Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

I just came home from a great day building my Advantage Conferences business. I choose to ignore the ignorance posted here by the likes of Wishyouknew, SoapBoxMom, Phinnly and the other bashers here.

I have asked several questions of SoapBoxMom and Wishyouknew with no real answers so I will trust that a real candidate who finds this site, will be able to discern for themselves and not be deterred by a number of folks that go from thread to thread, having no experience and so biased that they do not care to know the truth. It is a sad commentary indeed.

I left Advantage Conferences for the same reason that Tim says he left Liberty League. But, we all know the real reason. Tim, learned what he needed to learn from Liberty League and witnessed the money rolling in., he then got out to start the same thing but, at a religion twist to it..

maybe the mods can help us out with that....? sojustask or scambuster, is it possible for you to verify that there werent "dummy" screennames that were started up for the sole purpose of voting on this poll? can you atleast verify by url? (meaning...did any of the screennames that voted in favor of AC share the same or extremely similar email address as soapboxdad?) (please) :o hopefully there is something you guys can do...

SBD... if you did in fact create screennames simply for the ability to vote numerous times on this poll.... than you have no credibility and you are nothing more than a lying cheat with no integrity.... i hope that it comes out that you didnt create screennames for the purpose of voting in the poll..... because if you did, it means that you are a dishonest fake. and if thats the case and you keep throwing Christ's name around in the manner in which you do, that is shameful, and its a disgrace!!! :mad:

I wish but, no, there is not a way.. But, I did sit there and witness a bunch of new members join and go straight to this thread and vote all in 20 mins.. hmm.... seems skeptical to me.

Perception Is Not Reality
by Os Hillman, June 14, 2006

The lions may roar and growl, yet the teeth of the great lions are broken. - Job 4:10

In the advertising business we often say that "perception is reality" for the person who views our advertising message. It does not matter whether the audience believes the message to be true, only that they perceive it to be true. Their actions will be the same whether they believe it or only perceive it.

The enemy of our souls is very good at this game. He may bring on us what we perceive to be true when it is a lie. It may appear that there is no way around a situation. He may bring great fear on us. When we buy into his lie, we believe only what we have chosen to perceive to be true. It usually has no basis of truth. Such was the case when Peter looked on the waters during a night boat journey with the other disciples. At first glance, he and the disciples screamed with fear, thinking that what they saw was a ghost. It was actually Jesus.

Satan's name means "accuser." He travels to and fro to accuse the brethren. He brings an impressive front to all he does, yet behind that front is a weak, toothless lion with a destination that has already been prepared in the great abyss. He knows his destination, but he wants to bring as many with him as possible; so he often has a big roar, but little bite.

The next time some event comes into your life that creates fear and trembling, first determine the source. Look past the emotions and evaluate the situation in light of God's Word. Perception is not always reality.

If there are any candidates that actually read the garbage posted on this thread by Renloyx, Wishyouknew, Phinnly, or SoapBoxMom, I encourage you to go through the thread, look at the accusers who have no experience, no teeth and who do not believe faith should be part of a business, and make your decision based on your due diligence and discernment.

This report may explain why AC advocates are so confident about promoting this scam. The religious Right owns the Republican Party in Texas. They may also feel confident that local consumer watchdogs can be intimidated to steer clear of them.

The Anatomy of Power:

Texas and the Religious Right in 2006

For more than a decade the Texas Freedom Network has promoted religious freedom and individual liberties by countering the agenda of the religious right in Texas. Educating the public about the tactics and goals of religious extremists is vital to countering the far right's divisive agenda. The publication of The Anatomy of Power by the Texas Freedom Network Education Fund is an important part of that public education process. It is the first in a planned series of annual reports about far-right religious extremists in the state.

The Anatomy of Power: Texas and the Religious Right in 2006 explores the growing power of far-right religious extremists in the state's electoral politics. You have not exactly been portraying a Biblical image....far, far from it actually. i find it offensive that you continue to spout scriptures and twist their meanings and relevance to suit your needs. Be careful, Sir! if you are half the Christian that you claim to be, you would be mindful not to try and manipulate God in the way you try to do....

You have proven nothing more than the fact that you are a total disgrace. you have continued to shame yourself and i feel for you.

yes, Soapboxdad, It seems like once you get "backed into a corner" with hard questions and something you can't argue against because it's too logical. Then you just respond with Bible verses and try and spin them into your meaning..

Funny, that you did not respond to the new information about Liberty League, and the e-mail that Tim sent us reps..

I get these other people with screennames on scam.com that PM and are too scared to post anything on here because they are afraid that Tim will find out who they are and sue them.

It seems that Tim has burnt a lot of bridges in the past and has not been so Christian in his business dealings. Again, I don't have any substantial proof that these people are telling me the truth as they don't tell me their detailed stories.. But, it all makes sense to me!

They also seem to know some detailed background information on Tim. So I feel like they are telling me the truth. That's just my opinion.

