

P a g e
2
6 0 f
9
5

<<
F ir s t

1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 4 4 4 4 4 4 7
0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6

L
a s t
>>

Show 40 post\(s\) from this thread on one page

scams (<http://www.scam.com/index.php>)

- MLM / Pyramid Scams (<http://www.scam.com/forumdisplay.php?f=11>)

- - Advantage Conferences BS \(Merged\) (<http://www.scam.com/showthread.php?t=13128>)

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 08:47 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Oh, you have such a worthy goal if you can save just one person. So, you are a savior of sorts? Too funny. You know a lie (or your inaccuracies) believed as truth will affect people as if it were the truth.

Amazing that someone who has never attended the MMC, has not been on the 100+ hours in calls this past year, and has not had any personal experience with Advantage Conferences thinks for a moment that she knows what she is talking about here.

I tell you this much. If someone reads this thread and decides not to attend the Millionaire Mindset Conference or become a representative with Advantage Conferences, then you have saved us, and for that I am appreciative. If someone is truly swayed by your inaccuracies and hate speech, then there is quite simply not a good fit for Advantage Conferences. They should also probably not become an entrepreneur period, since most businesses fail in the first 5 years.

We are not looking for candles in the wind fluttering about and going from opportunity to opportunity. We want people with backbones and reading posts from you, Renloyx and Phinnley simply reinforces to the world the need for what we offer in our MMC, ongoing mentoring and training. Thank you for providing that real life example of what we are not looking for.

I guess you could be called a scammer for scamming people out of an opportunity for personal and business growth. Boy, if I would have listened to you a year ago, maybe I would not have grown (more than I did during my MBA ($60,000) mind you); I would not have built a powerful business that I am more proud of than any of my corporate years. I would have also not seen the lives changed both financially and spiritually.

No, then again, I have been around your types all my life in corporate America and I have learned to discern fortunately between opinion, lies, and facts.

Post your resume with your name and I will do the same. Yes, experience and core competencies do matter.

But name calling, that would be stooping to your level Renloyx and I believe we are called to a higher standard.

renloyx

06-16-2006 08:52 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

--Actually their 3 sale has them at about break even--not their 4th as you indicated as just break even

--Their 4th sale has them solidly into profit with a commission of $7,000

How many people actually make more than 2 sales? Cmon scamboxdad show us some actual facts.

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 08:52 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

I could not have asked for a better person to demonstrate the need for what we offer at AC. Thank you.

Oh, you have such a worthy goal if you can save just one person. So, you are a savior of sorts? Too funny. You know a lie (or your inaccuracies) believed as truth will affect people as if it were the truth.

Amazing that someone who has never attended the MMC, has not been on the 100+ hours in calls this past year, and has not had any personal experience with Advantage Conferences thinks for a moment that he knows what he is talking about here.

I tell you this much. If someone reads this thread and decides not to attend the Millionaire Mindset Conference or become a representative with Advantage Conferences, then you have saved us, and for that I am appreciative. If someone is truly swayed by your inaccuracies and hate speech, then there is quite simply not a good fit for Advantage Conferences. They should also probably not become an entrepreneur period, since most businesses fail in the first 5 years.

We are not looking for candles in the wind fluttering about and going from opportunity to opportunity. We want people with backbones and reading posts from you, Renloyx and Phinnley simply reinforces to the world the need for what we offer in our MMC, ongoing mentoring and training. Thank you for providing that real life example of what we are not looking for.

I guess you could be called a scammer for scamming people out of an opportunity for personal and business growth. Boy, if I would have listened to you a year ago, maybe I would not have grown (more than I did during my MBA ($60,000) mind you); I would not have built a powerful business that I am more proud of than any of my corporate years. I would have also not seen the lives changed both financially and spiritually.

No, then again, I have been around your types all my life in corporate America and I have learned to discern fortunately between opinion, lies, and facts.

Post your resume with your name and I will do the same. Yes, experience and core competencies do matter.

But name calling, that would be stooping to your level Renloyx and I believe we are called to a higher standard.

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:00 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Phinnly, you and Renloyx have done more for our business than 1,000 more inaccuracies from SoapBoxMom. Thank you. In fact, you might want to check your PM's from SoapBoxMom and Wishyouknew as they may be asking for you to go elsewhere as you are really making the case for what we offer.

Phinnly, success leaves clues. It is great to know where you stand. You are anti-network marketing and you are anti-Christian. One can click on your screen name to see that as well. The humanistic sites that you have recommended for folks to visit are very sad indeed. But they tell all.

We are called to love the unlovable. I have and will pray for you that you begin a personal relationship with a very real Jesus Christ. You can mock Him with your posts, but He still loves you. The nice thing about the truth vs. misguided opinions here is, it is the truth, whether you chose to accept it or not.

Our business is flourishing and will continue to do so. We are off to a huge June already.

Probably more than you make in one year's time. In fact, it gratifies me that I will give more than this amount into the Kingdom this year to fund ministries to undo what you are attempting to do to individuals.

Are we the only business that puts Christ first? No. Are we the only business folks should consider? No. More and more companies are taking a stand on putting Christ first in their business and marketplace ministry. In fact, if you are reading this and doing due diligence on Advantage Conferences and you find yourselves agreeing with Phinnly, Renloyx and SoapBoxMom, Advantage Conferences is not a good fit for you so I can save you the time.

For those that understand that your faith and walk is not out of religious obligation or jumping through hoops, and is not designed to be practiced within 4 walls called a church, go through the thread and pray for discernment.

Know what this site attracts by it's very name and that fact that the biggest bashers on this thread have admitted to NO personal experience with Advantage Conferences. Lies, gossip and inaccuracies sell. People are addicted to drama and controversy.

Unfortunately, it also appears that those bashing Christians and this company are addicted to making inaccurate statements and hate speech.

