

SCA

ge360of «First

$$\leq \frac{\underline{1}\underline{1}\underline{1}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{2}\underline{3}\underline{3}\underline{3}\underline{3}\underline{3}\underline{3}\underline{3}\underline{3}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{4}\underline{5}\underline{5}\underline{5}\underline{5}\underline{5}\underline{8}}{\underline{7}\underline{8}\underline{9}\underline{0}\underline{1}\underline{2}\underline{3}\underline{4}\underline{5}\underline{6}\underline{7}\underline{8}\underline{9}\underline{0}\underline{1}\underline{2}\underline{3}\underline{4}\underline{5}\underline{6}\underline{7}\underline{8}\underline{9}\underline{0}\underline{1}\underline{2}\underline{3}\underline{4}\underline{5}\underline{6}\underline{7}\underline{8}\underline{9}\underline{0}\underline{1}\underline{2}\underline{3}\underline{4}\underline{5}\underline{6}} \geq \frac{\underline{a}}{\underline{b}}$$
$$\underline{L} \geq \underline{s} \gg \underline{t}$$

scams (<http://www.scam.com/index.php>)

- vamapega

07-07-2006 03:49 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by yossarian

There you go, I switched the emphasis for ya. Slander is always verbal (spoken). Libel is written. Underlining the word 'report' did not prove your point. In the definition, it refers to a verbal report.

Libel is defamation in writing.

Not really a point of consequence in our discussion, but it was starting to bug me.

LOL. A report can be either verbal or non-verbal, or both.

yossarian

07-07-2006 03:56 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

LOL. A report can be either verbal or non-verbal, or both.

Very correct, but very wrong in thinking a written report is ever considered slander. Doesn't change the fact that it is technically libel and I can't believe this discussion has lasted four posts. :) Like I said... not the point.

vamapega

07-07-2006 04:07 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by yossarian

Very correct, but very wrong in thinking a written report is ever considered slander. Doesn't change the fact that it is technically libel and I can't believe this discussion has lasted four posts. :) Like I said... not the point.

You do realise that this is more a matter of context than a strict definition, right?

The point that I am trying to get across to you is that when you read between the lines you will see that 'slander' still fits within the context of what you are describing. Thus it doesn't always have to be verbal. You can slander someone in a non-verbal manner too.

Still not convinced?

Here, look at this; taken from dictionary.com:

slander

n 1: words falsely spoken that damage the reputation of another 2: an abusive attack on a person's character or good name [syn: aspersion, calumny, defamation, denigration] v : charge falsely or with malicious intent; attack the good name and reputation of someone; "The journalists have defamed me!" "The article in the paper sullied my reputation" [syn: defame, smirch, asperse, denigrate, calumniate, smear, sully, besmirch]

Did you see the sentence in there about the "article in the paper"?

vamapega

07-07-2006 04:12 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Okay, enough of these semantic plays...

I would like to see those in here who have opposed AC provide us with some hard facts to support what they have said thus far.

Honestly, do you expect us to believe you in blind faith? Your argument is that AC supposedly isn't willing to provide evidence for their claims; yet, where is your evidence?

Isn't that a tad bit hypocritical to expect someone to produce something that you aren't even willing to produce yourself?

This, of course, speaks volumes!

Whose integrity is really on the line here?

yossarian

07-07-2006 04:17 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

You do realise that this is more a matter of context, not definition, right?

That is the point that I am trying to get across to you. Slander still fits within the context of what you are describing. It doesn't always have to be verbal. You can slander someone in a non-verbal manner.

Still not convinced?

Here, look at this; taken from dictionary.com:

slander

n 1: words falsely spoken that damage the reputation of another 2: an abusive attack on a person's character or good name [syn: aspersion, calumny, defamation, denigration] v : charge falsely or with malicious intent; attack the good name and reputation of someone; "The journalists have defamed me!" "The article in the paper sullied my reputation" [syn: defame, smirch, asperse, denigrate, calumniate, smear, sully, besmirch]

Did you see the sentence in there about the "article in the paper"?

You've got to be kidding me...

Here's some clarification that I hope will put this to rest:

For legal purposes slander is spoken defamation and libel is written defamation.

LIBEL IS SLANDER IN WRITTEN FORM.

