Over my two decades, much of it being an entrepreneur after getting my MBA, I have NEVER built a business with a man of uncompromising integrity like Tim Darnell. I vetted the legality and business model out before ever aligning with Advantage Conferences. I have attended the last 3 Millionaire Mindset Conferences, in fact meeting with one of the speakers this afternoon; I have been on over 100 training and corporate calls now; and I have never seen a leader or corporate so committed to the field.

Those who have shared to date have no personal real experience with Advantage Conferences. Christians are not called to be punching bags to simply take the lies, libel, inaccuracies, etc.

I have repeatedly shared that if someone is looking for a get rich quick scheme or if they have a problem with a business that is Christ-centered to go somewhere else. I am not here to sell our business and in fact, we don't even talk with a candidate until they have gone through 3 steps takes 90 minutes. I am here to give some balance to the absolute inaccuracies posted here.

The inaccuracies posted by the likes of SoapBoxMom and WishYouCouldSpell are unbelievable. Yet another inaccuracy is the claim that the BBB is never sued.

The fact is they are in constant, multiple suits all the time. Whoever thinks otherwise is simply wrong. Call your local chapter and simply ask them IF you care about the truth--which most on this thread do not.

Come with some facts of when the BBB has been successfully sued anywhere around the nation..

You have 500 reps and ONLY 300 SALES. That's .6 sales per rep. A rep needs 4 sales just to get his "investment" back. Most people will never see their $10000 again. Your business is a huge crock of ****.

Once again, it is not an investment, they are purchasing a Millionaire Mindset Conference and they are getting the ongoing training and mentoring that far exceeds the cost of any of the 4 MMC's. In addition, there is no obligation to purchase a thing with Advantage Conferences as a representative. Your brain needs some brushing or at least get your eyes and ears cleaned out.

This is again the typical garbage from you.. Anytime you get pressed to gather facts you say" I have a million dollar business to run. "

Which that statement in of itself is false. Your downline has not yet brought you a million dollar. Your statement alone IS promoting a "Get Rich Quick Scheme"

I have done the research and I have found ZERO evidence that any BBB around the nation has been successfully sued in the United States.

I did find MANY articles of the Attorney General in many states teaming up to go after a company.

I am not a betting man, But, I would feel % 100 confident that Advantage Conference won't be the first.

Good Luck..

Renloyx, is there an original, productive thought in your hate-filled head?

Advantage Conferences has changed my life in so many ways and I am also proud to be associated with a company that is boldly sharing the Gospel. We will of course come under attack from the folks like Renloyx and it is not a good fit for everyone. Renloyx for example need not interview.

As for value, there is no question in my mind there and I have been active for over a year now. This will probably be my last post as almost everyone here has no personal experience with AC and most are anti networking.

Here is just some of what a rep who decides to purchase the MMC-IV receives. It is important as a legal test that there is NO purchase ever required. Your questions or legality are not correct and do not serve your opinion well. I would have paid several times the cost of the conference for what I have already received value wise.

- MMC-IV conference ticket that includes a spouse at no additional charge
- MMC Advantage Program where they can attend all subsequent MMC's for 90% off
- Over 100 Hours of training calls annually
- 52 Millionaire Mindset Conference Calls annually
- A turnkey website and 3 Step System
- A Rep Resource Center for training and access to archived calls
- Full Distribution Rights to Slay Your Giant
- Ongoing mentoring and training

I and others are still praying for you. One can just click on your username to see where your heart is at. My best to you and the great thing is, we serve a God who loves you regardless.

Nope, my whole family are lawyers and former Judges and I have some access to some great databases.. Nothing shows as the BBB as a defendant in any state. Another LIE from you.

Only thing I find is the BBB teaming up with many of the AG's around this great nation trying to fight scam's like Advantage Conferences.

They are a great organization that takes a great deal of work load off of the Gov. and prevent the United States tax payers from getting taxed even more as well as they prevent lawsuits.

I think if the Dallas BBB was the slightest bit worried about Advantage Conferences they would have changed their report. But, it looks like they have stood their ground over the last 6 months.

Wishyouknew

06-20-2006 07:08 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Here is an example of how the BBB was basically teamed up with the AG againts Sun Country Travel. This is straight from the www.dallas.bbb.org website. It looks like the AG went in with a injunction againts this company because of issues regarding the company's use of the BBB as well as many other major issues.

Do you think the BBB had a hand in shutting this company down along side the AG. I THINK SO!

It might take a while, But, AC will crumble!

$64 Million Verdict on Sun Country Travel

Falsely claimed BBB membership

Dallas, TX, June 14, 2006 - On June 6, 2006, a jury in Dallas County returned a verdict against Sun Country Travel calling for civil penalties and restitution totaling $64 million. The Texas Attorney General filed suit in February, 2003, alleging the company used deceptive sales and advertising practices, including misrepresenting that the company was "in good standing" with the Better Business Bureau and was endorsed by the Texas Attorney General.

In fact, when Sun Country Travel made the claim about being "in good standing" with the Bureau, the company had an unsatisfactory record with the BBB due to failure to respond to one or more customer complaints and two or more unresolved complaints.

The jury verdict also found that Sun Country Travel continued to call consumers who chose to be on the state and federal Do-Not-Call lists.