Quote:

Originally Posted by Phinnly Slash Buster

Just a review of what we have learned so far:

Truly Christ-Centered Business= THEFT

Truly Christ-Centered Business= LIE

Truly Christ-Centered Business= PIE IN THE SKY

Truly Christ-Centered Business= UNCHRISTIAN

Truly Christ-Centered Business= UNAMERICAN

Truly Christ-Centered Business= POTETIALLY DANGEROUS CULT PHENOMENA

Truly Christ-Centered Business is: Intentionally designed to exclude all non Christians

Truly Christ-Centered Business is elitist psychotic drivel.

Truly Christ-Centered Business has absolutely nothing to do with CHRIST

Truly Christ-Centered Business CAN NOT BE JUSTIFIED BY THE BIBLE.

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:02 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Relgion?

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

Amazing that someone who has never attended the MMC, has not been on the 100+ hours in calls this past year, and has not had any personal experience with Advantage Conferences thinks for a moment that he knows what he is talking about here.

I dont need to waste 10k to know what a scam is. If it stinks like a scam, sounds like a scam, and acts like a scam ITS A SCAM.

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

I guess you could be called a scammer for scamming people out of an opportunity for personal and business growth.

BULL*! You are a scammer because you scam people out of 10k and brainwash them into scamming others.

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

Post your resume with your name and I will do the same. Yes, experience and core competencies do matter.

Post the list of speakers at your scamference. Post how many of your reps actually make their 10k back.

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:05 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Renloyx and Phinnly have done more for our business than 1,000 more innaccuracies from SoapBoxMom. Thank you. In fact, you might want to check your PM's from SoamBoxMom and Wishyouknew as they may be asking for you to go elsewhere as you are really making the case for what we offer.

Renloyx, success leaves clues. It is great to know where you stand. You are anti-network marketing and you are anti-Christian. One can click on your screen name to see that as well. The humanistic sites that you have recommended for folks to visit are very sad indeed. But they tell all.

We are called to love the unlovable. I have and will pray for you that you begin a personal relationship with a very real Jesus Christ. You can mock Him with your posts, but He still loves you. The nice thing about the truth vs. misguided opinions here is, it is the truth, whether you chose to accept it or not.

Our business is flourishing and will continue to do so. We are off to a huge June already. Probably more than you make in one year's time. In fact, it gratifies me that I will give more than this amount into the Kingdom this year to fund ministries to undo what you are attempting to do to individuals.

Are we the only business that puts Christ first? No. Are we the only business folks should consider? No. More and more companies are taking a stand on putting Christ first in their business and marketplace ministry. In fact, if you are reading this and doing due diligence on Advantage Conferences and you find yourselves agreeing with Phinnly, Renloyx and SoapBoxMom, Advantage Conferences is not a good fit for you so I can save you the time.

For those that understand that your faith and walk is not out of religious obligation or jumping through hoops, and is not designed to be practiced within 4 walls called a church, go through the thread and pray for discernment.

Know what this site attracts by it's very name and that fact that the biggest bashers on this thread have admitted to NO personal experience with Advantage Conferences. Lies, gossip and inaccuracies sell. People are addicted to drama and controversy.

Unfortunately, it also appears that those bashing Christians and this company are addicted to making inaccurate statements and hate speech.

Quote:

Originally Posted by Phinnly Slash Buster

Just a review of what we have learned so far:

Truly Christ-Centered Business= THEFT

Truly Christ-Centered Business= LIE

Truly Christ-Centered Business= PIE IN THE SKY

Truly Christ-Centered Business= UNCHRISTIAN

Truly Christ-Centered Business= UNAMERICAN

Truly Christ-Centered Business= POTETIALLY DANGEROUS CULT PHENOMENA

Truly Christ-Centered Business is: Intentionally designed to exclude all non Christians

Truly Christ-Centered Business is elitist psychotic drivel.

Truly Christ-Centered Business has absolutely nothing to do with CHRIST

Truly Christ-Centered Business CAN NOT BE JUSTIFIED BY THE BIBLE.

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:06 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Soapboxmom

Folks,

Timmy was called by God to start AC. He is suing the Better Business Bureau and consumers advocate Dr. Jon Taylor. He says that God will see that he and AC will prevail. What next? Will Mr. Litigious sue the Federal Trade Commission? Will God be in absolute control as he claims and will AC and Timmy really prevail?

How will Timmy boy and Wacko Jacko sell conferences when they will have to back up the earnings claims with verifiable numbers? What will they use to lure in suckers when they can't advertise $95,000 in one month and $540,000 in 13 months? How will they keep up the $7000 over and over if 90%+ reps are losing money. The FTC ruling will make it very difficult for these scammers to recruit in the future. How are you going to build this joke of a business Big Daddy? You better start a Holy War with the FTC. The FTC is a real threat to your little scam.

Soapboxmom

SBD is a scammer. DO NOT WASTE YOUR MONEY ON THIS SCAM.

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:08 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Quote:

Originally Posted by Soapboxmom
Folks,

Timmy was called by God to start AC. He is suing the Better Business Bureau and consumers advocate Dr. Jon Taylor. He says that God will see that he and AC will prevail. What next? Will Mr. Litigious sue the Federal Trade Commission? Will God be in absolute control as he claims and will AC and Timmy really prevail?

How will Timmy boy and Wacko Jacko sell conferences when they will have to back up the earnings claims with verifiable numbers? What will they use to lure in suckers when they can't advertise $95,000 in one month and $540,000 in 13 months? How will they keep up the $7000 over and over if 90%+ reps are losing money. The FTC ruling will make it very difficult for these scammers to recruit in the future. How are you going to build this joke of a business Big Daddy? You better start a Holy War with the FTC. The FTC is a real threat to your little scam.