So if Timmy were to take the folks on this board to court, he would sue for libel.

We're on the same page in principle; I think you're just a little confused on the difference between the words in question.

...moving on! :rolleyes:

vamapega

07-07-2006 04:27 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by yossarian
You've got to be kidding me...

Here's some clarification that I hope will put this to rest:

*For legal purposes slander is spoken defamation and libel is written defamation.*

LIBEL IS SLANDER IN WRITTEN FORM.

So if Timmy were to take the folks on this board to court, he would sue for libel.

We're on the same page in principle; I think you're just a little confused on the difference between the words in question.

Okay, so libel is another term for slander, except it falls within another context.

Nevertheless, in essence they are the same in that they seek to fulfill the same objective.

You see, a rock is still a stone, in other words. It all depends on what perspective you view it from. However, in essence the substance is still the same.

Hence AC can file a suit for slander against those in here who have accused them of illicit behavior. Of course, that doesn't mean they will win. Nevertheless, the truth will stand out in the end.

renloyx

07-07-2006 05:27 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

I would like to see those in here who have opposed AC provide us with some hard facts to support what they have said thus far.

AC has 500 reps and only 300 sales. Thats .6 sales per rep. A rep needs 4 sales just to get his $10000 back.

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

Honestly, do you expect us to believe you in blind faith? Your argument is that AC supposedly isn't willing to provide evidence for their claims; yet, where is your evidence?

Supposedly? We asked them 100s of times to post some proof. They just post more and more mlm lies and religious bs.

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

Isn't that a tad bit hypocritical to expect someone to produce something that you aren't even willing to produce yourself?

No its not hypocritical to expect some proof from a shady company that wants to sell you a "money making conference" for $10000.

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

This, of course, speaks volumes!

Whose integrity is really on the line here?

Now I know youre involved with AC. So are you Soapboxdad, poweroldglory, or some other AC pusher?

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Wishyouknew

I did find this when I was searching for some old A/C info, This is a e-mail Tim sent to us reps a while back. Tim lied and would like us to believe that the BBB is a for profit organization when in fact they are not. They are Non-profit.

Also, another thing I found funny. Is it with God's merciful hand to sue others?

Soapboxdad, How would I have this e-mail if I was not a rep..???

Hi Team,

As some of you know, we applied for Better Business Bureau membership in October of this past year. Their response to us was to take our $375.00 membership fee and post surprisingly erroneous information about our Company. Upon being advised of the posts, we immediately sent the documentation that clearly showed the errors of their posting. To our amazement, they refused to take them down, correct them, or much less apologize for their mistake, establishing a clearly belligerent stance with AC. They offered no contract for enrollment and no explanation of their irresponsible action. We, therefore, are now in the process of litigating against the north Texas chapter (an independent for-profit franchise) on several counts.

Our case is iron-clad and we are well represented. We could use your help, however, and here's how:

If you have any instances of a Candidate who saw the posting and decided to not continue the 3 Simple Steps, the President's Interview, or enrollment due to that posting; or if you have a Rep who was intimidated by the posting and decided to pursue other activities, our case will be strengthened by knowing those particulars. If you are one of the latter, a Rep who saw the posting and was influenced in a negative way, I would appreciate knowing that and won't think any less of you at all. If you saved any e-mail messages from one of these scenarios, that would be wonderful. Please forward those to me at: TimD@AdvantageConferences.com.

With that being said, Advantage Conferences is growing at a fantastic rate and the caliber of individuals coming on board is almost beyond my comprehension (though not really). The quality of Reps is exactly what we have prayed for, expected and envisioned; and now humbly accept as God's favor and goodness.

This confrontation with the local agency is our willingness and obligation to stand up to our giants and let them know they can't arbitrarily libel a company based on non-truths. We will have future challenges as well, and we are resolutely equipped, with God's merciful hand, to deal with each and every one. I truly thank you for your support and spirit of forward movement. This is truly an amazing company with amazing people. More importantly, God is absolutely in control, and we will prevail (as plaintiffs).

We need your instances, if any, as requested in above paragraph 3 as quickly as you can send them. Thanks for attending to this issue promptly.

