All the hyped earnings on the websites will be far below what is actually being paid out and Timmy will have to be afraid of lawsuits based on fraud and misrepresentation. I hope Mr. Litigious has some good attorneys because he will most likely need them.

With only 300 10 grand sales and Timmy and Jacko raking it in there can't be more than a mere handful other reps making multiple six figure incomes. So, I guess the gloves can come off now!

A must read for AC recruits:

False Profits

Seeking Financial and Spiritual Deliverance in Multi-Level Marketing and Pyramid Schemes

by Robert L. Fitzpatrick and Joyce Reynolds
Charlotte, N.C.: Herald Press, 1997

“The authors argue that the apparent motive of greed, which drives the millions of people who are recruited into MLM schemes, is really a quest for spiritual fulfillment. Those seeking the City of Man are really seeking the City of God. It is true that much of the claptrap and ritual associated with MLM organizations more than vaguely resemble the trappings of evangelistic religions. And it is true that both religious and MLM devotees unabashedly identify financial success with spirituality. Pat Robertson, Jerry Falwell, and all the other hypocrites for Christ not only do not apologize for their materialistic ambitions, they seem to identify God's love for them with their worldly success. Personally, I liked the old-time religion of the Rev. Ike, a televangelist in the sixties who wore diamond rings on every finger and demonstrated the glories of God in a parade of testimonials of God-inspired money. Ike was no hypocrite. God wants you to be rich, he said. If you love God, he'll reward you with money. Prove you love God by sending Ike money. It was that simple. Falwell and Robertson make the same appeal, only they are much less straightforward about it.”.....

There are two parts of the compensation plan 70% on the direct sales side--1 sale 1 commission, and there is a team bonus paid out that is $600 per MMC-IV sales which is 6% which makes the payout 76%. ---

Then we have the AC site which of course will give one no information about anything until you fork over the cash. So now, Daddio, we took you at your word when you said 1 sale = 1 commission. So, let's give that 6% to the team. That = the matrix Timmy boy hinted at in the movie and changes the whole nature of the plan. Of course, that is also a big joke as it only increases the reps portion in your example by $12,000. I kindly didn't mention the 200 reps that bought at the $60 level. If we include them in our math after Jack and Timmy we have 498 reps fighting over that $12,000 plus the 1,020,000 left after Timmy and Jack take around 1,080,000 of the $2,100,000 (300 reps/MMC4 x $7000 over and over). If we agree that you are not Jack then we are left with $820,000 for 497 reps to fight over I edited to include your statement of $200,000 in earnings. That means if 8 make $100,000 the remaining 489 make have $20,000 to fight over! If divided equally the 489 would make a whopping $1649.90.

Not at all the earnings these poor slobbs were promised, now is it? This exponential growth will continue and doom ever increasing numbers to lose all their money to line Timmy's, Jacks and a few others pockets while almost all the rest will lose big!

Oh and guys, to point out the obvious Daddio said there were 500 reps and 222 attendees. That suggest no outside sales. If there were outside sales and reps making money we would have a 5000 sales to 500 reps and at least a 10 to 1 customer to rep ratio. Or how about 50 to 1 customer to rep ratio which would be 25,000 sales. Even more reasonable if your reps are going to actually make any real money for any length of time would be 50,000 sales and 500 reps which would be a 100 to 1 customer to rep ratio. But we don't have that do we scammers? You have 500 reps and 300 10 grand sales according to SoapBoxDad, so whats that .6 sales per rep. Incomprehensibly pathetic!!!!

Obviously, your numbers are off as there are 4 individuals that I know of that are already at $100,000+ in earnings and the average rep has been here for 6 months, if that. SoapBoxMom, you are a glass 1/2 full, make that 1/10 full woman and I feel for your husband and anyone that has to interact with you. Your personal attacks and name calling reflects on your heart and intelligence.

Someone else posted why would someone making $200K + post here. I ignored hate-filled posts (yes, personal attacks of slime, scammer, con, etc. is hate-filled) for too long. I will be on here every day for years to come to ensure that you cannot spread your hateful inaccuracies without innocent people having the opportunity to know what you stand for--and it's not truth. It is anti-MLM in any form agenda and according to you, your faith is something between you and your ordained minister. This would be laughable, if it was not sad. You have your right to your opinion, but to think you are right when there are many scriptures confirming what all believers are called to do and how we are called to live, is ridiculous. You are the ones making faith in our business an issue. We clearly let people know what we stand for just like if you had a business. That would be a big "IF" since 90% of traditional businesses fail and you would not have the ability to get past the analysis paralysis. Most people are like you and truly are better off as an employee vs. an entrepreneur.

