Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

From the All-Star Entrepreneur website (Tim Darnell President and founder):

Quote:

5. Millionaire Mindset Conference, held several times each year, where you will mingle with fellow aspiring and experienced entrepreneurs in an interactive and fast-moving curriculum. You will participate in powerful presentations and be shown in detail a specific, step-by-step, day-to-day game plan guiding you in how to create $250,000 in the next six to twelve months. You will be gratified to know that you have been given the strategic map to avoid many business landmines, expediting your success.

Let me see if I have this straight---Timmy boy ran All-Star where he attended numerous Millionaire Mindset Conferences and learned to think like a millionaire and avoid business landmines. All-Star went bankrupt. Is that a business landmine? These MMCs sure aren't all they are cracked up to be are they boys? Jacko you sure pick high caliber mentors!

Jack,

I am going to be in the Flower Mound/Lewisville area this afternoon for a business meeting at the Starbucks on Main/Garden Ridge Rd in Lewisville.

If you want to try and figure out who I am, I will be there at 3:30pm..

I will buy the Starbucks!

From the All-Star website:
Quote:

2. Qualification Interview: The next step is to conduct a simple scripted interview to determine if they are a serious entrepreneur, and to see if there is a fit between their desires and the All-Star opportunity.

---

That is just what Tim Darnell and Wacko Jacko say now. All this nonsense about fit. That is just thier lingo for naive trusting folks with money. Those are the folks that will fit in the scam as they can line Tim's and Jack's pockets. When Advantage Conferences goes the way the All-Star Titanic did then we will once again see many people out thousands of dollars and Timmy boy and Jack on to their next scam. Jack's sudden interest in Vemma tells you how the Advantage Conferences scam is going.

Jacko's latest press release:

Quote:

Jack Weinzierl, Founder of OneOasis.com, is Seeking Entrepreneurs for His Expanding International Advantage Conferences Marketplace Ministry Team

Flower Mound, TX (PRWEB) January 18, 2007 -- Jack Weinzierl, President and Founder of OneOasis.com from Flower Mound, Texas, is seeking Entrepreneurs for his expanding International Advantage Conferences marketplace ministry. Jack launched his Advantage Conferences marketplace ministry two years ago after being the president and owner of a medical device company and a network marketing firm. Jack has earned in excess of $762,245.50 with Advantage Conferences as an Independent Representative.

Jacko, you are such a silly little man. You and your recruits are not entrepreneurs. You, Jack, are selling Tim's bogus conferences. Your recruits are just lining your pockets with their own conference purchase and the majority are not selling enough to ever qualify, so they are out 10 grand +.

Does the bogus title of president turn you on? Are you in charge of your own converted bathroom office like Timmy? Do you run around waving your official toilet brush?

You are the only AC "stud" whose earnings are being paraded around. According to Timmy boy in his Sept. 2006 Affidavit only 5 or 6 were making the promised $21,000 (as in make $7000 Over and Over and Over Again!) So, Jack, why don't you post the earnings tables for your reps? Quote:

"What is most important is that you believe in and are passionate about the product you're representing. I decided to partner with Advantage Conferences 2 years ago, as the business focused on Christian entrepreneurial mentoring, which is important," he continued. Jack had evaluated over 110 network marketing companies before deciding to partner with Advantage Conferences. "I really needed a business that was based on a strong biblical foundation instead of the new age content being taught in many network marketing companies," stated Jack.

What is this product that Jack is so passionate about? Ongoing Christian Entrepreneurial Mentoring.

Jack, successful companies can be run with honesty and integrity, without religion in the mix. A biblical foundation is not a part of any major corporations structure. Quote:

---

Solomon states in Proverbs, "He who gets wisdom loves his own soul; he who cherishes understanding prospers." He also says, "Plans fail for lack of counsel, but with many advisers they succeed". Those two verses are powerful, yet only a small example of wisdom found in the Word of God - teaching that is more relevant today than ever. Advantage Conferences is a dynamic marketplace ministry that provides ongoing Christ-centered Mentoring for entrepreneurs and business owners, as well as training for corporate employees.

If this information was so profound how come Tim Darnell went to numerous Millionaire Mindset Conferences with his previous scam All-Star Entrepreneur and didn't benefit at all. All-Star went bankrupt and Timmy boy is still in a Fox and Jacobs starter house with a repoed Jaguar on the county records. Advantage conferences is virtually the same scam with the only real difference being the religious twist.

Now, what corporations are paying losing scammer Tim Darnell to train their employees? We are still waiting for names, Jack, and don't tell us who these hired trainers have worked with before. We want to know specifically what companies have hired Timmy.

Quote:

Weekly Tele-Mentoring calls, powerful recorded audio and DVD packages, and profound Seminars and Conferences effectively help individuals optimize their business and personal lives. The trainings, conducted by Advantage Conferences Founder and Author, Tim Darnell, along with dozens of highly successful and professional Christian Millionaires is rock-solid mentoring that is providing life-changing impact for hundreds of Advantage Conferences clients on an ongoing basis.

If these conferences are so powerful how is it your only business, Jack, is selling this bogus conference and attached opportunity? Why are you not running any other real business? Why don't you clowns disclose Tim's true net worth? I will bet he ain't no millionaire at all.

Quote:

"But it isn't just having a great product that matters," he said. "You've got to be committed to it as a business. This network marketing business is not a get-rich-quick scheme. I tell people that every chance I get. This is a building process; it is a 5 to 10 year plan, and if you're willing to put some time and effort into it, you can do great."

...drive to realistically earn a mid-6 to 7 figure income in the next 18 months...

Yes, I would like to find out more about earning $7,000 on an ongoing basis! .....

Yes, I am serious about earning

$100,000 plus this year

$250,000 plus this year

$500,000 plus this year

$1,000,000 plus this year.....