Blessings,

Tim Darnell

President

Advantage Conferences

Office: 972-727-4995

1-888-832-7635

Vamapega, even Tim Darnell isn't denying that he is suing the bbb - it's a matter of public record. So to say that there is only one complaint against them is ridiculous. Why would AC sue over one complaint that has been resolved? Obviously there is more to the story than what you were able to research.

As far as AC suing over libel or slander or whatever you want to call it, you need to know that Tim Darnell likes to sue anyone who looks in his direction the wrong way. Again, research public record to see the number of suits he has filed under his name, AC, and his previous mlm scam all-star enterprises. The reason people tend to not post specific details to backup their claims on here is that they don't want to be added to the list of timmy's suits - not because they couldn't win, but rather most just don't want the headache. In addition, yes, Tim could go after these people, and yes probably get their personal info subpoenaed by the court, but he would only be wise to do this if he knew he could win. Since neither he nor his fellow scammers on here have offered up much of a defense other than to say that God is on their side, we'll assume he knows good and well that he could not win a suit against anyone about anything that has been said on here.

vamapega

07-07-2006 05:51 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by renloyx

AC has 500 reps and only 300 sales. Thats .6 sales per rep. A rep needs 4 sales just to get his $10000 back.

Where are your facts to back this?

Quote:

Supposedly? We asked them 100s of times to post some proof. They just post more and more mlm lies and religious bs.

Do you honestly think they would waste their time trying to prove something to someone who is already convinced that they are corrupt? Even if they gave you proof you would probably still argue that you want proof for the proof!

Quote:

Now I know youre involved with AC. So are you Soapboxdad, poweroldglory, or some other AC pusher?

LOL

Honestly, I'm not working with these guys.

I'm just simply trying to be fair here.

vamapega

07-07-2006 06:00 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by txfan

Vamapega, even Tim Darnell isn't denying that he is suing the bbb - it's a matter of public record. So to say that there is only one complaint against them is ridiculous. Why would AC sue over one complaint that has been resolved? Obviously there is more to the story than what you were able to research.

As far as AC suing over libel or slander or whatever you want to call it, you need to know that Tim Darnell likes to sue anyone who looks in his direction the wrong way. Again, research public record to see the number of suits he has filed under his name, AC, and his previous mlm scam all-star enterprises. The reason people tend to not post specific details to backup their claims on here is that they don't want to be added to the list of timmy's suits - not because they couldn't win, but rather most just don't want the headache. In addition, yes, Tim could go after these people, and yes probably get their personal info subpoenaed by the court, but he would only be wise to do this if he knew he could win. Since neither he nor his fellow scammers on here have offered up much of a defense other than to say that God is on their side, we'll assume he knows good and well that he could not win a suit against anyone about anything that has been said on here.

Well then, AC must have a legitimate case. For, if there were other complaints that have been removed as a result of their litigation against the bbb, it is obvious that since there is now only one complaint against them, the other complaints were mostly likely found to be slanderous. Hence the reason for their removal. Why leave only one complaint if the so-called other complaints were/are equally true?

So even with this letter I am not convinced that their business is an unscrupulous scam. To the contrary, for the simple fact the all but one complaint was removed, it only convinces me that AC was in the right and the bbb was in the wrong.

You're going to have to make a stronger case than this to convince me.

Wishyouknew

07-07-2006 06:18 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

This is not likely since it would breach the integrity of the bbb/consumer relationship.

Moreover, it doesn't even make sense to suggest such an idea since if that were the case, then all parties involved in the complaint status would be removed. Meaning, there wouldn't even be one complaint.

Now then, I don't know who you are, but my advice to you is that you either produce evidence/data to support your accusations against A.C. or remain silent. And if in fact you have nothing to support what you've been saying thus far, I suggest that you admit this to all of us, and make a public apology for sharing negative information about A.C. for which you have no proof, as though it were factual. For, A.C. could very well call you on this matter, and file a suit against you for slander, which if proven, can produce very serious legal consequences for the guilty party. And it doesn't matter what ID you use, if it goes to court they can subpoena the webmaster of this site to disclose your identity.

This is just a warning of caution from one who doesn't want to see you get yourself into a legal mess. By the way, I do not represent A.C. in any way.

If you don't represent AC in any way how can you say that I am lying and committing slander.? You would not know the truth..