OpenQuestion, you know that I asked some good questions of SBM and I guess I will have to repost, as I never seem to get real answers. Open, I know you do not believe these are hateful inaccuracies, but for her to call me slime, scammer and other leaders where she has NO experience or competencies quite frankly, is irresponsible at best. Oh, you have such a worthy goal if you can save just one person, blah, blah, blah. So, you are a savior of sorts? Tood funny. You know a lie (or your inaccuracies) believed as truth will affect people as if it were the truth.

Amazing that someone who has never attended the MMC, has not been on the 100+ hours in calls this past year, and has not had any personal experience with Advantage Conferences thinks for a moment that she knows what she is talking about here.

I tell you this much. If someone reads this thread and decides not to attend the Millionaire Mindset Conference or become a representative with Advantage Conferences, then you have saved us, and for that I am appreciative. If someone is truly swayed by your inaccuracies and hate speech, then there is quite simply not a good fit for Advantage Conferences. They should also probably not become an entrepreneur either since most businesses fail in the first 5 years.

We are not looking for candles in the wind fluttering about and going from opportunity to opportunity. We want people with backbones and reading posts from you, Renloyx and Phinnley simply reinforces to the world the need for what we offer in our MMC, ongoing mentoring and training. Thank you for providing that real life example of what we are not looking for.

I guess you could be called a scammer for scamming people out of an opportunity for personal and business growth. Boy, if I would have listened to you a year ago, maybe I would not have grown (more than I did during my MBA ($60,000) mind you); I would not have built a powerful business that I am more proud of than any of my corporate years. I would have also not seen the lives changed both financially and spiritually. No, then again, I have been around your types all my life in corporate America and I have learned to discern fortunately between opinion, lies, and facts.

Post your resume with your name and I will do the same. Yes, experience and core competencies do matter.

But name calling, that would be stooping to your level SoapBoxMom and I believe we are called to a higher standard.

April, sorry as I could not find your post. I added my answer to my reply to SoapBoxMom so it is written to her (not you). But here is why I will continue to attack inaccuracies and the hate posted here.

Somone posted why would someone making $200K + post here. I ingored hate-filled posts (yes, personal attacks of slime, scammer, con, etc. is hate-filled) for too long. I will be on here every day for years to come to ensure that you cannot spread your hateful inaccuracies without innocent people having the opportunity to know what you stand for--and it's not truth. It is anti-MLM in any form agenda and according to you, your faith is something between you and your ordained minister. This would be laughable, if it was not sad. You have your right to your opinion, but to think you are right when there are many scriptures confirming what all believers are called to do and how we are called to live, is ridiculous. You are the ones making faith in our business an issue. We clearly let people know what we stand for just like if you had a business. That would be a big "IF" since 90% of traditional businesses fail and you would not have the ability to get past the analysis paralysis. Most people are like you and truly are better off as an employee vs. an entrepreneur.

Reloyx, mainly due to the fact it discredits your post regarding the subject that you saw fit to post. I stayed out of the debate, but I will continue to attack inaccuracies. You would do well to read through those links unless you are afraid to learn the truth. I did not know that libraries are open on Sunday evenings. How are you getting internet access?

A couple of websites discredit nothing. You would do well to read a history book and speak to some history professors.

Anyway this has nothing to do with your scam so stop trying to change the subject.

I am back from being out of town.. I see you guys have been busy.

Tim aka Poweroldglory has even chimmed in..

Tim, you are going to actually have to come with facts if you ever wanted to meet one-on-one and it would not even be worth the challenge.

As far as your offer to make it %100 private. I don't believe that for one minute as Tim has sued everyone who disagrees with him.

If I were to meet anyone I would be dragged into court so fast.

SoapboxDad,

As far as your promise to come on here ever day for years to come. Then great go ahead.. I hate to bring this to your attention because I am scared it will run you off.

But, the more you post, the higher this thread pops up on google and all the other search engines. Thanks to yourself you have bumped this thread to the first page of google when someone does a search for Advantage Conferences, thus hurting A/C.

Also your claim that if someone reads this thread and is turned away from AC then thats good and they were not a good fit for AC anyways..

Thats great if you have that feeling. But, Tim wants to sign people up anyway he can.