Soapboxmom

Which part of the bible tells you to steal from other christians scamboxdad?

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:14 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

As for a legal test, there is no product purchase required #1 for someone to become a representative with Advantage Conferences. This was from a team member who I greatly respect who posted here.

Wishyouknew, actually, I have been disgusted by the personal attacks here. I am sorry that AC was not for you, but I have witnessed first hand the lives being changed for the better. It is obvious as I have read through the entire thread that you will not agree with someone pro AC, so I won't try.

Advantage Conferences has changed my life in so many ways and I am also proud to be associated with a company that is boldly sharing the Gospel. We will of course come under attack from the folks like Renloyx and it is not a good fit for everyone--as it was not for you, but it appears that you were not really involved as I read your posts--that is now obvious.

For folks to post things about unrelated scams that abused their faith is simply ridiculous. It is like me stating that look at Enron since they had no faith in their business. Just a crazy argument. There are folks that abuse power and their faith in many businesses, AC is not one of them.

As for value, there is no question in my mind there and I have been active for over a year now. This will probably be my last post as almost everyone here has no personal experience with AC and most are anti networking.

Here is just some of what a rep who decides to purchase the MMC-IV receives. It is important as a legal test that there is NO purchase ever required. Your questions or legality are not correct and do not serve your opinion well. I would have paid several times the cost of the conference for what I have already received value wise.

- MMC-IV conference ticket that includes a spouse at no additional charge
- MMC Advantage Program where they can attend all subsequent MMC's for 90% off
- Over 100 Hours of training calls annually
- 52 Millionaire Mindset Conference Calls annually
- A turnkey website and 3 Step System
- A Rep Resource Center for training and access to archived calls
- Full Distribution Rights to Slay Your Giant
- Ongoing mentoring and training

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:19 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

We're a cult now too? Thank you again for all of your efforts to open eyes here. We have had over 200 attend our last 3 Millionaire Mindset Conferences including me, but somehow you know more :confused:

As for a legal test, there is no product purchase required #1 for someone to become a representative with Advantage Conferences. This was from a team member who I greatly respect who posted here.

Wishyouknew, I have been disgusted by the personal attacks here. I am sorry that AC was not for you, but I have witnessed first hand the lives being changed for the better. It is obvious as I have read through the entire thread that you will not agree with someone pro AC, so I won't try.

Advantage Conferences has changed my life in so many ways and I am also proud to be associated with a company that is boldly sharing the Gospel. We will of course come under attack from the folks like Renloyx and it is not a good fit for everyone--as it was not for you, but it appears that you were not really involved as I read your posts--that is now obvious.

For folks to post things about unrelated scams that abused their faith is simply ridiculous. It is like me stating that look at Enron since they had no faith in their business. Just a crazy argument. There are folks that abuse power and their faith in many businesses, AC is not one of them.

As for value, there is no question in my mind there and I have been active for over a year now. This will probably be my last post as almost everyone here has no personal experience with AC and most are anti networking.

Here is just some of what a rep who decides to purchase the MMC-IV receives. It is important as a legal test that there is NO purchase ever required. Your questions or legality are not correct and do not serve your opinion well. I would have paid several times the cost of the conference for what I have already received value wise.

- MMC-IV conference ticket that includes a spouse at no additional charge
- MMC Advantage Program where they can attend all subsequent MMC's for 90% off
- Over 100 Hours of training calls annually
- 52 Millionaire Mindset Conference Calls annually
- A turnkey website and 3 Step System
- A Rep Resource Center for training and access to archived calls
- Full Distribution Rights to Slay Your Giant
- Ongoing mentoring and training

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:30 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

As for a legal test, there is no product purchase required #1 for someone to become a representative with Advantage Conferences.

Thats crap and you know it. Here is how a typical conversation between this rep and a customer probably goes:

Rep: Hi,My name is Scammy McScammerson and I want to sell you this $10000 conference

Customer: Ok. Have you ever been to one of these conferences? Do you think its worth $10000? Can you name some of the speakers?

Rep: umm umm umm no i decided it wasnt worth my $10000 so i paid 60 to become a rep. I cant tell you anything about the speakers until i cash your check.

Customer: hahah do you think im retarded or something? Go hump a cactus.

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:32 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

As for a legal test, there is no product purchase required #1 for someone to become a representative with Advantage Conferences.

Thats crap and you know it. Here is how a typical conversation between this rep and a customer probably goes:

Rep: Hi,My name is Scammy McScammerson and I want to sell you this $10000 conference

Customer: Ok. Have you ever been to one of these conferences? Do you think its worth $10000? Can you name some of the speakers?

Rep: umm umm umm no i decided it wasnt worth my $10000 so i paid 60 to become a rep. I cant tell you anything about the speakers until i cash your check.

Customer: hahah do you think im retarded or something? Go hump a cactus.

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:37 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

I believe the model is one of the best opportunities for those that commit long term, pick the right company and have a true desire to help others, to achieve financial freedom. A person should join first and foremost for the product or service and those that are truly successful long term believe in what they represent. Here we go with value again and I can repost the value proposition again and again if need be. We will simply not agree there.

I shared that the blame goes both ways as folks jump from program to program looking for a lottery ticket. We live in a microwave society and most people are not willing to make the short term sacrifices of time and commitment and money to build their business. They treat it as a hobby. If you open a store for $250,000 and you have a 90% chance of failing and fail, was that store a scam? The logic simply does not make sense that others have used on this board.

So does that make the business model flawed or inferior, I think not. I know not. There are thousands of people who have succeeded building and MLM the right way when they could not start a more traditional business that may have required $300,000 to capitalize.

Entrepreneurship is not for most people, period. That is whether buying a franchise, network marketing, and we can add to that commissioned sales positions as well. Because the majority of folks do not make a full time income in any business, does not mean the business is flawed.