You must be expecting to make at least $100,000 or more your first year. You sure have changed your tune scammer!

Quote:

But Jack Weinzierl conducts his business a little differently than most network marketers.

"I'm really not a salesman. I am terrible at closing. I just don't do it. I've been in the business long enough to learn almost everything you shouldn't do, so when I'm talking to someone about getting into the business, I really try to scare them out of it. And a few people decide it isn't for them. But if someone is considering it, I'll tell them to think about it for a few days. Pray about it with their spouse. It can be a very lucrative business opportunity. But anything worth doing is worth prayerful consideration."

---

Must you post that same drivel over and over and over again? What devious selling tactics you use.

Quote:

Jack also says his faith plays an important role in his business dealings.

"It used to be that people were hesitant to let their faith come to the forefront of their business," he said. "But really, I think it's ridiculous to separate one's faith from their business. We are walking our talk every day in our Christ-centered Advantage Conferences business and life."

---

Why, if that's true then you should happily honestly disclose your recruits earnings and honestly answer all the other legitimate questions posed here, lad. Care to tell us why the conference isn't scheduled and why you can't get a more enticing and exotic location than Dallas?

Quote:

About Advantage Conferences:

SoapBoxMom, I appreciate you re-posting and sharing my most recent Press Release that is 100% factual.

BTW, I am not spending hardly any time on this site as I focus on truth and light, of which is rare on these threads. I have not been on for several days and I was pleased to logon these evening to see a private message which was a very sincere apology. I will leave it to that poster if he cares to share that here. That is his choice, but I appreciated the apology.

Since SBM keeps posting or bashing, I will continue to share our value proposition and the importance of mentoring. She pretends to know my business dealings which is laughable. She continues to hide behind her screen name so I guess she can make up any lies, throw out inuendos, attack anyone she would like. When people mistreat you, bless them. I will continue to pray for and bless her. That is what we are called to do. Luke 10:19 SBM and others, I encourage you to read this. You have no authority here and it is why you are so frustrated trying to bash this company.

Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

Enlightenme007, I am not here to debate or convince you or anyone. Since you asked in a respectful way and have not been one of those stating anything they feel like, regardless of the truth, I will attempt to respond with the limited time I have. I am building my business vs. posting and bashing on this site all day, unlike many here.

Mentoring and imparting wisdom is critical. The Bible is our guide for our daily lives and our businesses. With that said, we still need mentors and to be equipped to use all that we learn. Most pastors will equip you for your daily walk, but really do not focus on the marketplace.

Wisdom and understanding are better than silver and gold and nothing I desire can compare with them; therefore, I make it my ambition and desire to have understanding and wisdom; therefore I know I will have all of the other desires of my heart. (Proverbs 8:10-11)

Solomon states in Proverbs, "He who gets wisdom loves his own soul; he who cherishes understanding prospers." He also says, "Plans fail for lack of counsel, but with many advisers they succeed". Those two verses are powerful, yet only a small example of wisdom found in the Word of God – teaching that is more relevant today than ever. Advantage Conferences is a dynamic marketplace ministry that provides ongoing Christ-centered mentoring for entrepreneurs and business owners, as well as training for corporate employees.

Weekly Tele-Mentoring calls, powerful recorded audio and DVD packages, and profound Seminars and Conferences effectively help individuals optimize their business and personal lives. The trainings, conducted by Advantage Conferences Founder and Author, Tim Darnell along with dozens of highly successful and professional Christian Millionaires is rock-solid mentoring that is providing life-changing impact for hundreds of Advantage Conferences clients on an ongoing basis.

You can learn more at <http://jackweinzierl.com> as well as <http://ACtestimonials.com>. You want to hear from those that have experienced the ongoing entrepreneurial mentoring.

Is it valuable? To me and others, extremely. To those who think they can go to the library and get this all from their pastor, I encourage you to do so. There is a reason that Tiger Woods stills pays a swing coach $2,000 an hour. We need coaches and mentors to improve upon where we are at. I have my MBA and have been the president of two companies, and I have learned more over the past two years about business, mentoring, leadership, discipline and putting Christ first in my business than at anytime prior.

It is good to seek knowledge, but don't forget to ask God for the wisdom to use the knowledge that you get.

KINGDOM WISDOM FROM PROVERBS

God wants His people to have a full and satisfying life. But how do we get it? Demands are made on us, with the pressures of the 21st century in terms of time and resources. We're bombarded by the influences of the secular environment and at the same time there's the insistent call of God as we seek to be disciples of Jesus. If we're serious in our commitment to our Lord, as citizens of His Kingdom, we need to be continually refreshed with a healthy dose of: Kingdom Wisdom.

KINGDOM DECISION-MAKING

"Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding." The implication of this is that we rely wholly on God for guidance. "Acknowledging God" means obeying God's will as He's revealed it.

Solomon advises that "in all your ways acknowledge him (the Lord)" which infers that we openly recognize that He's the real "boss". God knows what life is all about. He's bigger than all the problems we face. He's with us, He's committed to us. We can go through the darkness with confidence because He will see us through.

The verse ends "and he will make your paths straight." This is a promise as well as a proverb, but it doesn't guarantee that we will never make mistakes! When you navigate a journey from a road map it seems perfectly clear, but when actually on the road you come up to a complicated roundabout, it's easy to mistake a turning and it's necessary to go round again! Above all, says Solomon, "Don't be wise in you own eyes; fear the Lord and shun evil." Solomon has advised us on Kingdom Wisdom - it's Rules, Principles and Decision-Making. He then tackles the contentious area of money.