SoapBoxDad,

You sure sound funny for a guy with an MBA. You are not an entrepreneur. You work for Timmy/AC and if your agreement/contract reads like most MLM contracts they can terminate you for any reason without cause or explanation at any time. All the team you have built is lost forever and you probably also have a noncompete clause in there as well. So, you just work for slime that calls all the shots. Entrepreneur-----what a joke!

Wishyouknew, as you are supposedly a believer, keep hanging out with the likes of Renloyx. Maybe you can witness to him as you have obviously seen his posts. We are still waiting on the roster from the MMC that you stated that you attended and that you would provide. We are still waiting. You guys have asked for the bios, but if you really had attended, you would share.

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

SoapBoxDad,

Is the math confusing you again? I think I pointed out the customer to rep ratio is .6 to 1. How do you like them apples? Do you have the most pathetically inept sales force or is there something terribly wrong with the product? You have 500 reps and 300 sales with 222 attendees so far (your numbers). That does = .6 to 1! This also puts you in jeopardy of being deemed an illegal pyramid scheme as most, if not all your sales are to reps only. Has there even been one sale outside the pyramid? In a real business the ratio would be a tremendous number of customers to a small number of commissioned sales reps. Even if all reps had 10 sales- a 10 to 1 ratio AC would need 5000 conference tickets sold. And 10 sales (we will just lump all the qualifiers in there) means only $70,000 for the rep before any expenses. So with 300 sales you are only 4700 short. Unbelievably pathetic, isn't it?????

Wait, I catch the only person on your bashing team who states they were really part of AC and you can't handle the truth. Yes, I have all 3 MMC's on DVD sets. You have no experience with the product, no competencies as an entrepreneur and business builder, and yes God is watching as you share inaccuracy and personal attack after attack. Your kids must be proud of ole mom. Do you teach your anti-business opinions to your kids?

BTW, you still have many questions yourself to answer on the other thread.

I know you are anti-MLM (as you have shared in the past on posts) so do you think that all MLMs are pyramid scams?

Soapboxdad,

I have yet to actually look for the information. But, I am not going to tell you which one I attended because then Tim could narrow it down to, who I am. You WishyouKnew who I am.. But, you will never figure it out!

You can assume and think whatever you want. I don't care what you think as far as if or if I didn't attend a conference. That's not the point of this thread.

You try and come back with all this other fluff to rebut our facts and statistics and information from the AG. But, you or Poweroldglory (whom I know this is Tim) can't come up with anything others can validate for proof.

You are basically paying lip service to Advantage Conferences.

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Wishyouknew, you know have had 3 days to gather and try to contact someone to get the speakers roster and bios for the MMC that you stated that you attended. You can confess that you did not really attend. Tell us out of the 6 Christian millionaires, how many were men and how many were women?

Yes, your post here is simply ignorant of any facts. By the way, I know Tim very well to and I also know who Poweroldglory is as he PM'd me. It is funny that you think Tim would even take the time to post here. Ignorant really. I attempted not to make faith an issue, but you guys forced the issue so I am not going to let these inaccuracies go unnoticed.

BTW, if a person is moved by the inaccuracies here, I do not want them to build a long term business with us. I would rather go back to my 2 hour commute in corporate America than build a business with someone with your mindset. Very sad really.

So, have you now joined everyone here that is anti-MLM and think all are pyramid scames/schemes?

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Caught in a big lie--ouch. Wishyouknew, just confess that you never even attended the MMC. In fact, you state you were on a few calls out of 100 or so over the past year.

OpenQuestion, this person was the person who posted over and over about the product being worth $40, so this is very relevant. The one person who states they were there, was not. In fact, with over 220 attendees at the first 3 MMC's produced 2 guarantee requests.

Since there were over 100 attendess at the MMC, there would be no way to narrow it down, Wishyouknew. I could care less about your name, as your accountability is with your own integrity, conscience and with God. That's utlimately what matters most as you state you are a believer.

Either let us know are we can make the conclusion that you have lied in several posts.

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

SoapBoxMom has many more questions to answer before I even read her posts.

As OpenQuestion and I have concluded, no one who has not attended the conference and training and mentoring can fairly assess value. I have shared that out of over 220+ , we had 2 refund requests and many people attending their 2nd and 3rd MMCs without financial incentive.

SoapBoxMom posts inaccuracy and inaccuracy pretending that she is on some sort of noble search for the truth when she hates the industry and believes that faith is best left within church walls.