Okay, Big Daddy,

Here is the addendum to the list of registered charities. Timmy's "Treasures for the Kingdom" foundation is still not listed. No other unlisted charities from our search are on the list of new charities either. Care to explain that?

<http://www.scam.com/showthread.php?p...ies#post208215>

We are still waiting for all those inaccuracies, earnings tables, and info on those multi-millionaire speakers. Cat got your tongue or are you still gagging over that business busting/whopping 0.6 customer to 1 rep ratio. No legitimate business boasts an average anywhere near that. That also explains why only a handful are making any money. There just aren't any sales.

You think the publicity we are generating here and those frivolous lawsuits are boosting sales? Just how is the business building going? Isn't everyone just clamoring for a weekend in big D? Come on Big Daddy. Bring it on! Let the Holy War continue or has Timmy lost his conviction? Isn't God on Tim's team? Is AC going to prevail?

Folks,

Timmy was called by God to start AC. He is suing the Better Business Bureau and consumers advocate Dr. Jon Taylor. He says that God will see that he and AC will prevail. What next? Will Mr. Litigious sue the Federal Trade Commission? Will God be in absolute control as he claims and will AC and Timmy really prevail?

How will Timmy boy and Wacko Jacko sell conferences when they will have to back up the earnings claims with verifiable numbers? What will they use to lure in suckers when they can't advertise $95,000 in one month and $540,000 in 13 months? How will they keep up the $7000 over and over if 90%+ reps are losing money. The FTC ruling will make it very difficult for these scammers to recruit in the future. How are you going to build this joke of a business Big Daddy? You better start a Holy War with the FTC. The FTC is a real threat to your little scam.

dont worry Wish... i wouldnt be too concerned. SPD made dozens of posts since you made that comment... he has proved to be much too arrogant to be swayed by a post like that.

his disappearance is much more than that.... something interesting is going on here. he very well could have been "given an order" (possibly by tim? or AC's attornies?) to stop posting on these threads... i really think that somehting big is going down with advantage conferences... maybe some news will come out about it in the coming weeks... something is definitely going on.

Actually, I am saved and I know where I am going if I died tonight. No fear here. Interesting to learn that you believe in Heaven and hell as that is a start. I am proud of your growth.

Here is a great message specifically for you Renloyx:

I Want to Know Christ Personally...

Have you accepted Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior? If you aren't sure whether you have done that or not, now is the time to be sure by making the greatest decision of your life.

Simply read the following and if it applies to you, then you will want to pray the prayer you'll find below. Your reward will be:

Full Forgiveness of Sins – that's right, every sin you've ever committed will be fully erased. And you will also receive the incredible...

Gift of Eternal Life

Let's take care of a few points first:

You and I both are sinners. In fact everyone who has ever lived, other than Jesus Himself, has sin in their life.

Romans 3:23 says, "For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God."

Further, we know that "the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." Romans 6:23

God gives us the answer to our predicament – we are redeemed, that is to say, "saved" by none other than His very Son, Jesus Christ, who died for our sins and gave us eternal life.

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only Son; that whoever believes in Him will not die but have everlasting life." John 3:16

If you would like to know Jesus Christ as your personal Lord and Savior, the Bible says that you must first believe and then confess that belief with your mouth.

Romans 10:9-10 states this perfectly, "That if you confess with your mouth, "Jesus is Lord," and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved."

If you are ready to make that decision, say this prayer with me, right now.

Father, I confess that I am a sinner. I believe that You died for my sins on a cross and on the third day you were raised from the grave, overcoming death to show the world that you are alive and that you are God. I now ask you into my life as my Savior and friend. I thank you for coming into my life and forgiving my sins and I now accept you as Master and Lord of my life. At this very moment I accept Your gift of eternal salvation that can only come from believing in You. Thank you, Jesus. Amen.

My dear friend in Christ, if you prayed that prayer and meant it, then the Bible says you are "born again." This is a brand new life, and I welcome you into the Kingdom of Heaven as a son or daughter of Almighty Father God!

Write this date down. It is the beginning of eternity for you. I rejoice in your decision – in fact, all the angels in heaven are rejoicing with you and me!

Let me know that you prayed this prayer for the first time (or second time for that matter and you are now re-committing your life to Christ). I would like to send you materials that will be appropriate for you at no charge.

Again, congratulations. Be true to this decision, and here is what I want you to do:

READ - Begin reading your Bible on a daily basis. I recommend the Gospel of Matthew, the Gospel of John, and the New Testament book of James for starters. Once you've completed those books, I recommend you begin reading the entire Bible from Cover to Cover.

CHURCH - Find a Bible teaching, Christ centered church in order to become a member.

BAPTISM - Tell the pastor that you have just become a Christian and you would like to be baptized.