KINGDOM ECONOMICS

"Honor the Lord with your wealth ..." Perhaps the room of our life which we guard most for ourselves is our treasury. It's sometimes said that tithing is legalistic but in fact our Lord's and the Apostle Paul's teaching shows it's all of grace when we recall the words used in describing Christian giving: "sacrificially, joyfully, willingly, spontaneously, abundantly, secretly, humbly, regularly and trustfully” (Matt 6, 1 Cor 16 and 2 Cor 8 and 9). It’s all about placing our financial resources under the lordship of Christ.

You are welcome to go through the 3 Simple Steps to understand our total value proposition. And, Salvation is most important, but that is the beginning of one's walk. His is Lord and Savior.

Wishyouknew, no I will not answer your questions after your personal attacks.

Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

Why mentoring?

In my previous post, I mentioned Tiger. I am not sure if he uses one of these two coaches. I want to make sure that I am accurate as the truth matters to me.

Why don't you just learn how to play golf by reading a magazine? Why don't you go to a library to learn how to play golf? Why on earth would anybody pay Butch Harmon or Hank Haney $2,000.00 an hour, and often much more than that and spend multiple hours, day after day with them to learn one simple concept to improve their swing? Because their instruction has the corresponding value! In fact, their instruction translates into millions of dollars for some of their students, and the only real opportunity for lower scores for their amateur students. These professionals have the crucially important information that you can't get from reading a magazine or going to the library, or by trying to do it on your own.

The exact same thing is true in the business world. Most who think its better to go to the library or do a Google search for millionaire insight will first of all, never go to the library, and second of all, they'll be hugely disappointed in what they find from the results of that reading. Virtually all published materials about success are from professional authors and speakers. They made and make their money by writing and speaking - selling their books, audios, and DVDS. Most are very good at their craft. But while they and their materials are pretty entertaining – they are also quite similar, predictable, and provide only short-term motivation. Rarely is the subject of the integration of the power of God in business discussed at all. Here's a fact: miss the genuine power of God in your life and your business, and you've missed everything – and whether a person chooses to believe that last statement or not will determine how they live the rest of their life. It's unquestionably make or break.

What is much more powerful than “going to the library” (come on – what a ludicrous assumption) is to find real people who are actually in other fields, other industries, other endeavors that have made millions by offering value through their service and/or tangible products. These people have become successful, not by going to a library – oh no. They became successful by struggling their buns off for years, and gaining experience that has not been recorded or published, other than on rare occasions. That experience is something you should know. And each person should pay a corresponding dollar amount for that value. Very real million dollar secrets not from authors and speakers, but from the mouths of the persons who lived their unique and amazing stories is priceless information that will change your life.

Many have gone bankrupt in the process of building their business, some multiple times. Their businesses were built by making mistake after mistake and yet, they tenaciously prevailed. Knowing their mistakes, knowing the pain, knowing the struggle, understanding what “tenaciously prevailed” really means along with THE CORRESPONDING LESSONS that resulted from those real-life experiences is a value beyond any $10,000. Asking them questions, getting to know them, getting their business card, asking them about your particular situation, etc., is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to those who learn and dedicate themselves to patiently moving forward in their own enterprises.

Personal contact with millionaires alone (knowing them personally) is huge. Make no mistake – why do you think people join country clubs that cost $150,000.00 just for the initial down payment and then pay monthly dues beginning at $1,000.00 a month? I've got news for you. It's not all about the golf or the tennis. They do it because contact with people who hang out in that atmosphere is worth millions of dollars - period. There is a huge return on this carefully made investment that allows you to be connected with people who know how to make things happen. The fact is, they know things, concepts, strategies and people you don't know. These "common" millionaires deal in revenues and transactions that involve millions of dollars every week, every month, year in and year out.

Contrast that to an "employee minded" individual who would never spend money like that, nor do they understand any concepts that pertain to millions of dollars. They think they understand. They think they know all there is to know anyway. And they are almost always more than willing to demonize those who choose to risk their money, time, and commitment to build a business of their own. They'll put down any person or company that says these millionaire concepts have value. Pretty amazing to me – it is a "broke, small-ball" arrogance that shields them from transformational information and contacts.

Amateurs don't get it. They don't value the instruction from, and personal interaction with accomplished, successful people who are willing to give very real information filled with corresponding value that, when acted upon, can translate into bigger dollars. To talk to an avowed employee who has never had anything but a job about paying any money for entrepreneurial coaching is a waste of time. They simply don't get it, and unfortunately for them, their station in life will never change.

That stubbornness (pride really) to not recognize the value of coaching and connections is common. That's why families experience generational mediocrity. Those same people will complain daily about their bad luck in life and their inability to make ends meet. They will always buy the cheapest items forever, never adding value to their life. That is what their parents did and their parents did before them. That's all they know about buying – buy cheap. And all they know about making money is "get a job". They insist on another man or corporation paying them, having to bow to their bosses' most insignificant wishes and commands in exchange for "just get by" wages, long hours, and their sacred health benefits. What an amazingly bad choice – when freedom can be attained through business ownership - the proper opportunity, and consistent long-term work.

Mentoring is the lever that delivers the insight to dislodge the burden of mounting debt, small thinking, small income, insignificant pay raises, inflation, rare vacation time, little to no savings, the pain of the expenses of unexpected emergencies, and stagnant, unfulfilling careers, etc. Those who scoff at the concept of personal independence and much greater income potential will not win. They will either wake up to the reality of the importance of mentoring, change, business acumen, entrepreneurship, and the power of genuine faith in God, or they are doomed to repeat the same results they experienced last year and the years before that.

I choose free enterprise. I choose freedom. I choose hard work. I, and many others who "get it" choose being paid based on our own productivity, not the security of a regular, although ridiculously low, weekly "guaranteed" paycheck. Freedom can be attained and should be attained. God gave us the wherewithal and privilege to have it. To reject freedom is the greatest tragedy I've ever witnessed - a true, disastrous shame. But for those who will risk it - to bust our buns for years and finally attain that single thing – freedom - is the greatest lifetime reward a person can ever experience.