I am not a big fan of some of the companies on these boards, and many may even be scams, but to paint with a wide brush to state that companies like PrePaid and others are, is simply not accurate for anyone to do.[/quote]

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:39 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

For all those that want to be mentored and coached by Phinnly and Renloyx and I'll even throw in SoapBoxMom, please do so. I surround myself with folks who are doing, earning and giving what I want to achieve.

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:43 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

As Renloyx, WishYouKnew, Phinnly and SoapBoxMom keep claiming little of no value here, so please answer me this.

If the MMC value does not exceed the cost of the MMC, let alone all the other things that a representative receives, and there were over 220 people who have attended the last 3 MMC's combined, why were there only 2 requests for refunds from the conference? There was a 100% satisfaction guarantee in place for any attendees at the 3 MMCs.

Now, if there is no value and as SBM projects AND only a few people are making money, why wouldn't there be huge numbers that asked for their money back on the spot at each of the 3 conferences? In fact, approximately 30% of the attendees at the last two MMCs were folks that had already attended an MMC. There was no financial incentive to do so and they traveled from as far away as Germany to attend.

The great thing about the truth is it is the truth, whether you choose to believe it or not.

Only 2--less than 1% asked for their MMC guaranteed refund. Both of these individuals by the way, came to the MMC with the idea of attending and then asking for a refund. Their mindsets were already leaning in that direction and for folks like that, we will not be a good long term home anyway.

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:46 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

Entrepreneurship is not for most people, period. That is whether buying a franchise, network marketing, and we can add to that commissioned sales positions as well. Because the majority of folks do not make a full time income in any business, does not mean the business is flawed.*

Really? Is that why all the AC scam sites advertise "7000 over and over again"?

Maybe instead of that line you should use something like "Entrepreneurship is not for most people, period" and "majority of folks do not make a full time income in any business" instead.

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 09:46 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Relgion?

Reloyx, no worries as you would not make it passed the President's Interview approval.

As Renloyx, WishYouKnew, Phinnly and SoapBoxMom keep claiming little of no value here, so please answer me this.

If the MMC value does not exceed the cost of the MMC, let alone all the other things that a representative receives, and there were over 220 people who have attended the last 3 MMC's combined, why were there only 2 requests for refunds from the conference? There was a 100% satisfaction guarantee in place for any attendees at the 3 MMCs.

Now, if there is no value and as SBM projects AND only a few people are making money, why wouldn't there be huge numbers that asked for their money back on the spot at each of the 3 conferences? In fact, approximately 30% of the attendees at the last two MMCs were folks that had already attended an MMC. There was no financial incentive to do so and they traveled from as far away as Germany to attend.

The great thing about the truth is it is the truth, whether you choose to believe it or not.

Only 2--less than 1% asked for their MMC guaranteed refund. Both of these individuals by the way, came to the MMC with the idea of attending and then asking for a refund. Their mindsets were already leaning in that direction and for folks like that, we will not be a good long term home anyway.

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:47 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

For all those that want to be mentored and coached by Phinnly and Renloyx and I'll even throw in SoapBoxMom, please do so. I surround myself with folks who are doing, earning and giving what I want to achieve.

We are not here to mentor or coach anyone. We are here to warn people about scammers like you. Most people in your scam never even make thier $10000 back.

renloyx

06-16-2006 09:51 AM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Relgion?

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

why were there only 2 requests for refunds from the conference?

Yeah cuz a scammer like Timmy would never lie about the number of refund requests...

Wishyouknew

06-16-2006 09:57 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by BIGfranky75

dont worry Wish... i wouldnt be too concerned. SPD made dozens of posts since you made that comment... he has proved to be much too arrogant to be swayed by a post like that.

his disappearance is much more than that.... something interesting is going on here. he very well could have been "given an order" (possibly by tim? or AC's attornies?) to stop posting on these threads... i really think that somehting big is going down with advantage conferences... maybe some news will come out about it in the coming weeks... something is definitely going on.

stay tuned...

:cool:

Well Soapboxdad is back.. Glad to see that this thread poping up so well on google won't scare you off.

Wishyouknew

06-16-2006 09:58 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by renloyx

I know what happened to SBD

yes, that could happen to Tim's house.. God does work in mysterious ways like that.

Wishyouknew

06-16-2006 10:00 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Wishyouknew

Wow, another "little birdy" told me that Tim fired Chris Reed a few weeks ago. I wonder why...????

Probably did the guy a favor and will keep him out of jail.

Good Luck to you Chris, I always thought you were a pretty nice guy.. Just a guy who was brainwashed by Tim.

legal disclaimer--These was just found out via the rumor mill and I have not confirmed this to be true Soapboxdad, Why did Tim Fire Chris Reed? Is this true?

Wishyouknew

06-16-2006 10:02 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Wishyouknew

Here is the info from the Arizona AG regarding Tim's old company he was involved with.

Terry Goddard Settles with Personal Development Marketing Company (Phoenix, Ariz. – May 24, 2006) Attorney General Terry Goddard today announced a settlement with Liberty League International, LLC, and its principals, Brent Payne and Shane Krider. The consent judgment resolves complaints that the multi-level marketing corporation tricked customers into spending substantial amounts of money by promising “sizable commissions” if they helped market three “personal development” products and recruit new participants into the program. The settlement requires Liberty League International, based in Scottsdale, to pay $115,000 which will be used to pay for consumer education, attorneys' fees and investigation costs, and victim restitution to be determined by the court at a later date. According to documents filed in Maricopa County Superior Court, Payne and Krider said customers had the potential to earn large sums of money if they used and recruited new participants to use Liberty League’s “personal development” products. In fact, the majority of participants did not earn enough to cover the amount they paid to buy the products sold to them.