PRAYER – You can talk to God, telling Him everything and asking Him anything. You should begin and end each day in prayer. Thank God for all your rich gifts he provides – food, air, shelter, friendships, etc. Your life won't be perfect, but you'll be more aware of your rich blessings when you look for the good that God has provided for you!

Here is a great message specifically for you Renloyx:

I Want to Know Christ Personally...

Have you accepted Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior? If you aren't sure whether you have done that or not, now is the time to be sure by making the greatest decision of your life.

Simply read the following and if it applies to you, then you will want to pray the prayer you'll find below. Your reward will be:

Full Forgiveness of Sins – that's right, every sin you've ever committed will be fully erased. And you will also receive the incredible...

Gift of Eternal Life

Let's take care of a few points first:

You and I both are sinners. In fact everyone who has ever lived, other than Jesus Himself, has sin in their life.

Romans 3:23 says, "For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God."

Further, we know that "the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." Romans 6:23

God gives us the answer to our predicament – we are redeemed, that is to say, "saved" by none other than His very Son, Jesus Christ, who died for our sins and gave us eternal life.

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only Son; that whoever believes in Him will not die but have everlasting life." John 3:16

If you would like to know Jesus Christ as your personal Lord and Savior, the Bible says that you must first believe and then confess that belief with your mouth.

Romans 10:9-10 states this perfectly, “That if you confess with your mouth, “Jesus is Lord,” and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved.”

If you are ready to make that decision, say this prayer with me, right now.

Father, I confess that I am a sinner. I believe that You died for my sins on a cross and on the third day you were raised from the grave, overcoming death to show the world that you are alive and that you are God. I now ask you into my life as my Savior and friend. I thank you for coming into my life and forgiving my sins and I now accept you as Master and Lord of my life. At this very moment I accept Your gift of eternal salvation that can only come from believing in You. Thank you, Jesus. Amen.

My dear friend in Christ, if you prayed that prayer and meant it, then the Bible says you are “born again.” This is a brand new life, and I welcome you into the Kingdom of Heaven as a son or daughter of Almighty Father God!

Write this date down. It is the beginning of eternity for you. I rejoice in your decision – in fact, all the angels in heaven are rejoicing with you and me!

Let me know that you prayed this prayer for the first time (or second time for that matter and you are now re-committing your life to Christ). I would like to send you materials that will be appropriate for you at no charge.

Again, congratulations. Be true to this decision, and here is what I want you to do:

READ - Begin reading your Bible on a daily basis. I recommend the Gospel of Matthew, the Gospel of John, and the New Testament book of James for starters. Once you’ve completed those books, I recommend you begin reading the entire Bible from Cover to Cover.

CHURCH - Find a Bible teaching, Christ centered church in order to become a member.

BAPTISM - Tell the pastor that you have just become a Christian and you would like to be baptized.

PRAYER – You can talk to God, telling Him everything and asking Him anything. You should begin and end each day in prayer. Thank God for all your rich gifts he provides – food, air, shelter, friendships, etc. Your life won’t be perfect, but you’ll be more aware of your rich blessings when you look for the good that God has provided for you!

You can post the entire bible in this thread if you want, but that wont change the fact that you are one of the worst internet scammers ever. If anyone deserves a spot in hell its people like you.

Renloxx, your post would be laughable, if it was not so telling about where your head and heart is.

advertise $95,000 in one month and $540,000 in 13 months? How will they keep up the $7000 over and over if 90%+ reps are losing money. The FTC ruling will make it very difficult for these scammers to recruit in the future. How are you going to build this joke of a business Big Daddy? You better start a Holy War with the FTC. The FTC is a real threat to your little scam.

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Renloyx, this applies to your inaccurate post. If you knew the comp. plan you would know that folks joining years from now can actually make more than those building now. Your sorry old anti-MLM posts are just that, sorry and old.

SoapBoxMom, a few corrections on your inaccuracies.

#1 since there is no product purchase required, a rep can start for only $59.95 as you already know and refer 3 MMC-IV conferences to be fully qualified. Their 4th MMC-IV sale would in fact represent a $7,000 GP, so the ROI is what percentage math wizard?

#2 If a person purchases an MMC-IV conference, they need two more MMC-IV training sales for full qualification. The MMC is tax deductible in the year that it is attended and their 3rd MMC-IV sale represents what?

--$9,995 MMC purchase

tax deductible in the year attending

--Makes 2 MMC-IV sales

--Actually their 3 sale has them at about break even--not their 4th as you indicated as just break even

--Their 4th sale has them solidly into profit with a commission of $7,000

I have studied compensation plans for years and Advantage Conferences has one of the fairest and doable plans that I have ever seen.

Once again, if someone is looking for a get rich quick scheme, go somewhere else. And yes, with the average cost to start a business being north of $100,000 here in the U.S. with 50-90% failing depending on whose stats you go by (D&B is 90%) there is what I believe to be the best risk/reward ratio that I have seen.

Please don't let facts get in the way of your "means".