Scammer,

You are not going to get off that easy. Point out what I have said you disagree with and refute it with facts and documentation! I won't allow you to call me a liar without proving it, scammer.

If you were such a successful businessman you would still be running one of those other successful companies and not selling bogus conference tickets. Almost all your reps who buy the opportunity to sell those same tickets just hand sales up to you and lose much more than 10 grand. Prove me wrong, scammer!

They'll put down any person or company that says these millionaire concepts have value. Pretty amazing to me – it is a “broke, small-ball” arrogance that shields them from transformational information and contacts.

Amateurs don't get it. They don't value the instruction from, and personal interaction with accomplished, successful people who are willing to give very real information filled with corresponding value that, when acted upon, can translate into bigger dollars. To talk to an avowed employee who has never had anything but a job about paying any money for entrepreneurial coaching is a waste of time. They simply don't get it, and unfortunately for them, their station in life will never change.

That stubbornness (pride really) to not recognize the value of coaching and connections is common. That's why families experience generational mediocrity. Those same people will complain daily about their bad luck in life and their inability to make ends meet. They will always buy the cheapest items forever, never adding value to their life. That is what their parents did and their parents did before them. That's all they know about buying – buy cheap. And all they know about making money is “get a job”. They insist on another man or corporation paying them, having to bow to their bosses' most insignificant wishes and commands in exchange for “just get by” wages, long hours, and their sacred health benefits. What an amazingly bad choice – when freedom can be attained through business ownership - the proper opportunity, and consistent long-term work.

Mentoring is the lever that delivers the insight to dislodge the burden of mounting debt, small thinking, small income, insignificant pay raises, inflation, rare vacation time, little to no savings, the pain of the expenses of unexpected emergencies, and stagnant, unfulfilling careers, etc. Those who scoff at the concept of personal independence and much greater income potential will not win. They will either wake up to the reality of the importance of mentoring, change, business acumen, entrepreneurship, and the power of genuine faith in God, or they are doomed to repeat the same results they experienced last year and the years before that.

I choose free enterprise. I choose freedom. I choose hard work. I, and many others who “get it” choose being paid based on our own productivity, not the security of a regular, although ridiculously low, weekly “guaranteed” paycheck. Freedom can be attained and should be attained. God gave us the wherewithal and privilege to have it. To reject freedom is the greatest tragedy I've ever witnessed - a true, disastrous shame. But for those who will risk it - to bust our buns for years and finally attain that single thing – freedom - is the greatest lifetime reward a person can ever experience.

How pathetic!! Man, business must really be bad for you to stoop to advertising on the very web site that is exposing your scam for what it is! And don't try to justify it with your jibber jabber about "truth and light" and defending you scam's "honor". I hate to break it to you, but nobody cares about reading your endless posts about how great and wonderful you are. And you still haven't answered the question: Where was "truth and light" when the judge ruled against AC and Jack, had the opprotunity to meet me last week at Starbucks.. He missed out..

Jack, you have the opprotunity to "Shut me up!" if you would just answer my questions truthfully. If you do, I won't ever post on scam.com again..

Enlightenme007, I am not here to debate or convince you or anyone. Since you asked in a respectful way and have not been one of those stating anything they feel like, regardless of the truth, I will attempt to respond with the limited time I have. I am building my business vs. posting and bashing on this site all day, unlike many here.[/quote]

Are you saying that the Bible does not focus on the marketplace or that pastors don't? My position is that if you have the Bible you have all you need in the marketplace. I agree that there is nothing wrong with having mentors and teachers in a specific area of industry/business etc, however it sounds as if your company is selling mentorship and teaching about mentorship and teaching? That is why it doesn't make sense to me.

Wow! I am not associated with anyone on this website. I am merely facilitating a dialogue with you to get to the truth regarding your business.

When anyone is called out for using their faith to gain advantage, no pun intended, over someone, then it bothers me and I can only imagine how it upsets God. Now with that being said, I have not come to any conclusions yet, I haven't taken either side. I will say that I think SBM loses credibility when she goes on attacking you and the way in which she has said some things to you and about you, however I also know that if what she is saying is true then I can understand her hurt and frustration, although she may not be coming across in the best of ways. With all of that being said, you still have not answered some of the questions that I have asked regarding the mentoring business, even from my latest post. If you continue to dodge questions that are simply trying to shed light on the situation, then it does not look good for you or your business.

Please re-read my two posts to you and answer the questions.

i have to say, IF ANYONE (and i am not sure that i completely agree with this statement) i think that if ANYONE loses credibility.... it is me... SBM doesnt get nearly as harsh or as insulting as i do... i can come off as a bit mean at times.... it isnt always my intent, as i sometimes have a hard time articulating myself on these threads, but i often come off as a little meaner than i actually intend. i am conviced that if we were all actually speaking, rather than typing, i would come off as much more likeable! :D we lose expression in the type-written word. often times sarcasm comes acrossed as insulting... which isnt always what i want to happen!

Jack,

Here's a passage for you that is applicable: Proverbs 6:16-19 "There are six things the Lord hates, seven that are detestable to Him: haughty eyes (pride), a lying tongue, hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that devises wicked schemes, feet that are quick to rush into evil, a false witness who pours out lies and a man who stirs up dissension among brothers." shame on you. shame...

I had not planned on coming back on here, but I felt i had to say something to correct the info given in a tirade by Big franky. BF you really are shooting yourself and your 'case' (I use the term loosely) against AC in the foot with dumb, reckless comments like the one highlighted in red. I happen to know for a fact that several of the speakers (Darnell's dad was the conference chaplain not a speaker) are bonafide multi-millionaires. they may all be, but i'm commenting on the ones I know OF personally. One of them made millions in insurance. Another is the founder of one of the largest car battery companies in the country. Hardly 'jokes' wouldn't you say!! If those folks are jokes, I'd pay ten grand to listen to their punch lines any day! LOL!!