What is your affiliation with AC? Are you friends with Tim?

Do you got to Church with Tim?

Also if you have done your homework on Scam.com nobody with Scam.com can possibly be reached to subpoena anything. As when you ask. They will tell you this site is based out of the country.

Also the Internet Service Provider I use changes everyones IP Address every day because of that very thing.

So tell Tim Darnells lawyers to have fun trying..

Besides Nothing I have said is untrue anyway.

But, Vamapega, if you want to waist your money on this scam. Go right ahead!

Much like the BBB, Scam.com is protected by the United States Constitution.

I am not saying they are not posting the complaints. Per BBB standards, they do not have to post every complaint that they get.

renloyx

07-07-2006 06:27 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega
Where are your facts to back this?

Somewhere in this thread. I believe SBM posted those numbers a few weeks ago based on the info she found.

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega
Do you honestly think they would waste their time trying to prove something to someone who is already convinced that they are corrupt? Even if they gave you proof you would probably still argue that you want proof for the proof!

Very few people are going to cough up $10000 without any proof or info about the speakers at the conference (thats why ac has 500 reps and 300 sales). Posting some proof and some info about the conference here and on their sites would probably get ac thousands of new reps and millions of $ in sales.

Why would they give up millions of $ if they have nothing to hide?

Wishyouknew

07-07-2006 06:31 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega
Well then, AC must have a legitimate case. For, if there were other complaints that have been removed as a result of their litigation against the bbb, it is obvious that since there is now only one complaint against them, the other complaints were mostly likely found to be slanderous. Hence the reason for their removal. Why leave only one complaint if the so-called other complaints were/are equally true?

So even with this letter I am not convinced that their business is an unscrupulous scam. To the contrary, for the simple fact the all but one complaint was removed, it only convinces me that AC was in the right and the bbb was in the wrong.

You're going to have to make a stronger case than this to convince me.

Vamapega,

Have you read this entire thread? I know its long, but, I don't believe you have.

So you are just some random person who is deciding to spend your free time defending Tim Darnell and Advantage Conferences? What is your affiliation with them?

vamapega

07-07-2006 06:44 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Wishyouknew

If you don't represent AC in any way how can you say that I am lieing and commiting slander.?

Actually, if you read my posts more closely you will see that I haven't accused anyone of being a liar. Instead, I've chosen to take a neutral position. Although, I do have good reason to believe that AC is not unscrupulous, as I have shared my reason for this already insofar as it concerns the report found on the bbb of only one complaint against their company in the past 36 months. That is quite impressive.

However, it has been said that there were other complaints. Nevertheless, since there is now only one, it is plausible that the others that have been removed from the record have been found to be false. After all, why leave only one complaint on record when there were/are supposedly others that are equally true?

Quote:

You would not know the truth..

My whole purpose for being here is to find the truth. However, not you or anyone else has convinced me of the so-called truth.

Quote:

What is your affiliation with AC? Are you friends with Tim?
Do you got to Church with Tim?

Nope

Quote:

Also if you have done your homework on Scam.com nobody with Scam.com can possibly be reached to subpoena anything. As when you ask. They will tell you this site is based out of the country.

Also the Internet Service Provider I use changes everyones IP Address every day because of that very thing.

So tell Tim Darnells lawyers to have fun trying..

It's not as easy to escape as you think it is.

Quote:

Besides Nothing I have said is untrue anyone.

Then you should have no problem providing us with proof to support what you're saying.

So where is your proof? I'm genuinely interested in seeing it.

Quote:

But, Vampega, if you want to waist your money on this scam. Go right ahead!

My point is that I don't want to waste my hard earned money on anything that I can't believe in. As of now I am not convinced that AC is the way to go, nor am I convinced that they are unscrupulous, as you say.

Perhaps you can help me, and anyone else in here get over this hump of neutrality by providing us with proof that supports your claim.

If you have no proof then you must admit that what you have been saying thus far is mere opinion. Thus you would owe us all an apology, especially AC, for so negatively stating an opinion about AC as though it were a fact. That is to say, how can you so absolutely speak badly about something when you have nothing to validate your position? At best, since you don't have no support for what you are saying, you can state your opinion about the company; but it isn't scrupulous to treat your opinion as though it were a fact without having something to validate it as such. To do so would not only be an act of dishonesty towards yourself, but to the rest of us as well.