OpenQuestion and I had a healthy debate as were were not calling each other slime, scammers, goons, etc. In fact, we agreed on many issues within the MLM industry, although we disagree on some key points.

SoapBoxMom you have no integrity or respect with me as you personally attack me and others of which you have had NO personal experience. In fact, you have relied on Wishyouknew as evidence and that has become very clear as well.

People who do not value education, ongoing mentoring and training should not be a representative with AC and should not attend the MMC either. I value the advice from folks who have been there and built that, who have lost businesses and who can steer me the right way. SoapBoxMom and others don't value this. There are no minds that will be changed there.

For those truly looking to learn, read on.

Question: Why seek “Advice” from Millionaires? Are the products offered by Advantage Conferences really valuable? Are they worth the price?

Answer: You will not likely hear this question about the value of business mentoring from a successful entrepreneur. Successful people immediately recognize the value of entrepreneurial and business advice, and especially the powerful information delivered at Advantage Conferences Millionaire Mindset Conference.

Here is why:

We entrepreneurs must make decisions every single day that affect our bottom line. We make major decisions at least once a quarter that can determine whether or not our business thrives or stays in business.

The point is, every decision has a greater or lesser “dollars and cents” outcome. Many of these decisions have ramifications that can and will radically affect your business and your livelihood.

One savvy move can make a business tens of thousands and even hundreds of thousands of dollars. One mistake can be costly, if not fatal, costing the entrepreneur his/her business.

Indeed, on the down side, a failed business can dramatically affect every aspect of your life, including your credit, loss of savings, loss of your marriage, and even loss of your health. A failed business is a very serious matter, undoubtedly affecting a host of important areas of one's life. At the very least, losing a business is not a pleasant experience, and is not to be taken lightly.

Statistics support the fact that more businesses fail than succeed. For that reason, intelligence and savvy in business are not just good ideas – business acumen and clarity of thinking regarding a host of issues are essential. The fact is, if you attempt to operate a business on a trial and error basis, you will probably go out of business, and quickly.

On the positive side, implementing one new strategy can dramatically enhance your business. Successful millionaires know what successful strategies are; whereas most people, including most entrepreneurs, only have ideas of what they think - might work. Emulating the “secrets” of people who have “been there, and conquered that”, is simply the smartest route to choose.

When you understand the crucial nature of knowledge in business, you'll recognize the fact that advice from millionaires can be the most important asset you will ever acquire. Without it, your odds of failure remain high. With it, your odds of success are dramatically increased.

Understanding what we've just discussed is extremely pivotal for success in business ownership. It is the core theme of why Advantage Conferences is in business. Helping entrepreneurs succeed is our mission and purpose. This is what we are all about. We accomplish helping entrepreneurs through appropriate, highly unique education.

As for learning what Advantage Conferences teaches and the mentoring and value involved, yes there are many sources and we encourage folks to take the initiative and take ownership to read T.Harv's book and many of the great resources out there. There is an ongoing commitment, training and mentoring that is difficult to duplicate without the accountability and direction that AC or an organization like it provides. We surely are not the only organization that people can align themselves with and ultimately, they should find the best fit. I know that is the case in my life. A person can learn everything they teach in an MBA program simply by reading and plugging into outside resources, but the focus, accountability and structure provided by those programs equate to some programs costing $100,000+.

Lastly, Advantage Conferences is bold with their statement of faith to make sure that someone who plans on partnering with them knows what they stand for. The weekly mindset calls are led and reference scripture, so they need to know up front. If anything, it scares many folks away so it surely is not used for marketing purposes. I have witnessed the walk that backs the talk. Most folks are freaked out when you talk about finances and especially GIVING and the responsibility that comes with those finances.

With that said, there will always be people who question value, who state this and that and I guess that is to be expected. It saddens me when so called Christians on this board try to crucify folks and many of those posting have not been building AC. In fact, since AC is such a new company, the one of two that state they have been involved on this board, surely have not been there long enough to even build a business. In fact, we have hundreds of reps and I will share some of the powerful testimonials they they share internally with no financial incentive and no reward

To anyone researching Advantage Conferences, I encourage you to look elsewhere if you are looking for a "do nothing" get rich quick scheme. This is a business where a person is there to learn first, improve their mindset, and then build a business.

I do pray for those individuals on this board that they have direction, purpose and that they do not share opinions as fact.