My point here is that the more you folks bleat on here with personal attacks and groundless ignorant comments like the one above, the less convincing you become. In fact It makes me want to reconsider whether I was right in my criticism of AC at all. While it is my belief that the business model is faulty and you shouldn't put a price tag on God's wisdom, a different perspective is placed on the whole issue when viewed through the lens of Scripture and the Holy Spirit. You folks (wyk, SBM and BF etc.) appear to be using emotion and feelings as your guide without real facts to base them on. You certainly use emotion in your 'prose'!

As to Jack Weinzierl, from what I've been told by people who know him and by reading the posting on here and between the lines, he has others' best interests at heart. In other words, looking at it through the third lens so to speak, I don't see a scammer. I see someone who is undoubtedly successful and is bent on fulfilling the tasks and grasping the opportunities given him by the Almighty. While I may disagree with him in certain areas, he and I see eye to eye in our committments to further God's Kingdom. Jack will do it in his way and I will do it in mine.

I am the poster he is referring to and I make no apologies for doing so. I did apologize to him in a PM. We agreed to disagree on the paths we are both taking but I acknowledge him as a brother in Christ and my prayers are with him. I do not believe he is a scammer and neither do I believe that AC was set up as one. I believe they have the best interests of folks at heart.

I don't plan on returning after this post and doubtless my ears will be burning. I'll be the first to admit when I'm wrong about someone and the first to address that person accordingly.

In fact and I know this will stir the pot, I wouldn't mind hooking up with you one of these days Jack, I have a feeling that it would be time well spent - maybe at that Star Bucks WYK was talking about. LOL!!

Enlightenme007,

I encourage you to read the whole thread. Jack Weinzierl/TruthVsFiction/SoapBoxDad/ShiningLight/JackWeinzierl has repeatedly threatened us with lawsuits. I have clearly and carefully documented his lies, misstatements and gross exaggerations. I quote AC pages directly, court documents, mainstream media and information from reps PMed to me because they fear coming on the thread and being added to Tim's and Jack's list of folks that will be sued to ruin them financially.

There is a reason the Better Business Bureau, Dr. Jon Taylor and the fine writer from the Houston Press, Craig Malisow, agree with me. The facts and the truth are all on my side. I see you noted our little scammer Jack doesn't come to the table with any facts as there are none to back up what he says. Jack will always dodge questions. Unfortunately for him the fine moderator at Quatloos gave me all the court documents so we could have an intelligent discussion about this pyramid scheme. I realize the thread is very long, but you can't jump in at the end and judge the true nature of the situation. Welcome to a very adversarial, but vitally important discussion. You can help stop Jack from bilking folks out of ten grand + they will never see again. I hope you will stay on this thread and join the discussion.

if less than 5%, (actually 4%, my math was wrong earlier) are making money then the emotional factor comes into play and it could be argued it is not Christ-Centered....

It is a disastrous business model and should be outlawed (personal feeling by the way)....Christ-centered or otherwise....

the BBB will stand by their questioning whether AC is a pyramid because the product has to be bought by the reps in order to sell it and there have apparantly been no purchases by non reps. Ouch!....

The newest product is something called 'Hidden Treasure' which is a life insurance (shudder) product that is 'free of cost' to the elderly. It is marketed through something called TFA as a fundraising vehicle. Marketing anything to the elderly raises red flags especially if the company is already red flagged by groups such as the BBB. Stoke the flames around you Tim that will definitely calm your critics. LOL!....

In addition, is it right to have to buy wisdom from God's people (the Millionaire Christian speakers)? If they are donating their time (they are given a check for $2,000 payable to the charity of their choice) to help others learn from their mistakes and adopt their strategies, why on God's green earth are those that are listening to their pearls of wisdom charged a dime over and above the cost of renting a room? In fact if those millionaires are anxious for others to learn from them they'd front those costs in a heartbeat.....

In conclusion, I will personally not become involved with this company. I probably wouldn't make it past their President Interview anyway, as I believe that network marketing is inherrantly flawed as a business model. Meanwhile my friend remains a staunch supporter of the company. So what do I know? LOL!!....

To Tim Darnell if you read this site, my advice to you would be to direct your obvious talents toward another business where you stand more chance of making money and not making license plates!! LOL!!.....

it's highly unlikely that Darnell told ANYONE about a legal set back. He now has to do damage control and plan his next legal move.....

I went back and checked the postings of Soapboxdad. There was far more activity on this thread when he was posting. Doubtless he stopped not because he was made to by anyone, but because he was outted by Soapboxmom, the doyen of scam busters. Immediately she outted him he ran. The fact that he posted erroneous information that tried to lead people to believe there were many successful Reps in AC came to the fore when she discovered his identity. Actually if he had never posted info about himself he'd never have been found out.....

The only reason the 'successful' MLMs are out there is an army of legal attack dogs that keep the wolves at bay. Those that cannot muster the shysters fall by the wayside and leave alot of wounded people in their wake.....

I see misrepresentation by a major player at AC. However, he seemed to be disguising himself in order to appear to be another 'successful' rep at AC and counter-attack the negative posts on this thread. So if that is what you mean by lying I agree... The founders and leaders have fooled themselves into believing that their vehicle is the answer to the budding entrepreneurs' dreams.... But the bottom line is the majority can never make money despite what Darnell says about the 'fairness' of the compensation plan.... I pray that Darnell will see the error of his ways and direct his talents toward the lofty goals he feels guided toward, utilizing a far different approach to achieve them.....