In other words, the burden of proof is on you, since you are the one contending that AC is unscrupulous.

Wishyouknew

07-07-2006 06:51 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

I think I have provide enough proof if you read the entire thread from the start.
If you read my previous post. I have cought Tim Darnell in many lies.

He used the BBB as a sales tool to get me to join... Used it in many of his signiture lines in E-mails (you can see this for fact in one of his post on the yahoo group site). He tells us all that he is a member in good standing... Then months later he sends us that e-mail saying he is sueing them.

The BBB found that at the time of Tim trying to join the BBB that none of the products Tim said were Trademarked were in fact TRADEMARKED. This by itself is againts the law!!!!!!

The part that makes this againts the law is the fact that the product is not legitmate and has no market value. Thus you are participating in a illegal money game! (Read the information I posted from the Attorney Generals website) This should be all the evidence you need to know!
Much like the recent company Biopeformance in Irving, TX.

I know Tim Darnell, I know exactly were he lives, what he drives, what school his kids attend and the church that he goes to.
I know alot of people that know him and go to church with him.

I have a bunch of dirt on this guy!

renloyx

07-07-2006 07:00 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

In other words, the burden of proof is on you, since you are the one contending that AC is unscrupulous.

BULL*. The burden of proof is on the people who want to sell a $10000 "money making jesus-centered" conference.

Wishyouknew

07-07-2006 07:20 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

I don't beleive that Vamapega is just some random person looking into Advantage Conferences. I believe he is a rep. He/She as already been brainwashed.

Anyone who has read this thread from the start can not possible take the side of PoweroldGlory and Soapboxdad, they have provide zero facts and zero hard core information.

But, if you are just looking into it and you want to drop your hard earned money on this scam and risk going to jail. Then thats your problem..

Some of the others on here are just like me. (I have recieved private messages from many who are too scared to post on here) They know Tim Darnell, they don't want to give too much information because of the fear of lawsuits. But, they know he is not the Christian on honest guy he says he is.

Unfortunatly there is no www.god.com to check these people out on to insure they really are Christians.

txfan

07-07-2006 07:20 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

Actually, if you read my posts more closely you will see that I haven't accused anyone of being a liar. Instead, I've chosen to take a neutral position. Although, I do have good reason to believe that AC is not unscrupulous, as I have shared my reason for this already insofar as it concerns the report found on the bbb of only one complaint against their company in the past 36 months. That is quite impressive.

However, it has been said that there were other complaints. Nevertheless, since there is now only one, it is plausible that the others that have been removed from the record have been found to be false. After all, why leave only one complaint on record when there were/are supposedly others that are equally true?

If you are going to base your whole opinion on AC based on how many complaints the bbb is reporting, then I'm sure AC would love to relieve you of your $10,000. Like I said previously, since anyone who has even remotely been involved with tim or AC knows his suit history, I'm sure many have chosen not to file their grievances due to the impending headaches it would surely cause. SBD has even stated as much in his posts - that tim and AC will sue anyone and everyone to defend their "honor". Obviously, you have not read this entire thread or you would not be making some of these comments. The 300 sales vs. 500 reps is based on info from earlier in the thread. AC brags about having 500+ reps, but then separately brags about the exclusivity of their conferences that only 300 have attended thus far - you do the math! They also repeatedly emphasize that once you have attended one of these conferences, you can attend future ones for a 90% discount (a mere $1000 instead of $10,000). So how are we to know that even of these 300 that some of those aren't repeat attenders?

If you (or anyone else for that matter) is idiotic enough to pay $10,000 based on the info available then go for it. Like my daddy always says, "There's a fool born every minute, and another one born to take his money!"

vamapega

07-07-2006 07:23 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Wishyouknew

I know Tim Darnell, I know exactly where he lives, what he drives, what school his kids attend and the church that he goes to.

I know alot of people that know him and go to church with him.

I have a bunch of dirt on this guy!

You seem to be very angry. In fact, I am concerned that you would even say what you had said above in the tone with which you stated it.