The personal development products included a home-study course, a four-day personal development conference and a five-day personal finance and development conference. Prices ranged from $1,495 to $12,995 per person. In addition to the civil penalties, attorney's fees and restitution, the defendants are also required to:

– Refrain from making unsubstantiated income claims.

– Advise potential customers of the correct percentage of participants who have made a profit through their participation in the Liberty League program.

– Refrain from making any false or deceptive statements in their marketing materials.

Assistant Attorney General Nancy V. Anger handled this case.

If you believe you have been a victim of fraud, please contact the Attorney General's Office in Phoenix at 602.542.5763; in Tucson at 520.628.6504; or outside the metro areas at 1.800.352.8431. To file a complaint in person, the Attorney General's Office has 22 satellite offices throughout the state with volunteers available to help. Locations and hours of operation are posted on the Attorney General's Web site at www.azag.gov. Consumers are also encouraged to sign up on the Web site to receive consumer advisories from the Attorney General.

Hmmm.. Does this sound like Advantage Conferences but, with out the religious twist.. I THINK SO!

It is sad, that the Guys from Liberty League International only got a slap on the wrist!

Also, Soapboxdad, you failed to respond to this post. What do you think about Tim's old company going down via the Arizona AG..??

Phinnly Slash Buster

06-16-2006 04:36 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Could the FTC Rule be inspired by the Bible?

This, in essence, creates a “seven-day waiting period” for anyone attempting to sign up a distributor. [from below]

Is this 7 day waiting period inspired by Genesis?

Is accountability Christ-centered?, encouraging and then enforcing truthfulness and timely disclosure?

"God said, "Let there be light," and there was light." Genesis 1:3

And of course there is this verse which sums up nicely what Christ would have to say about MLM. The new FTC rule would in fact be an manifestation of Christ's own words..... from Matthew:

"You will know them by their fruits. Are grapes gathered from thorns, or figs from thistles? So, every sound tree bears good fruit, but the bad tree bears evil fruit. A sound tree cannot bear evil fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. Thus, you will know them by their fruits."

— Matthew 7:16-20

Sageant Leads Grassroots Response to FTC Rule That Threatens Network Marketing

2006-05-19 - Sageant

Bozeman, Mont.—Sageant has launched a national grassroots campaign to secure responses to the recently proposed Federal Trade Commission (FTC) new rule on business opportunities that threatens the network marketing/MLM industry. If not modified, the rule would present a significant entry barrier to any company or distributor recruiting new distributors. The public has until Friday, June 16 to submit comments.

The FTC proposed rule has five required disclosures that must be made in writing at least seven days in advance of the individual's agreement to enroll as a distributor. This, in essence, creates a "seven-day waiting period" for anyone attempting to sign up a distributor. In this scenario, the distributor would literally close a sale twice, once when they submit a disclosure statement and then again 7-days later. Under the proposed rule companies or distributors would have to provide the disclosures on estimated earnings, legal actions, cancellation or refund policy, and references. If the company or representative makes a verbal or written statement, whether as general as "earn more income" they would have to provide an earnings income statement as one of the disclosures. Upon request, they would have to also provide written substantiation. Additionally, if a company or its executives were involved in criminal or civil litigation involving fraud or misrepresentation in the last 10 years and were found guilty or innocent or if the parties settled out of court with no admission of guilt, the company or distributor would have to disclose it. Lastly, a distributor would be required to provide the references of 10 purchases closest to you along with their contact information thereby subjecting them to the likelihood of marketing from competing companies.

Phinnly Slash Buster

06-16-2006 04:51 PM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Could the FTC Rule be inspired by the Bible?

This, in essence, creates a “seven-day waiting period” for anyone attempting to sign up a distributor. [from below]

Is this 7 day waiting period inspired by Genesis?

Is accountability Christ-centered?, encouraging and then enforcing truthfulness and timely disclosure?

"God said, "Let there be light," and there was light." Genesis 1:3

And of course there is this verse which sums up nicely what Christ would have to say about MLM. The new FTC rule would in fact be an manifestation of Christ's own words..... from Matthew:

"You will know them by their fruits. Are grapes gathered from thorns, or figs from thistles? So, every sound tree bears good fruit, but the bad tree bears evil fruit. A sound tree cannot bear evil fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. Thus, you will know them by their fruits."

— Matthew 7:16-20

Sageant Leads Grassroots Response to FTC Rule That Threatens Network Marketing

2006-05-19 - Sageant

Bozeman, Mont.—Sageant has launched a national grassroots campaign to secure responses to the recently proposed Federal Trade Commission (FTC) new rule on business opportunities that threatens the network marketing/MLM industry. If not modified, the rule would present a significant entry barrier to any company or distributor recruiting new distributors. The public has until Friday, June 16 to submit comments.

The FTC proposed rule has five required disclosures that must be made in writing at least seven days in advance of the individual's agreement to enroll as a distributor. This, in essence, creates a “seven-day waiting period” for anyone attempting to sign up a distributor. In this scenario, the distributor would literally close a sale twice, once when they submit a disclosure statement and then again 7-days later. Under the proposed rule companies or distributors would have to provide the disclosures on estimated earnings, legal actions, cancellation or refund policy, and references. If the company or representative makes a verbal or written statement, whether as general as "earn more income" they would have to provide an earnings income statement as one of the disclosures. Upon request, they would have to also provide written substantiation. Additionally, if a company or its executives were involved in criminal or civil litigation involving fraud or misrepresentation in the last 10 years and were found guilty or innocent or if the parties settled out of court with no admission of guilt, the company or distributor would have to disclose it. Lastly, a distributor would be required to provide the references of 10 purchases closest to you along with their contact information thereby subjecting them to the likelihood of marketing from competing companies.