Hey, has anyone noticed how the 'for' column in the poll has skyrocketed in the last week or so. In fact it's up 30 votes to 40. Wow, I guess there's nothing wrong after all guys. AC is legit! The statistics prove it!. 60% of the votes say its legal. Your job is done lets all go home. You made a mistake, SBM WYK et al!!.....

NOT!!!

Is it me or is there a coincidence here? LOL!! The MMC was at the end of last month and they all posted in the last seven to ten days. Duhhh!!!!!!...

But the strategy it adopts for training reps is doomed to overall failure of 95+% of its operatives. Period. The added problems are discernment of spiritual understanding over emotion and the fact that they have adopted an additional strategy of pushing a Christian Conference to enable budding 'entrepreneurs' to learn from the stories of successful entrepreneurs and sell more conferences instead of their (the attendees) own business.

If it was directed at guiding successful business strategies toward folks who were bent on making a success of their own idea, product, service whatever, that would be one thing. But it apparently is not. The prime directive, so to speak, appears to be the development of your own marketing company to market AC's conference program.

Those people who are looking seriously at AC should really do a systems check on themselves and ask themselves and those they love that have a clearer more positive mindset - Is AC right for me? If it is, good luck to you, you could be on of the 1-5%. However, unless you are like the Randy Hogans of this world, chances are you don't have the spheriods for it. Shoot! I got to be honest, I sure don't. So I'm building a traditional business in a corporate business model, albeit my own....

From what I can see they don't promise anything. They imply, it's true. But the earnings of most of the reps are going to be tiny compared with the few stars the company has. Sure they can make that kind of money because some have. But the majority can't and won't....

I admire your tenacity SBM, but you'll never get a non performer to share his/her earnings. Period! Jack Weinzierl shouts his earnings from the rooftops as well he can because he has earned a small fortune from AC....

The only way that AC can be 'brought to justice' if you will, is as I indicated above - by taking into consideration the non-rep factor. 'Course, thats just my opinion....

If there are NO sales to the public, regardless of AC's claims to the contrary, they must be a pyramid even if they are an Aussie 2 up NM company and not MLM. They swear they do not have multiple levels of earnings but if the only way to make money is to sell conferences (after the first three at $30,000) to prospective reps, won't the AG shut them down for a flagrant abuse of direct selling laws?...

It's not so much the percentage of reps who make money as the percentage of sales to the public in AC's case, that in my opinion is to be their downfall....

That is one of the three main reasons AC should head into the sunset. The other two:

1. Having to buy the product, (not stated to avoid legal ramifications, but implied by virtue of reason - if you have not experienced a product how in Sam Hill can you sell it!!!! )
2. Ratio of the number of sales to reps and number of sales to non-reps. At present from what I've been told there are 0 non-rep sales.....

Good, a new poster who's 'gotten a raw deal' by AC. OKAY HBG2 lets see if we can persuade this poor soul to act on his/her complaint. AandB, you say that TD refused to honor your request for a refund. You say he no longer offers a refund. Simple questions:

If you were dissatisfied with the conference you attended and the refund policy was in effect when you joined, then I believe by law he is bound to honor that refund. Any legal buffs on here set me straight on that?

If he is bound to honor his comittment to you then you get your lawyer onto him and tell him to send you a certified check or you will run his sorry rear-end through the courts. Failing that, be creative but legal!!.....

Look folks, lets try and nail this down to a simple question regarding the mindset of Tim Darnell. In his past history of network marketing involvement he has apparantly, never made an ongoing success of any of his ventures. AC appears from the mounting evidence to be no exception. From what I can gather, there are some very able and talented people who have been pulled into the gravity of this guy's sphere. It is going to be really sad to see them fall because of one mans con or stupidity.....

However, if there are enough dissatisfied voices out there that want retribution and a few of you step up to the plate then it might give the others the courage to do the same and a class action can be formed. That of course will depend on the numbers. I have no idea what those numbers are.....

On the one hand we have SBM and her ilk who star in the day time soap, The Bold and the Dutiful. (Referring to The Bold and the Beautiful.) On the other hand we have Darnell and his cronies starring in "The Bum and the Shameless" (Closest I could get to The Young and the Restless, for which apologies! LOL!!)

SBM you are the doyen of investigative scambusting!! The snippets you are posting are very enlightening as to the mindset of Mr. Tim Darnell. If those are actual quotes form the affidavits, they present the thoughts of someone desparate to save his company from it's inevitable downfall. What is even more disturbing is that he apparently gives the distinct impression from the affidavit quotes that SBM posts above, that his church is supportive of his efforts and will hand over $10,000 to him for his program, when the negative BBB report is lifted....

Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

This was posted awhile back, but those on this thread refuse to recognize the value proposition offered by Advantage Conferences. There is no debate there. A person, like the millionaire I met with this afternoon, recognizes the value of ongoing entrepreneurial mentoring, or they don't. Most who spend their days and nights on scam.com simply do not.

I understand that few here understand, nor will recognize the value of this product offering an ongoing mentoring and you can have that opinion. To call it is scam and to level personal attacks on everyone who disagrees with you including hundreds who love the mentoring in their lives is simply ignorant and irresponsible.

The Advantage Conferences Product:

Ongoing Mindset Mentoring for Business People and Entrepreneurs...

wishyouknew, there is no debate with someone hate-filled like you, SBM and BigFranky. You have attacked my good name and treated me and this Christ-centered company with complete disrespect. You have earned no respect in return. Just prayers.

Jack,

The fact of the matter is, Tim Darnell treated ME with Zero Respect..

Do you call Lies and deception RESPECT?

I have been lied to and I don't like that. Don't know anyone who does..

Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

wishyouknew, you should know about lies and deception on scam.com. Again, you have attacked my good name on this specific thread and you deserve no respect in return. Your issue with Tim is between you and Tim. I have known Tim for 2 years now and I have never built a business with someone who is more committed to building a business with integrity. I personally could care less about past challenges people have and I know the truth first hand. I am not here to debate you on what you say he said, etc. That is between you and Tim. You lose all credibility posting to this thread that is a personal hate-filled attack on me.

Jack,

If you keep posting the same stuff on all three threads will only make the threads pop up better on Google.

Lets save ourself time and stick to ONE thread..

You, Jacko, hate to see the truth about yourself, Tim Darnell and your Advantage Conferences scam exposed for all to see. I hate to see people conned out of their life savings and in financial jeopardy. Your name has been dragged through the mud because you have aligned yourself with a serial scammer Tim Darnell. Timmy had the arrogance to claim God will see him prevail in a lawsuit with no merit he filed against the Better Business Bureau and the fine Dr. Jon Taylor and lost in an embarrassing summary judgement. You boys opened yourselves up for this kind of scrutiny when you chose to promote this pyramid scheme. There is nothing you can do to silence me, scammer.

You are so right. I also know this from personal experience.

Add to that..... most consumer watch dog agencies work on trigger points or tipping points for lack of a better word. When they are considering taking action they will evaluate the quality and accuracy of customer complaints, the average loss per victim and the total dollar loss to all consumers. They also consider the impact a fraudulent business may have on legitimate businesses in the same field. In this case that would include charities.

Just one of the things I find repulsive about AC is they are redirecting the energies and the money of people with good intentions to fuel this scam and enrich it's proponents.

I do find it amusing that Jack and Tim are knitting the noose for the hangman though..

Keep up the good work

Wishyouknew, you are one of the folks responsible for adding and fueling the fire on multiple threads. As long as you continue and the bashers here continue to attack my good name, it will continue to be addressed so folks doing their DD have the truth and not some opinions from folks who are not involved with AC.

SBM, you are delusional. I am thrilled that any regulator would read this thread and I will continue to boldly share what we stand for as well as our value proposition. We know we are on the right track when folks such as yourself attack us. Keep hiding behind your screen name.

Dear Heavenly Father,

I pray for each person here this morning, Holy Spirit be our guide, speak to us this morning, open our eyes, open our ears and open our hearts this week, we know that you have given us the authority and we need to walk in and exude your power every day of our lives. I pray for every person here that does not know you, direct people into their lives today, in Jesus' name, Amen.

Have a blessed day.

Jack:

What I don't understand is - I came on this thread and have asked you questions about your business, have had posts back and forth with you without getting personal and instead of answering my questions and responding to my posts you continue to address the people on here that have personally attacked you over and over and over again. That doesn't make sense.

I encourage you to look at the attacks Soapboxmom and others have leveled against Dr. David Darnell who is one of the most gifted pastors of over 50 years I have ever been around. See who you are associating with here and I pray the Holy Spirit convicts you as He did with another former poster.*

Here is my response:

[/quote]

Wow! I am not associated with anyone on this website. I am merely facilitating a dialogue with you to get to the truth regarding your business.

When anyone is called out for using their faith to gain advantage, no pun intended, over someone, then it bothers me and I can only imagine how it upsets God. Now with that being said, I have not come to any conclusions yet, I haven't taken either side. I will say that I think SBM loses credibility when she goes on attacking you and the way in which she has said some things to you and about you, however I also know that if what she is saying is true then I can understand her hurt and frustration, although she may not be coming across in the best of ways. With all of that being said, you still have not answered some of the questions that I have asked regarding the mentoring business, even from my latest post. If you continue to dodge questions that are simply trying to shed light on the situation, then it does not look good for you or your business.

Please re-read my two posts to you and answer the questions.

while i understand where you are coming from with trying to consolidate the threads.... i think it is imperative to keep the other thread alive.... not only because it has Jack's name in it (which is important for google recognition should prospective reps want to research him), but also... everytime i read that first initial post that started the other thread, i get sick to my stomach and i dont want that persons testimony to be forgotten.

that being said, i will concentrate my posts on that other thread...

Entrepreneur Quiz

[quote]Advantage Conferences - Conference & Entrepreneur Quiz

© 2006 All Rights Reserved Advantage Conferences

Conference & Entrepreneur Quiz

The following Quiz provides a good indication of whether Advantage Conferences Millionaire Mindset Conference and weekly Millionaire Mindset Calls will be appropriate for you

Section A: RUNNING A BUSINESS INVOLVES A MULTITUDE OF ISSUES:

Entrepreneurs face literally hundreds of issues at start-up and throughout the life of their business. Issues include:

- Start-up Capital
- Choice of Business Type
- Employee Issues (hiring/firing)
- Accounting
- Employee Benefits
- Maximizing Intellectual Property
- Sales and Franchise Taxes
- Competition
- Corporate and Personal Tax Strategies
- Receivables

- Billing
- Inventory Management
- Office Space (leasing and/or buying)
- Overhead
- Printing
- Shipping
- International Markets
- Phone/Communications Systems
- Computers Systems
- Graphics
- Branding
- Marketing
- Leadership
- Speaking/Presentation Skills
- Product Diversification AC3200
- Policies
- Company Vehicles
- Expansion
- _____

Please carefully read the following statements and then rate, on a scale of 1 to 10, ten being the highest, your agreement with the following statements in the blank spaces provided in front of the numbered statements:

1. _____ I currently own a business or I'm thinking seriously about becoming an entrepreneur.
2. _____ I realize that business ownership entails a vast array of issues (as partially listed above) that are crucial to the efficiency and success of my operation.

Section B: PROFESSIONAL SKILLS vs. RUNNING A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS:

Many Entrepreneurs report having proficiencies and competencies of a technical, mechanical, or product/skills nature. As a business owner they soon recognize that those skills are important, but they are not enough for running and flourishing a successful business. For instance, medical professionals are adept at their diagnostic, corrective, procedural, or surgical skills, but their training may never have included how to market their business.