It is almost as if there is a suppressed threat in the statement above. You ought to be careful to guard what you say. More importantly, you ought to ask God to remove that hatred from your heart before it gives birth to something that you will regret for the rest of your life.

vamapega

07-07-2006 07:27 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by renloxx

BULL. The burden of proof is on the people who want to sell a $10000 "money making jesus-centered" conference.

Is your hatred for Tim also Christ-centered?

You know, there is nothing worse than a professed Christian who would sin if he knew he could get away with it! Of course, I am referring to your cloaked vulgarity.

deepsouth

07-07-2006 07:28 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Okay, AC members. How many of you received $7,000 checks this past month? Another question: How many of you that are not on the videos received checks this past month?

That's a fair and honest question.

vamapega

07-07-2006 07:32 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by Wishyouknew

I don't beleive that Vamapega is just some random person looking into Advantage Conferences. I believe he is a rep. He/She as already been brainwashed.

Anyone who has read this thread from the start can not possible take the side of PoweroldGlory and Soapboxdad, they have provide zero facts and zero hard core information.

But, if you are just looking into it and you want to drop your hard earned money on this scam and risk going to jail. Then thats your problem..

Some of the others on here are just like me. (I have recieved private messages from many who are too scared to post on here) They know Tim Darnell, they don't want to give too much information because of the fear of lawsuits. But, they know he is not the Christian on honest guy he says he is.

Unfortunatly there is no www.god.com to check these people out on to insure they really are Christians.

Again, I am not with AC. Honestly, even if I wanted to, I don't even have the money to invest in their business. I am just making it from bill to bill.

Moreover, anyone who would read this thread from start to finish would see that the ultimate conclusion which I believe I have brought it to is that the issue is neutral. Neither side has produced sufficient proof to support its claims against the other.

I will say one thing however, it is a FACT that there is a lot of hatred in this thread.

vamapega

07-07-2006 07:39 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by txfan

If you are going to base your whole opinion on AC based on how many complaints the bbb is reporting, then I'm sure AC would love to relieve you of your $10,000.

Actually, if you read what I had said more closely, you would have noticed that I am taking a neutral stance on this. However, the evidence with the bbb that shows ONLY ONE complaint against AC in the PAST 36 months, seems to place greater favor on the idea that AC is not unscrupulous.

This can't be denied. Some have tried to deny it, but their arguments, as I have shown, don't hold water.

You are going to have to do better than that to convince me.

I suppose you might call me a skeptic. But I like to think of myself as being a careful skeptic. Meaning, I don't just doubt anything unless I have good reason to be doubtful of it.

deepsouth

07-07-2006 07:49 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

No comment.

vamapega

07-07-2006 07:53 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Some food for thought to those of you who think I am with AC:

Just because I don't accept what you are saying about AC, that doesn't mean I am working with AC. In fact, it is absurd to even use such logic. It would be similar to someone who favors the Bush administration of accusing those who don't favor it as belonging to the Taliban. Can you not see how absurd this is?

Moreover, I had already stated that I do not work with AC, and yet some people are still accusing me of this. In other words, what else are you saying about me but that I am a liar? It is unethical to treat me this way, and I ask that you stop doing this.

If you want to try to convince me that what you are saying is true, then I am all ears; but don't accuse me by manner of implication, of being a liar. This will not help you to make your case. Instead it will only weaken it.

the411

07-07-2006 07:55 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

vamapega,

"Serious Question of Ethics: I find it unconscionable that companies promote an income opportunity at which the overwhelming majority of people fail. The people who are exceptions to this statement (those who do succeed) comprise such a small percentage of people that it is a blatant misrepresentation for a company to parade their "stud's" success in front of the unsuspecting public and say the opportunity is for everybody."--Tim Darnell

If the evidence on this thread is not to your liking Vamapega, perhaps you should call Tim personally and ask him about the "FACTS." Ask him about the performance of his Reps joining at all levels. This may help you in your "neutral" pursuit of truth. Good Luck.

deepsouth

07-07-2006 07:57 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

[quote=vamapega]

Moreover, anyone who would read this thread from start to finish would see that the ultimate conclusion which I believe I have brought it to is that the issue is neutral. Neither side has produced sufficient proof to support its claims against the other.

[quote]

I've dumped thousands of dollars in AC and I am not neutral.