The BBB warned in alerts about Sun Country Travel in 2002 and 2003 that the company sold travel club memberships for up to $7,000 by calling consumers and offering a "free vacation" for attending a sales presentation. In fact, the "free vacation" was a vacation certificate, requiring additional payments and other restrictions. The company had locations in Carrollton, Arlington, and Houston.

Complaints filed with the BBB alleged:

High pressure to join;

Misrepresentation of the vacation certificates and club benefits; and Misrepresentation of the company's record with the BBB.

Some customers said Sun Country Travel was displaying a BBB report in sales presentations, and others said the company was claiming the company had "a good record" with the BBB.

In 2001 and again in 2002, the BBB in Dallas cautioned Sun Country Travel against unauthorized use of the BBB report in sales presentations. In September, 2002, the BBB in Dallas wrote to the company that "any reference to actual or implied Bureau membership by Sun Country Travel cannot be permitted."

Following the Texas Attorney General's lawsuit in February, 2003, an Agreed Temporary Injunction was issued in March, 2003. Among other things, the company was prohibited from misrepresenting that the company was a member in good standing with the BBB or had a satisfactory record with the BBB.

Under BBB policy, Better Business Bureau reports are not to be used for sales or promotion purposes. Both the voluntary BBB Code of Advertising and the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act prohibit misleading statements in advertising about endorsements or affiliations

Re: Advantage Conferences, is it Legal and ethical in its use of Religion?

Renolyx, you would not be approved in your president's interview for one and maybe that is why you are posting here. Do you have an original thought? Something of value to share?

One can simply click on your username and see your MO. Beware of folks like Renloyx who know not of that which they speak. Also called "dream stealers."

I guess that you have not built multiple million dollar businesses as I have, as you would recognize the importance of ongoing coaching and mentoring. 220 people who have attended the MMC, recognize the value. You also have no idea how many were retail sales. By the way, out of 220 attendees, only 2 requested the guarantee. Less than 1%. 99% saw the value of the Millionaire Mindset Conferences, but oh yeh, we are to believe you :confused:

No you are somehow smarter than this MBA who has built several businesses, who has also been involved with Advantage Conferences for the past year, who has attended 3 MMCs and has first hand experience. There is no other business I would rather build and your blanket approach to all network marketing is laughable.

90% of all small businesses fail in the first 5 years according to Standard and Poors, so according to Renloyx, that must make them all scams. Be very careful innocent people Don't start a business as you might not be successful.

Actually, I could qualify, but I am in Advantage Conferences to learn from other Christian millionaires so I don't make the same mistakes they have along the way. As your business and wealth builds, the impact of your decisions is magnified. Learn the lessons with tens or thousands vs. hundreds of thousands or millions. I don't expect you to get that as few here on this thread even care about the value offered.

Good research? Please. If anyone wanted to know the whole story they would find it in Tim's book Slay Your Giant and it is shared at every MMC. In fact, the Millionaire Mindset Conferences is to bring Christian entrepreneurs together to share the mistakes they have made along the way so that I and others do not make those ungiving partnership mistakes, etc. Tim goes into great detail as to how he lost almost everything through such a business structure.

SoapBoxMom, you also seem to be contradicting yourself here yet again. One day you are focused on all this money that Tim is making, and when that is refuted based on pure numbers and running a company with staff, then you shift to personal slams against a guy that lives within his means in a $200,000 home. You can mold anything to your means I guess.

First of all, if you have built these incredible multi-million $$$$ enterprises why on earth do you need this? A large conference with attendees and spouses numbering say around 100 will not give you advice specific to your type of business and needs. And since we have no names, credentials, education, experience, certifications and publications of the speakers, we must conclude that they are worthless. No other conferences charge ten grand for mystery speakers! We want to see attorneys, tax attorneys, MBAs, accountants, financial planners, published authors and folks with proven track records. What does AC have to offer?

Daddio, you gave us the numbers 500 reps and 300 sales. Care to update those laughable numbers? That does equal an average 0.6 sales to one rep when that goon Timmy is still signing up folks expecting to earn 100 grand or more which means each rep must have more than 14 sales after qualifying. 500 reps need (x14) 7000 reps. We can see that there are no customers/outside sales. 7000 need reps need 98,000.....1,372,000.....19,208,000.....268,912,000.....3,764,768,000.....52,706,752,000.....737,894,528,000..... Is the grade school math too challenging for you?

We are smarter it appears. We researched and discovered that most of the charities Timmy lists are bogus. Many are not listed on the IRS website under registered charities or the addendum to the list for chairites registered after March of this year and they have no websites or mentions anywhere on the web.

We know a recruiting scheme when we see one. Are you suggesting that you have made your millions with this bum deal?

As to the fact I am completely against MLM, I justify that with the great wealth of information readily available about these ventures. Mary Kay and Pre-paid Legal as corporate entities are making a fortune, but the PPL reps were averaging $3 a week several years ago and MK has boatloads of reps losing money hand over fist as they pile up inventory they will never be able to unload. The majority of these reps lose big, so in reality there is no opportunity there.

So, I should join an MLM where the loss rate is 99% as Dr. Jon Taylor, who is being sued by that slimeball Timmy boy, discovered in his thorough research? In MLM with 99% loss rates failure is almost guaranteed, unless you are the originator, an early entrant or recruiter from heck!