<http://www.npicenter.com/anm/templat...5666&zoid=18>

Soapboxmom

06-16-2006 06:04 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Phinnly,

That is a hilarious take. The seven day waiting period inspired by the bible is a lovely thought! Now, we all need to let the FTC know we want the disclosures to be available on the companies websites and then we will have a real chance at protecting folks from scams like AC. If one could read that info before they get dragged to a meeting or accosted by a rep then the MLM industry will be totally transformed! Let's all contact the FTC and request that be part of the new rules!

Soapboxmom

Wishyouknew

06-16-2006 07:21 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Phinnly Slash Buster
Could the FTC Rule be inspired by the Bible?

This, in essence, creates a "seven-day waiting period" for anyone attempting to sign up a distributor. [from below]

*Is this 7 day waiting period inspired by Genesis?
Is accountability Christ-centered?, encouraging and then enforcing truthfulness and* timely discloser?

"God said, "Let there be light," and there was light." Genesis 1:3

And of course there is this verse which sums up nicely what Christ would have to say about MLM. The new FTC rule would in fact be an manifestation of Christ's own words..... from Matthew:

"You will know them by their fruits. Are grapes gathered from thorns, or figs from thistles? So, every sound tree bears good fruit, but the bad tree bears evil fruit. A sound tree cannot bear evil fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. Thus, you will know them by their fruits."
— Matthew 7:16-20

Sageant Leads Grassroots Response to FTC Rule That Threatens Network Marketing

2006-05-19 - Sageant

Bozeman, Mont.—Sageant has launched a national grassroots campaign to secure responses to the recently proposed Federal Trade Commission (FTC) new rule on business opportunities that threatens the network marketing/MLM industry. If not modified, the rule would present a significant entry barrier to any company or distributor recruiting new distributors. The public has until Friday, June 16 to submit comments.

The FTC proposed rule has five required disclosures that must be made in writing at least seven days in advance of the individual's agreement to enroll as a distributor. This, in essence, creates a "seven-day waiting period" for anyone attempting to sign up a distributor. In this scenario, the distributor would literally close a sale twice, once when they submit a disclosure statement and then again 7-days later. Under the proposed rule companies or distributors would have to provide the disclosures on estimated earnings, legal actions, cancellation or refund policy, and references. If the company or representative makes a verbal or written statement, whether as general as "earn more income" they would have to provide an earnings income statement as one of the disclosures. Upon request, they would have to also provide written substantiation. Additionally, if a company or its executives were involved in criminal or civil litigation involving fraud or misrepresentation in the last 10 years and were found guilty or innocent or if the parties settled out of court with no admission of guilt, the company or distributor would have to disclose it. Lastly, a distributor would be required to provide the references of 10 purchases closest to you along with their contact information thereby subjecting them to the likelihood of marketing from competing companies.

<http://www.npicenter.com/anm/templat...5666&zoid=18>

Is this currently being enforced by the FTC? If so this has to hurt AC..
Not good for business.

Phinnly Slash Buster

06-16-2006 07:30 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Wishyouknew

*Is this currently being enforced by the FTC? If so this has to hurt AC..
Not good for business.*

Still being considered. Today is the last day the FTC is accepting public commentary on the proposed rule.

Soapboxmom

06-16-2006 08:15 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Folks,

Mail your comments! The deadline was extended to July 17,2006.

<http://www.ftc.gov/opa/2006/06/fyi0631.htm>

Soapboxmom

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 10:49 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Our business will continue to prosper and a ruling like this might put folks like SoapBoxMom, Renloyx, and Phinnly out of business. If they are not sharing in the revenue here on this board with all the pay per click ads driving revenue, then talk about a scam.

Oh no, there are plenty of areas of life where they can pretend to know the answers slamming everyone else. Like the 90% of all small businesses that fail in the first 5 years according to Standard and Poors. Oh yes, starting a business of any kind is a scam then, right? These folks want a guarantee of income for any businesses they start, hence, they will never be entrepreneurs. There are no guarantees in any business folks. For those looking to get rich quick, go somewhere else.

Phinnly and Renloyx, let me know when you pray the prayer of salvation. I am believing for you both to have open ears and eyes. By the way, I had another brand new team member join us this past week who stated that you guys were a confirmation as to why she sees the need for more Christ-centered businesses like AC. Thank you.

spanky

06-16-2006 10:52 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Soapboxmom
Folks,

Mail your comments! The deadline was extended to July 17,2006.

<http://www.ftc.gov/opa/2006/06/fyi0631.htm>

Soapboxmom

Thanxs soapboxmom.... i have just gave my complaint to the FTC....hopefully they'll listen so innocent people wont lose over $10k

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 10:53 PM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Our business will continue to prosper and a ruling like this might put folks like SoapBoxMom, Renloyx, and Phinnly out of business. If they are not sharing in the revenue here on this board with all the pay per click ads driving revenue, then talk about a scam.

Oh no, there are plenty of areas of life where they can pretend to know the answers slamming everyone else. Like the 90% of all small businesses that fail in the first 5 years according to Standard and Poors. Oh yes, starting a business of any kind is a scam then, right? These folks want a guarantee of income for any businesses they start, hence, they will never be entrepreneurs. There are no guarantees in any business folks. For those looking to get rich quick, go somewhere else.

Phinnly and Renloyx, let me know when you pray the prayer of salvation. I am believing for you both to have open ears and eyes. By the way, I had another brand new team member join us this past week who stated that you guys were a confirmation as to why she sees the need for more Christ-centered businesses like AC. Thank you.

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 10:56 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Spanky and your gang,

There are hundreds of thousands who believe in this industry that have submitted their comments already to the FTC on this. Thanks for sharing here.

spanky

06-16-2006 11:07 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad

Spanky and your gang,

There are hundreds of thousands who believe in this industry that have submitted their comments already to the FTC on this. Thanks for sharing here.