AC could easy support its claim just by showing how many people received $7000 checks last month. That would put an end to any speculation. They won't do it because it certainly wouldn't help them get new members.

vamapega

07-07-2006 08:03 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by deepsouth

AC could easy support its claim just by showing how many people received $7000 checks last month. That would put an end to any speculation. They won't do it because it certainly wouldn't help them get new members.

But if they could produce even just one person who received a check for $7000 would that not potentially break your case on the grounds that one could argue that that person worked harder than the others? In other words, should those who spent less time and money receive the same benefits as those who spent more?

You see, you can't just go by what people get each month, but other variables must be brought into the equation, such as the amount of time and money that each person spends to achieve his/her objective.

Again, we need to take a fair look at this. In order to do this we must be unbiased. Only then will we come to know what is true.

deepsouth

07-07-2006 08:10 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

vamapega,

If you decide you want to join AC, I could help sign you up right now. However, I would discourage you because I know it would trouble my conscience. I don't want to see others get hurt.

deepsouth

07-07-2006 08:17 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

Again, we need to take a fair look at this. In order to do this we must be unbiased. Only then will we come to know what is true.

I feel I've already given it more than a fair look. I won't engage in much more detail with you for legal reasons.

It is just my opinion that AC could hurt a lot of people.

renloyx

07-07-2006 08:21 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

Is your hatred for Tim also Christ-centered?

You know, there is nothing worse than a professed Christian who would sin if he knew he could get away with it! Of course, I am referring to your cloaked vulgarity.

sorry but i dont have any imaginary friends. nice try though.

vamapega

07-07-2006 08:22 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by deepsouth

vamapega,

If you decide you want to join AC, I could help sign you up right now. However, I would discourage you because I know it would trouble my conscience. I don't want to see others get hurt.

I wouldn't want you to do anything that you don't feel good about unless I knew for sure it was something that would be of great benefit to you and anyone else involved.

But as I had said before, I just don't have the money to invest in this company. And even if I did, I'm not sure at this point that it would be wise for me to do so.

vamapega

07-07-2006 08:23 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by renloyx

sorry but i dont have any imaginary friends. nice try though.

And what is this supposed to mean? Are you now mocking my faith?

yossarian

07-07-2006 08:26 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

And what is this supposed to mean? Are you now mocking my faith?

renloyx isn't a Christian... and yes, he is.

while we don't agree on matters of religion, I've grown to love his catch-phrase.

Come on ren, haven't seen it for awhile... let's have it! :D

just four little words...

the411

07-07-2006 08:28 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

Again, we need to take a fair look at this. In order to do this we must be unbiased. Only then will we come to know what is true.

Vamapega,

If you are truly unbiased and pursuing the truth, will you take it upon yourself to call Tim Darnell and ask him personally the tough questions?

vamapega

07-07-2006 08:32 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by yossarian

renloyx isn't a Christian... and yes, he is.

You know, when people begin to mix ad hominem in with their argumentative soup, it only suggests that their words shouldn't be treated with as much regard as those who don't use such unscrupulous tactics within a discussion/debate. In other words, it is a red flag which suggests that that person's bias is doing his thinking for him. Hence it weakens his stance within the debate.

vamapega

07-07-2006 08:38 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by the411

Vamapega,

If you are truly unbiased and pursuing the truth, will you take it upon yourself to call Tim Darnell and ask him personally the tough questions?

Actually, although I'm not sure about AC at this point, my biggest contention is the cost that one has to afford to make $7000 over and over again. $10,000 is a lot of money.

renloyx

07-07-2006 08:39 AM

Re: Advantages Conferences / Tim Darnell

Quote:

Originally Posted by vamapega

You know, when people begin to mix ad hominem in with their argumentative soup, it only suggests that their words shouldn't be treated with as much regard as those who don't use such unscrupulous tactics within a discussion/debate. In other words, it is a red flag which suggests that that person's bias is doing his thinking for him. Hence it weakens his stance within the debate.

ll a F 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 a ti g ir st
me e st
es 3
ar 6
e o
G f
M 9
T 5
-
5.
T he ti m e n o
w is 0
9:
1
6
P
M
.

Show 40 post\(s\) from this thread on one page