Sorry, but not in this case. You think the local police department are going to do anything more than call an agency that regulates the industry which you can do yourself? By the way, which industry "regulates" this type of online business?  If their as "moral" and "ethical" as the SEC and/or government (at least in U.s.), we're all in trouble!

I don't know what happens in other countries but in my home country which by the way is an unknown quantity, there is a special department in the police that is specialized in cyber crime. So if a country of less than 1 million citizens managed to have specialists in the police force for this type of crimes it would be naive for USA and UK not to have any. I believe that in the UK, SOCA is such a department. All it's needed for the case to begin is an accuser and then the state follows the procedure of automatic public prosecution. I wish you and all the BB "millionaire-investors the best of luck when the bell rings!

BTW the term risk shouldn't be used at all in your statements as this is against the BB's modo, which is double and double and double... The term risk is for real investments, and not for "monkey investments", where the investor has the chance to study all the data before investing. I would never invest in any company which keeps its cashflow statement and other financial statements in a "top secret" box!

Wow, talk about grasping for straws. To each their own I guess. If you don't like it, don't invest. It's that simple. As far as the U.S. and U.K. being naive and not having specific departments for cyber fraud, you are probably right, they do, but I wouldn't have too much confidence in either per SEC (pfffffffffffft) and ever heard of the LIBOR? How is that for regulation. If you pessimists want a project really worth while to "save the world" since your so concerned, why don't you try and tackle something a little bigger? You seem to think you have the righteous knowledge of all financial elites combined, so have at it. Letting myself down? LOL! Yeah, keep trying to build yourself up there buddy. Again, show me some concrete proof this is such a scam other than just posting negative assumptions and opinions. This is still good entertainment though. Kind of breaks up the day a little. Thanks! 😊😊lol!

Name calling straw man arguments again, will not get over the fact that Ponzi schemes are illegal, and they are illegal for a good reason.

Am I understanding your position?

You personally believe and your business acumen tells you this is a legitimate advertising business?

You are "investing" in this business?

You are truly making money off your investment?

If MLM is such a wonderful business model, why aren't you still doing Amway?

Yes, I'm in the UK. So, SOCA will be involved.

I can see that you didn't want the police involved- hopefully more will report your scheme- which I'm sure you're involved in more than you're letting on.

Thats fair enough. Just know that it is a ponzi scheme. How long it lasts, noone knows.

Try and get your initial investment as soon as you can. Don't listen to the hype, as thats all it is.

provide proof, and i will leave the program. Ive been in it almost a year and not one of you idiots has even come close to having an argument EXCEPT its too good to be true etc etc. I personally know a few people who are making great returns monthly now (actual money in their pockets) and based on that small sample and the returns they have there is absolutely no way that this program depends on new money coming in, it depends on sales. By publishers selling their ad slots to bb and bb selling them on in smaller lots for a bigger price. Its not rocket science ladies. I have got all my money back and then some and from now on ill be taking a monthly income also. Keep being the closed minded idiots you are and see where you will end up in life, in other words being someone elses bitch earning minimum wage. And before you go the whole "i had to go down to that level" you are right as thats where dumb asses like you morons dwell including you josef. You and poyol actually spout garbage yet you are happily earning, why not leave when you get your money back? Of course you wont because just like Nomarks999's buddies (spelling of name intentional as it describes you and your retarded argument perfectly) you wont leave something as when you are proved wrong, which you are being proved every day, you will gladly pocket your legitimate earnings having not done a thing.

In short, bite me losers lol :) ill be at the ATM withdrawing some funds if anyone needs me with the BB debitcard that was being doubted here also LMFAO

In bold: Sounds more like an investment to me. :O The I word!

My argument is much more concise than that.

'Debit card'? It's a prepaid card provided by a bank in Belize- which is an OFFSHORE bank- which is dodgy in itself.

so because you spend your hours of misguided time here on your soapbox proclaiming to be the matlock of the internet world you may have missed the fact they are updating the site with new options. That is why it is "flaky" or undergoing maintenance but of course now you'll say, its over, they are shutting down, red flag yada yada yada lmao oh yes, i am making a point of insulting you. A clown who has no argument but that something looks to good to be true when EVERYONE gets paid way more than it could be possible to bring in through membership, a clown who actually purchased a product from this company, a clown thinks hes mature as he has a family and a job etc yet has an avartar that basically looks as if your on LSD, oh wait , YOU PROBABLY ARE! I run 2 successful businesses and being mature in replying to the morons on here has got me nowhere as you all spout the same garbage whilst having nothing, and i mean nothing to back any of your claims up except the integrity of one of the FOUNDERS, not owners, who has always said he has been part of an MLM company which is still in operation waiting on guidance from the canadian authorites for compliance. You idiots then dream up that the actual owner is the same chris smith that was selling securities fraudulently lmao. It could only be more funny if it was a JOHN smith you were trying to tie him too as i presume john smith may be more popular than chris smith. Enjoy flipping burgers for your FAMILY mr mature lol