Careful innocent people.....careful! dont fall for soapboxdad... you'll regret it

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 11:10 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Phinnly Slash Buster

Could the FTC Rule be inspired by the Bible?

<http://www.npicenter.com/anm/templat...5666&zoid=18>

Thanks for posting this link. This is a great letter that hundreds of thousands have already sent in support of our industry and in opposition of this.

Federal Trade Commission/Office of the Secretary, Room H-135 (Annex W)
Re: Business Opportunity Rule, R511993
600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20580

RE: Business Opportunity Rule, R511993

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing in response to the proposed New Business Opportunity Rule R511993, if not modified, will be a significant impediment and burden to the network marketing industry. This new rule, although well-intended, represents a significant burden to the free market trade.

The proposed rule would require a de facto seven day waiting period to enroll new distributors. In essence, one would have to sell a person twice on the same business—even if the start-up fee is a mere $19.95. While I support some of the disclosures with modification, I am opposed to a seven-day waiting period because it is excessive burden to any company and distributor who would be required to document and follow-up on the process and an impediment to new business development.

The rule requires that any earnings claim statement made by the distributor or company to a prospect, whether written or oral, general or specific, be validated with a detailed “Earnings Claims Statement Required By Law.” Additionally, the distributor would be required to provide written substantiation of any earnings claim made upon request. I support the disclosure of an average earnings income statement because it is good business practices to establish realistic expectations. However, I oppose being forced to provide written substantiation because it is an excessive burden considering the investment of money to enter into the business is nominal.

The rule also calls for the release of any information regarding prior litigation and civil or criminal legal actions involving misrepresentation, or unfair or deceptive practices, even if you were found innocent. In our lawsuit-happy culture, anyone can be sued for anything almost with impunity. Irregardless of the outcome, you would have to disclose it and explain it to a new business associate which is patently unfair. I would only support the disclosure of previous litigation of companies, executives, affiliated companies and the like involving fraud and misrepresentation only if the party is found guilty. If the defendant is found not guilty, the opposing parties agreed to settle without admission of guilt or the case is still pending, then it should not be necessary to disclose this information. If the parties agreed to settle without admission of guilt, there usually is some public document available, particularly if it involves a government agency and further disclosure therefore would be unnecessary. If a case is pending case, it shouldn't be commented upon.

Lastly, the rule requires the disclosure of a minimum of 10 purchasers closest to you. While it is a good practice to provide references of satisfied customers, this is a burden for small businesses and, as a requirement, is a violation of personal confidentiality. Unfortunately, requiring the release of this information can threaten the business relationship of the references who may be involved in other companies or businesses. In addition, it subjects these references to cross-marketing by competitors. I am recommending that contact information for purchasers be available upon request, that their availability be published on company materials, and that due to Internet-marketing, they not be limited to geographic proximity.

The network marketing industry is one of the few remaining opportunities for people to leverage their time and limited resources to earn additional income or to create a new career. Once scoffed at by investors, many network marketing companies are publicly traded on Wall Street including Herbalife, Nu Skin, Pre-Paid Legal Services, USANA and others. Network marketing is being used by blue-chip corporations including Citigroup, MCI and IBM. Top business management leaders and New York Times best-selling authors Robert Kiyosaki, Paul Zane Pilsner, and Steve Covey have endorsed network marketing.

The industry is also growing in popularity and contributes to the US economy. This growth should be encouraged. There are 13 million Americans involved in this network marketing industry today. Lastly, the network marketing industry contributes to our growing economy. Sales of products and services through network marketing are estimated at more than $29 billion in 2003.

I have been involved in the network marketing industry for more than "X" years. I have met some of the finest people and have been introduced to some of the best products. For the first year, I was involved because I wanted the benefit of using the products. Later, I decided to get involved on a full time basis. This home based business helped me significantly, and allowed me to spend more time with my family while earning additional income.

I understand and value the role of the FTC mission "to stand up for America's free market process and for its consumers, who benefit from competitive markets in which truthful information flows." However, I believe this proposed new rule exceeds what is necessary and needs significant modification. We live in a free market economy where people have the responsibility of making informed decisions based on best information. A better approach would be to provide consumers with objective criteria when analyzing a business opportunity and let an informed market proceed. I am in support of the disclosures should be made during the sales process without the requirement of a seven-day waiting period, only if modified as suggested.

Thank you, in advance, for reviewing and posting my comments.

Best regards,

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 11:12 PM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Quote:

Originally Posted by Phinnly Slash Buster
Could the FTC Rule be inspired by the Bible?

<http://www.npicenter.com/anm/templat...5666&zoneid=18>

Thanks for posting this link. This is a great letter that hundreds of thousands have already sent in support of our industry and in opposition of this.

Federal Trade Commission/Office of the Secretary, Room H-135 (Annex W)
Re: Business Opportunity Rule, R511993
600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20580

RE: Business Opportunity Rule, R511993

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing in response to the proposed New Business Opportunity Rule R511993, if not modified, will be a significant impediment and burden to the network marketing industry. This new rule, although well-intended, represents a significant burden to the free market trade.

The proposed rule would require a de facto seven day waiting period to enroll new distributors. In essence, one would have to sell a person twice on the same business—even if the start-up fee is a mere $19.95. While I support some of the disclosures with modification, I am opposed to a seven-day waiting period because it is excessive burden to any company and distributor who would be required to document and follow-up on the process and an impediment to new business development.

The rule requires that any earnings claim statement made by the distributor or company to a prospect, whether written or oral, general or specific, be validated with a detailed “Earnings Claims Statement Required By Law.” Additionally, the distributor would be required to provide written substantiation of any earnings claim made upon request. I support the disclosure of an average earnings income statement because it is good business practices to establish realistic expectations. However, I oppose being forced to provide written substantiation because it is an excessive burden considering the investment of money to enter into the business is nominal.