3. _____ I believe that accomplished millionaires and multi-millionaires could offer valuable insight into issues that directly effect my business operation. I believe gaining insight into these subjects would enhance my business.
4. _____ I realize that my particular expertise and skill-sets are highly valuable, but that running a business is an entirely separate issue.

Section C: THE POWER OF ONE NEWLY IMPLEMENTED IDEA

5. _____ I have experienced and/or fully understand the impact of changing one aspect of my business. I believe that implementing or changing one idea can make all the difference in cash flow and profits.
6. _____ I know that my business could benefit from change in several areas.
7. _____ I believe it is possible for me to double or triple my bottom line over the next 12 months.
8. _____ It is apparent to me that a single idea can be worth hundreds of thousands or possibly millions of dollars in profits.

Section D: MENTORING

9. _____ I value the input of other professionals, especially someone who has achieved a measurably significant level of financial and life success.
10. _____ I realize that mentoring should be an ongoing and vital aspect in my life in order to progressively take my business and influence to the next level.

Section E: MINDSET

Successful business requires factual analysis and knowledge of systems, strategies, products, compensation structures and planning. But success is more than head knowledge. Great leadership and relational skills require a Champion mentality – a powerful mindset, a purely positive attitude, and an unstoppable, tenacious will. These items have everything to do with one's thinking and perspectives we refer to as inner intangibles.

11. _____ I have a positive mindset, but I also realize that in order to create a bigger business, enterprise, ministry, or organization, I can benefit from those who think differently and more powerfully. I can improve my mindset significantly.
12. _____ I know that to amplify my results, I must amplify my thinking.
13. _____ In order to become a millionaire, I know I must first learn to think like a millionaire.
14. _____ I realize that my thinking is by far the most influential factor in my being in the position in which I find myself now. I believe that expanding my thinking and mindset will be key to greater success.

Section F: FAITH

One of the most powerful elements of success in life, relationships, and business is faith in Jesus Christ. Christ is the Creator of the world, the Creator of people, indeed the Creator of everything. He is also the author of true success, a fact that too few people understand. Many simply don't believe that faith has anything to do with business or success. We at Advantage Conferences believe, as do our Christian Millionaire Mentors that their success is greatly contingent on "faith"; and that to separate faith from business and to not recognize it as pivotal to our futures would be a major mistake.

15. _____ Creating a new life, a new financial situation, and/or a new business are all creative processes. Obviously keeping the Creator out of our humanly creative endeavors would be silly.
16. _____ Bringing the supernatural power of God into my life would make my success (fulfilling God's will in my life) much more likely.
17. _____ God is unlimited and people are limited. For me to transcend my human limitations is a matter of trusting more in the unlimited power of God.
18. _____ God has great things in store for me as regards my future. I believe that by developing my faith muscle, I will be more empowered to make a greater impact, be a more significant influence, and provide larger and more meaningful contributions to the good of my family and society as a whole.

continued.....

Re: Advantage Conferences BS (Merged)

Section G: MONEY

Many people believe money and wealth are subjects that should not be talked about. Many avoid the subject altogether. Most entrepreneurs disagree with this mistaken notion. If greed is attached to the notion of money, then yes, money can be problematic. But when it used as a positive force, it can be healing, supportive and life-changing. Money is simply a tool that we can use for many positive reasons – building hospitals, orphanages, ministries, charities, feeding the hungry, housing the homeless, caring for widows and a host of other important causes. The more money a person has - the more effective they can be in funding those causes. Money is not evil – it simply reflects the genuine character of the person using it.

19._____ I am not afraid of money and recognize that additional cash flow in my life would be a powerful step forward.

20._____ I also believe that most people have scarcity notions that are detrimental to their incomes. Weeding those erroneous misconceptions out of their (my) life can open the doors to greater prosperity.

21._____ Through business ownership I believe I can create an amplified financial situation relative to what it has been in the past.

22._____ I believe that money is a great tool, but not something by which to be enslaved. In other words, it is better for money to work for me, rather than me continually working for it.

23._____ The greatest reason for having more money is to be able to give considerably greater amounts to appropriate causes, i.e., to help others.

Section H: INDEPENDENCE

Most people start out in life as an employee working for a company. As time goes by, many wake up to the reality of ceilinged incomes, company politics, little freedom, little opportunity to be creative, boredom, little time for family, and the inability to get ahead in life. After several job changes, many find employment to be a less secure option than originally imagined.

24._____ I seriously want to be in charge of my life, my time, and the amount of money I make.

25._____ I do not believe in spending my life and efforts in building another person's dream.

26._____ Personal time-freedom and financial freedom is something worthy of fighting for and something I will attain in my life.

Section I: PERSONAL PRODUCTION

CRUCIAL SECTION: Most people want another person to tell them what to do and, in essence, they want that other person (an employer) to take care of them. They simply want to put in 40 or so hours of work and receive a steady paycheck.

Entrepreneurs believe that they are capable of substantial production, and that if they are going to produce, then they should get paid appropriately for that production. They believe that the value of their personal production exceeds the amount other people are willing to pay for that productivity.

Most people (MPs) believe that their benefits package is something they could never create on their own. They can't imagine they could afford health insurance on their own. Many don't even know one can obtain health insurance apart from a company giving it to them in addition to their salary. Amazingly, that default thinking keeps more people in the ranks of the employed than any other thought.

Most people also believe that a company owes them a living. It is not their own responsibility to provide for themselves – it is the company's responsibility. Entrepreneurs think exactly the opposite thought.

27._____ I believe that no other company owes me a living, and that I can provide for my needs and my family's needs through my own production.