The rule also calls for the release of any information regarding prior litigation and civil or criminal legal actions involving misrepresentation, or unfair or deceptive practices, even if you were found innocent. In our lawsuit-happy culture, anyone can be sued for anything almost with impunity. Irregardless of the outcome, you would have to disclose it and explain it to a new business associate which is patently unfair. I would only support the disclosure of previous litigation of companies, executives, affiliated companies and the like involving fraud and misrepresentation only if the party is found guilty. If the defendant is found not guilty, the opposing parties agreed to settle without admission of guilt or the case is still pending, then it should not be necessary to disclose this information. If the parties agreed to settle without admission of guilt, there usually is some public document available, particularly if it involves a government agency and further disclosure therefore would be unnecessary. If a case is pending case, it shouldn't be commented upon.

Lastly, the rule requires the disclosure of a minimum of 10 purchasers closest to you. While it is a good practice to provide references of satisfied customers, this is a burden for small businesses and, as a requirement, is a violation of personal confidentiality. Unfortunately, requiring the release of this information can threaten the business relationship of the references who may be involved in other companies or businesses. In addition, it subjects these references to cross-marketing by competitors. I am recommending that contact information for purchasers be available upon request, that their availability be published on company materials, and that due to Internet-marketing, they not be limited to geographic proximity.

The network marketing industry is one of the few remaining opportunities for people to leverage their time and limited resources to earn additional income or to create a new career. Once scoffed at by investors, many network marketing companies are publicly traded on Wall Street including Herbalife, Nu Skin, Pre-Paid Legal Services, USANA and others. Network marketing is being used by blue-chip corporations including Citigroup, MCI and IBM. Top business management leaders and New York Times best-selling authors Robert Kiyosaki, Paul Zane Pilsner, and Steve Covey have endorsed network marketing.

The industry is also growing in popularity and contributes to the US economy. This growth should be encouraged. There are 13 million Americans involved in this network marketing industry today. Lastly, the network marketing industry contributes to our growing economy. Sales of products and services through network marketing are estimated at more than $29 billion in 2003.

I have been involved in the network marketing industry for more than "X" years. I have met some of the finest people and have been introduced to some of the best products. For the first year, I was involved because I wanted the benefit of using the products. Later, I decided to get involved on a full time basis. This home based business helped me significantly, and allowed me to spend more time with my family while earning additional income.

I understand and value the role of the FTC mission "to stand up for America's free market process and for its consumers, who benefit from competitive markets in which truthful information flows." However, I believe this proposed new rule exceeds what is necessary and needs significant modification. We live in a free market economy where people have the responsibility of making informed decisions based on best information. A better approach would be to provide consumers with objective criteria when analyzing a business opportunity and let an informed market proceed. I am in support of the disclosures should be made during the sales process without the requirement of a seven-day waiting period, only if modified as suggested.

Thank you, in advance, for reviewing and posting my comments.

Best regards,

Soapboxmom

06-16-2006 11:13 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

SoapBoxDad,

There is a huge difference in wanting everything in life guaranteed and asking for honest disclosure. AC is doomed by the math. Unless each recruit can get 14+ sales after qualifying they can't even get close to the $100,000 dollars that is touted as expected earnings, much less the $540,000 Wacko Jacko brags about or the 1 million many recruits checked on the old sign-up sheet. So, honest disclosure of the average earnings, high and low earnings and the corresponding percentages, drop outs, refunds, and any legal action is what is in the best interest of the public.

Of course, lying goons who draw in recruits with totally bogus claims of earnings that reflect only the earnings of the top guy while 90%+ are losing couldn't make those claims anymore. You must be terrified that the truth will destroy your little scam. God seems to be wavering in his support of that goon Timmy and his scamming friend Jacko. Maybe our dear Lord sent us naysayers and the FTC out to stop your little friends who use God's name to rob the pocket books of good Christian trusting folks. Don't worry when the FTC cracks down we will all be here to see that all you scammers are following the guidelines for honest disclosure as they are set by the FTC.

Have Timmy's lawyers started preparing for a fight with the FTC? God is in control and he will prevail so he thinks, so why not just go after everyone that is doing the devil's work and throwing a monkey wrench in Timmy's little scam. It must be getting really tough to keep his business going.

And by the way, the Attorney General's office does not announce that it is investigating an opportunity. I have sent info and spoken with an attorney about a venture and I can assure you that that company had no idea they were being looked at and their reps claimed there was no investigation when I was at that very moment participating in one. So, don't tell us what the AGs office is doing. You have no clue!

Soapboxmom

spanky

06-16-2006 11:15 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by spanky

Careful innocent people.....careful! dont fall for soapboxdad... you'll regret it innocent people.....heed the warning above!

SoapBoxDad

06-16-2006 11:21 PM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

SoapBoxMom, so you are confirming that Wishyouknew was lying about the AG then? And yes, we did get clarification from Austin this week that there was no such investigation.

This will not impact our business and those getting involved with AC understand our value proposition.

Spanky, beware innocent people--don't start a business of any kind. Entrepreneurship is a scam. I wish you the very best as "sandwich artist." I hope that works out well for you. Hold the onions on mine please.

renloxx

06-16-2006 11:41 PM

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Quote:

Originally Posted by SoapBoxDad
investment of money to enter into the business is nominal.

ohhh so $10000 is nominal? dont worry the FTC will see through your bull*.

Al p l a ti g m e es 2
ar 6
e of
G 9
M 5
T
-
5.
T

«
F ir st
»
1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 3 4 4 4 4 4 4 7
0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 > a
st

Show 40 post\(s\) from this thread on one page

he ti m e
no w is 09
:1
6
P
M
.

Scams Message Board - Copyright ? 2004 Scam.com , All Rights Reserved.